

KILLING OF IMMATURE STOCK CALLED WASTE BY CHICAGO JOURNAL

PATRIOTISM AND PROFIT COMBINE IN FAVOR OF FINISHING FEEDERS

The Chicago Live Stock World, in a recent issue, contains an article on "Patriotism and Profit," relative to the killing of immature and unfinished stock for the market.

General farmers and live stock producers can do their country no greater service than by seeking to make their production reach the very limit of possibility.

Men who send to market immature and young stock that could carry greater weight are wasting the country's resources. In all human probability they are also sacrificing profits they might reap.

Feed lots and pastures. The unprecedented prices have been and are a temptation to cash in while the cashing is good; but when a man sends to market underweight and young breeding stock he is killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

To be sure, no man can be expected to go out and buy deer feed to make 1600 and 1700-pound steers or 400-pound lard hogs, but it is little less than an economic crime at this time to send in half finished 1000 to 1200-pound cattle and 150 to 180-pound hogs.

Marketing of strictly dairy calves is excusable, but every calf that could grow into good beef should by all means be kept.

Sending to slaughter pregnant cows and heifers for beef should be absolutely discontinued, at least for the period of the war.

In our great national emergency every man should consider how best he can help along. The easiest way for every owner of live stock to "do his bit" is to see that every animal goes to market carrying as much weight as it is practical to put on.

We are now drawing the May and June and July supplies of beef, pork and mutton.

Farming and live stock feeding is a good deal of a gamble, but there never was a time since the American Civil War when a feeder could feel as sure of good profit on bringing his live stock up to normal weight.

The higher the prices for grain, the more certain is the feeder of a profit in putting weight on immature stock. From one end of the country to the other there is a dearth of mature stock.

Feed lots, East, West, North and South, are bare. Hundreds of thousands of sheep and cattle have been wiped out by the almost unprecedented severity of winter in the West, and there is no spot on the map where one can turn to find a surplus of young stock to put in feed lots or turn on the pasture.

Patriotism alone ought to be sufficient spur to induce farmers and feeders to mature their holdings. At this time it seems highly probable that such a course would not only be highly patriotic, but handsomely profitable.

Child Jumps From Window When She Thinks Herself Locked In

DENVER, Colo., April 17.—Believing that she had locked herself in the bathroom of her mother's apartment at the West Vernon hotel this morning and that no one was coming to let her out, 5-year-old Elsa Adrienne Moore, of Portland, climbed out on the window ledge and dropped three stories to the pavement below.

She struck her feet on the cement pavement, fracturing both bones of the right leg just above the ankle. The little girl had been playing about the upper halls and had gone into the bathroom. The door stuck when she tried to open it, and she thought she had locked herself in. No one answered her call for help, so the child crawled out on the window ledge, backed out, and hanging by her hands, dropped three stories. She struck within a foot of a flight of stone steps. The baby did not lose consciousness at any time, even when her leg was set. The little girl came here with her mother, Mrs. Aman Moore, of a business man of Portland, Or., when Mrs. Moore was called to Denver by the illness of her father.

Hood River Man Turns Yard Into Food Producing Area

HOOD RIVER, Ore., April 17.—As evidence of the keen interest taken by the people of Hood River in the food preparedness campaign inaugurated last week, a man with team and plow was busy today turning under the sod of the big lawn around the home of E. J. Smith, ex-speaker of the Oregon legislative assembly and at one time territorial secretary and acting governor of Washington territory.

Mr. Smith, who has won the name of Hood River's Grand Old Man, planter of one of the valley's first commercial orchards, although now in his 80th year, participated actively last week in the food preparedness meetings.

FLOUR $10.60 A BARREL

Advance Follows the Upward Trend of Wheat Prices in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—Flour prices were advanced 40 cents a barrel in the local market yesterday to the wholesale basis of $10.60 a barrel for the best family patents. In the advance the flour market followed the general upward course of wheat prices, although wheat for the day was lower.

Wheat prices all over the country were unsettled by the government's action in admitting Canadian wheat into the United States duty free. If the fall wheat is extended, flour prices will probably drop back to a lower level.
