Early Railroading.

Some seventy five years ago when two trains of the Western Atlantic rallway niet on the road's single track tine violent discussions ensued between the conductors as to which train should back up and take the side track, and the engineers frequently joined in the dispute. Hule 14, issued March 1, 1852, says: "As a general rule when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back retire is to be determined at once by the conductors without interference on the part of the engineman. This rule is required to be varied in favor of the heaviest loaded engine or worst grades if they meet near the center. Cleaning Shiny Serge.

If anybody could invent a process to remove the shine from a worn suit his or her fortune would be assured. The shine cannot be permanently removed from any material, but it can be so treated that it will keep its shiny face in the background for a little while First of all, brush the garment well. Then purchase a lump of ammonia from a drug store and dissolve it in one plut of boiling water. With an old stocking-this is better than any other cloth-dipped in the ammonia solution rub the shiny part backward it. and forward. Wash off the ammoniawith a brush and clean hot water. He was appointed because he had niccessfully prosecuted several important actions on behalf of the city in the lower courts and the council was against the policy of changing horses in midstream. Later, some of the members changed their minds about

The grounds on which the body based its appointment was the contention that while a recent amendment to the city charter provided that the office of city prosecutor should be filled by election, the office of city at torney had not been abolished and it was therefore possible to fill it by appointment

Schuebel says he will continue to attend the council meetings and do the work of city attorney.

First Horse Omnibus.

The first horse omnibus was seen in the neighborhod of Nantes in 1826 and ran to facilitate access to a bathing establishment which a M. Baudry had set up in the outskirts of that town,

"The name of these vehicles," M. Baudry said, "shall be omnibus-that is to say, 'open to all.' " The venture was so successful that a limited company was formed to inaugurate a similar enterprise in Paris. The Parisian experiment was at first a failure, but after its originator had manifested his disappointment by drowning himself in the world. in the Canal St. Martin others reaped a rich barvest from his ideas.
