The Famous "Green Man of Brighton." In October, 1806, an individual was to be observed at Brighton, England, who walked out every day dressed in green from head to foot-green shoes, green gloves, green handkerchief and other articles to match. This eccentric person lived alone, knew nobbdy, and in his house the curtains, the wall paper, the furniture, even the plates and dishes and the smallest tollet articles, offered an uninterrupted sequence of green. Having started on his career, there was obviously no reason to stop, and with full consistency he carried his scruples so far as to eat Friends, with whom Sheriff Wilson nothing but fruit and vegetables of the same green color. The consequences were extremely disastrous. One fine day the green man jumped from his window into the street, rushed forward and performed a second somersault from the top of the nearest cliff.
