

LIVE WIRES HAVE A LOOK AT WAY CEMENT IS MADE IN OSWEGO PLANT

The crash of grinders and the rattle of electric conveyors made an industrial accompaniment to the Live Wires of the Commercial Club who made a top to bottom and end to end inspection of the plant of the Oregon Portland Cement company, at Oswego Tuesday, following a luncheon at the plant, where the officials of the company were the hosts.

The cement plant was a revelation to most of them. The establishment was in full operation today, with a daily capacity of 1000 barrels, and with every modern manufacturing convenience. Lime rock from quarries at Dallas and Heiseburg is mixed in making the finished product. The rock crusher with a capacity of eighty tons an hour, the dry kiln and the automatic sacker interested the visitors.

The Live Wires gave their endorsement to a plan, which has the sanction of the Clackamas County Teachers' association, for "Clackamas Day" during the coming annual session of the National Educational association at Portland.

DANIELS COMES OUT IN FAVOR OF ASTORIA BASE, SAYS HARLEY

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary Daniels today assured Mayor Harley, of Astoria, that he will strongly endorse the forthcoming report of the Helm Board recommending the establishment of a submarine and naval base near the mouth of the Columbia and in sending that report to congress will ask that $300,000 be appropriated to acquire the site and prepare it for governmental use.

If there is to be naval legislation this session, Secretary Daniels said he would urge that this appropriation be included. The secretary is heartily in accord with the Helm Board and concludes that there should be defense at the mouth of the Columbia river.

In a later conference with Admiral Helm, Mayor Harley learned that the board contemplated reducing the acreage to be acquired for a base site because of the prohibitive cost of the land. He protested against this as the entire tract will ultimately be needed. Admiral Helm then asked Mr. Harley to submit a final statement giving his judgment as to the highest price the government in reason should pay, and Mr. Harley suggested $50,000 as a compromise.

While regarding this figure as extremely liberal, Mr. Harley thought if the site could be acquired at that figure delays incident to condemnation could be avoided. Admiral Helm probably will adopt that figure, and as soon as he receives further data from Harbormaster Sweet at Astoria will place the board report before Secretary Daniels.

GRANGERS ARE IN FAVOR OF ROAD BOND ISSUE DECLARES ONE MEMBER

EUGENE, Or., April 25.—The great majority of the Grange organizations in the state of Oregon will support the $60,000 road bond bill, according to a prediction made at the mid-week meeting of the Eugene Chapter of Commerce today by B. S. Worsley, a Clatsop county farmer and grange member.

Mr. Worsley said that he had visited 34 granges in the state, speaking in the interest of the road bonds, and that all but three had unanimously endorsed the bonds.

"Those who are opposing the proposition are offering arguments that are utterly fallacious," he said. "Automobile licenses will pay the bill. No one will suffer from taxation."

"Up until last year I had no outlet from my farm. Then a nine and a half-mile dirt road was opened up from my place so that it was possible to haul to Astoria. Selling my strawberries at $3 a crate I had made enough money to pay my share of interest on bonds for the next 50 years and have enough left to go about the state telling the farmers about the good that will come from good roads and why the bond issue should carry."

The Coronado, steam propelled, is owned by the Pollard Steamship company, of San Francisco, and was bringing lumber from Grays Harbor, Washington.
