LINER TORPEDOED AND SHELLED BY SUBMARINE

BRITISH STEAMSHIP KARMALA WRECKED ON REEF AFTER ENCOUNTER.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The British steamship Karmala, an 893-ton passenger vessel owned by the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation company, was drawn on a reef and sunk on March 17 near Spina, Italy, after being shelled and torpedoed by a German submarine, according to two Americans who were among the Karmala's 199 passengers and who arrived here today from Europe. All on board the Karmala were saved. The Americans are W. E. Park, of Boston, and F. Hewer, of Brooklyn, who were returning from Egypt. The Karmala, they said, was on her way from Port Said to London when attacked. The submarine opened fire from her deck gun at a range of about five miles. Forty shots were fired, they said, but none did any material damage. The Karmala in turn fired 10 shots at the submarine, but could not reach her. The U-boat began to approach the ship, diving and emerging to fire. When within about 2000 yards she let go two torpedoes, one of which struck the Karmala in the bow. Although wounded the Karmala continued trying to escape, but in zig zapping ran too close to shore, hit a reef and ripped a great hole in her bottom. The lifeboats were lowered and the passengers and crew escaped, the U-boat giving up the attack when the ship hit the reef.
