They were married at Fairhaven, New York, October, 1908. Beulah C. Oekwig was allowed a divorce from K. A. Cokwig on a charge of cruelty. "CAN, PICKLE, AND PRESERVE," IS MOTTO WHICH MUST SAVE "Every housewife this year should restore to her home the often overlooked home industries of canning, preserving, pickling, and drying of perishable fruits or vegetables," said David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture today. "The large number of new backyard gardens which have been planted this year shortly will begin to yield their extra harvest of beans, peas, carrots, beets, sweet corn and tomatoes. The regular supplies also will reach the markets and, as happens each summer, the local supply at times will exceed immediate consumption capacity. Not to conserve much of this surplus of valuable food would be sinful waste. "The present food and labor situation are such that no household is justified in looking to others to release it wholly from individual responsibility and constructive action in saving and conserving food. All any home should expect of others is to supply those foods which can not be produced effectively by its own members. The railroads will be burdened with the transportation of staple foods and civil and military necessities from localities of production and manufacture to districts incapable of supplying their own needs. "It follows that all locally produced foods, conserved by home methods, lessen the winter pressure on transportation agencies and also release similar products of factories for other purposes. "I urge every household, therefore, to can all surplus perishable products for which they have containers and to dry and keep in paper any additional surplus suitable for such preservation."

M. H. GASTON PLUNGES 40 FEET TO GROUND; ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT Marion H. (Jack) Gaston, whose home is at 6517 E. 88th street, S. E. Portland had an almost miraculous escape from instant death Monday evening when he fell over 40 feet to the ground receiving only slight bruises. Gaston, who has charge of the erection of the new Chautauqua auditorium at Gladstone Park, was at work on the highest point of the ridge when he missed his footing and fell. The falling man grasped at a rope which hung within reach but the rope ran through the pulley to which it was attached, until a knot caught. The momentum carried him to the ground with such speed that his hand was severely burned from the friction of the rope. Mr. Gaston struck the ground standing upright but the force of the impact rendered him unconscious. The injured man was taken to the home of H. E. Cross where Dr. Orel Welch gave him medical attention. It was found upon examination that no bones had been broken and that the man's injuries were confined to a severe shaking up and bruises about the ankles and hips. THREE CASES DECIDED UPON DEFAULT OF THE DEFENDANTS FRIDAY The divorce case of Kathryn I. Boone versus Benjamin Boone will be settled by a referee by order of Circuit Judge J. U. Campbell here Friday upon default of the defendant. Mrs. Boone in her complaint alleges that her husband, within two months after their marriage, persuaded her to go to Grants Pass, while he remained at home and spent his time and money upon one Lola Rubie. The Boones were married in Seattle, March 1915. M. L. Morris was also allowed a divorce by default of defendant, Ella P. Morris. Herman and Emil Schoenbacher were allowed judgment of $1663, together with interest at 10 per cent since January 29, 1917, against Lella K. and William Dodson and the Eilers Music House, upon default of defendants. The note involved was secured by a mortgage on 65 acres in section 12, township 2 south, range 4 east, Willamette Meridian. W. A. Dimick was appointed guardian of Louise Hennessey by Circuit Judge Campbell Friday to act in the case of W. H. Ross and George E. Walker vs. Blanch and Louise Hennessey. A verdict for the defendant was returned by a jury serving in the case of Chas Wolf versus Mathias Pavelets. Wolf was suing Pavelets for $173.50 alleged to have been borrowed for the purchase of horses and coal. MRS. SARAH WARE IS TO BE BURIED TODAY AT MOUNT PLEASANT Mrs. Sarah Anne Ware, widow of the late James W. Ware, died at her home at Eleventh and Taylor street Monday morning at 6 o'clock. Landsborough, pastor of the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock, with interment in the Mountain View cemetery. JAMES A. ADKINS IS INSTANTLY KILLED BY CANBY-MOLALLA TRAIN James A. Adkins, prominent lumber and timber man of this county was struck and instantly killed Saturday morning about 7:30 o'clock by a south-bound Pacific train bound for Canby from Molalla. Mr. Adkins was on his way to this city to attend to his lumber business, and was trying to get to the station at Kraft, near his home. Engineer Robert Gittings and Fireman Roy Knight saw Adkins running toward the track and thought that he would stop when he reached the station. Evidently he believed that he could cross the track and board the train on the opposite side. Adkins dashed in front of the oncoming train and was struck while he was in the middle of the track. He was thrown clear of the wheels and landed upon his head. The body was taken to Canby where funeral services will be held Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Oregon City Lodge of Elks of which he was a member. Mr. Adkins, who was a widower, is survived by the following brothers, Lee, Owen, Silas and Ren of Multnomah county; Mrs. Amanda Waldron, Oregon City; Mrs. Sarah Aikens, Multnomah and Mrs. Ola Fisher, formerly of this city. Mr. Adkins was 65 years of age and had been in the lumber business here for 25 years. He was a member of the Redmen and of the Elks Lodges. MRS. M. HENSLEY DIES AT GREAT FALLS, AGED 86 Word has been received in this city from Great Falls, Montana, by Mrs. Dan O'Neil, of Rose Farm, Mount Pleasant, announcing the death of her cousin, Mrs. Mary Helen Hensley, widow of the late Major Samuel Jay Hensley, of San Jose, California, on Wednesday, from pneumonia. It was Mrs. Hensley's intention to spend the remainder of the summer at the old historic home of Mrs. O'Neil, and had intended arriving here in a few weeks, when she was stricken with pneumonia. Mrs. Hensley suffered a similar attack of pneumonia about six weeks ago, and had recovered from the same, when a relapse caused her death. Although 86 years of age at the time of her death, Mrs. Hensley was unusually active. Mrs. Hensley was a native of New York. Fifty-five years ago Mrs. Hensley was entrusted with papers admitting California to statehood, when making the trip from New York to California by way of the Isthmus of Panama. During the seven days and nights it rained continuously while in her canoe on the Charges river and crossing the Isthmus. The little umbrella that Mrs. Hensley—then Mary Helen Crosby, used to protect those valuable papers was presented to J. A. Fitcher, Lewis and Clark fair commissioner from San Francisco. This little blue silk umbrella was later placed in the museum at Sutters Fort with other antiquities by Mr. Fitcher. Mrs. Hensley is survived by an only daughter, Mrs. William M. Thornton, of Great Falls, Montana, who is prostrated over her mother's death, and a cousin, Mrs. Dan O'Neil, of this city, one of the earliest Oregon pioneers.
