In August the air is full of pollen and dust that cause trouble for some, yet others are never bothered. ## Arizona Girl Who Followed Husband to France

Mrs. Hazel Carter of Douglas, Ariz., is on her way home after a desperate attempt to get into the trenches in France with her husband while she was disguised as an American soldier. She smuggled her way on to the train that took him to New York and then on to the transport, which took him to France. But they caught her before the voyage was ended and she was not permitted to land. She was sent back to Hoboken, N. J., and there she posed in her army uniform in front of the poster which demands men for the army.

Hoeecake and Their Origin.

The hoeecake is the most common form of corn bread found in the south. It was named by the southern slaves in early slavery times. The women slaves hoed cotton and rice by the task. When a task was begun in the morning it was completed before going back home. Sometimes they would get hungry; then the hoe was detached from the helve, a fire started and a hoeecake was cooked then and there upon the hoe. It was discovered by the planters that meal cooked thus was palatable, and the hoeecake was henceforth made part and parcel of a complete plantation dinner.

For a hoeecake take one pint of sifted meal, one-half teaspoonful of salt; add lard or fried meat grease and mix with enough lukewarm water to form a thin paste. Spread on a hot and greasy griddle. Bake both sides brown. Serve hot with vegetables, fat, bacon, pork, etc.

For corn pone use the above formula, but make the dough or paste thicker. Make into loaves and bake in a hot oven.—A. W. Brabham in New York Sun.

CONFESSED MURDERER LIVES OVER HIS CRIME

SALEM, Ore., July 23.—Warden Charles A. Murphy, of the state penitentiary, returned from Williams today with William Riggan, convict, who some time ago confessed to the murder of William Booth, and the warden made a final report to Governor Whitcomb as to his findings in the case.

The report shows that Riggan today went to the scene of the killing and described with unerring accuracy the location of Booth's body as it fell, after he had been shot from ambush, and the location of the body as outlined by Riggan was attested to as correct by Mr. Sherwin, a member of the coroner's jury, that sat on the case, a leading merchant of Williams.

While refusing to comment on the findings further than the statements included in his report to the governor, it is plain that Warden Murphy places much credence in Riggan's confession.

William Branson and Mrs. Anna Booth, widow of the murdered man, are serving sentences in the penitentiary for the crime—Branson for life and Mrs. Booth a sentence for manslaughter.

Circumstantial evidence seemed to point strongly to their guilt, and there was little dispute as to that point up to the time of Riggan's confession.

With Riggan's act in pointing out the location of the body today apparently every detail of his confession has been checked up as a black mark against Riggan.

In going over the ground today Warden Murphy and Riggan were accompanied by District Attorney Conner and Sheriff Henderson, of Yamhill county; J. E. Burdette, one of the attorneys for Branson and Mrs. Booth; George A. Thatcher, crime expert of Portland, and Mr. Sherwin, of Williams.

The people are being watched, it is stated, so that there is no chance of their making their escape, and as soon as the final touch of evidence has been gathered they will be apprehended. The girls are said to have told a complete story relative to their escape and succeeding adventures. It is not known what charge will be lodged against the alleged offenders who gave assistance to the fugitive girls.

East Indian English.

A railway surgeon in India sends some curious messages he has received from time to time from the company's employees:

1. Honored Sir—I am suffering from fever and swelling of my whole body, and my legs, too, are swollen up. Please take trouble to see me.

2. I beg to inform you that I am suffering by too much hot fever, but just now it is subsided somewhat, and there is much perspiration, and my legs are trembling like riding horse. First comes cold fever and then it becomes hotting. Inside is somewhat defected.

3. I tell you truly, sir, that I am really sick. Mr. Sprunk has refused to leave, and if you don't certify I will die like a dog, and my father will be teased.

4. Sir—Now I pray that you will make me cure soon because I am a very familiar man.

5. Wife lingering near to next world. Come soon to prevent goodbye.—London Standard.

Fame of Arras.

The history of Arras, France, dates back beyond the Christian era, when it was the chief town of a Gallic tribe known as Atrebates. It was then known as Nemetacum or Nemetocenna, but its present name is derived from that of the tribe. During the French revolution Arras suffered grievously, thanks to the cruelty of her native son, Joseph Lebon, who organized and directed the reign of terror there. Maximilien Robespierre and his younger brother, Augustin, were also born in this city. It is interesting to recall in view of his subsequent sanguinary career as a member of the commune and of the committee of public safety, responsible for converting the streets of Paris into rivers of blood fed by the guillotine, that as a young man Robespierre resigned his office as criminal judge in Arras rather than sentence a guilty man to death.

Shearing Sheep in Syria.

The manner of shearing sheep in Syria and all Asiatic Turkey does not differ materially from the ancient methods of the people as applied to practically every other vocation. While the sheep industry is one of the oldest in the country, having existed for centuries in the same pastures where the ancestors of the present herders also tended flocks, there does not appear to have been any improvement in the manner of shearing or breeding the sheep. Shearing is still accomplished in the crudest way, the workers always leaving a considerable amount of wool on the animal, while the fleece removed is cut most unevenly. The shearers frequently cut great holes in the skins of the sheep, which by the use of modern shearing machines could easily be avoided.

COPENHAGEN, July 25.—Since the beginning of the war Sweden has lost 136 ships through mines and submarines and Denmark has lost 180 vessels, according to statistics compiled here today. The tonnage of the Swedish ships totaled 125,000.

TYPHOID FEVER VICTIM BURIED IN OREGON CITY

The funeral services over the remains of the late Leonard W. Shipley, who died on Tuesday morning after a two-weeks' illness of typhoid fever at Vancouver, Washington, were conducted at the Holman chapel in this city on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. T. Milliken, pastor of the Baptist church officiating. During the services the Misses Naomi and Eschol Armstrong sang very impressively "Eternity," and "When the Mist is Rolled Away." The casket was covered with handsome flowers, among these being a wreath from the Robert Burns society of this city. The interment was in the Mountain View cemetery. The pallbearers were H. L. Martin, R. D. Wilson, J. J. Calavan and M. E. Dunn.

Leonard Shipley was the son of the late Wilson K. and Amanda Shipley. He was born on July 11, 1878, in the southern part of Iowa. He came west about 17 years ago, first settling in the state of Washington, and later in Oregon City. He resided in Oregon City for about two years, and two years ago returned to the state of Washington, being employed at Brush Prairie, Wash., near Vancouver, until his illness. He was removed to the hospital at Vancouver when he was taken ill, where he passed away on Tuesday morning.

Mr. Shipley was unmarried, but is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Adeline Davis, of Oregon City; Mrs. R. Y. Tidball, of Lucas, Kansas; Mrs. George Tolliver, of Middleburg, Florida; two brothers, James M. Shipley, formerly of Baker, Oregon, but at the present time of Oregon City. Among his nieces is Miss Gladys Davis, a student of the Albany college, but who is spending her vacation in this city. His parents died in the east some time ago.

SALEM CITIZENS TO BE ARRESTED FOR AIDING GIRLS' ESCAPE

SALEM, Ore., July 25.—Sensational developments, including the arrest of a state employe, along with a number of other local people, are promised for tomorrow by District Attorney Gehlhar in connection with the escape of three girls from the state industrial school Sunday night. The girls have all been returned to the school.

The district attorney refuses to divulge any names until the dragnet has completed its operation, but he states that evidence to hold one state employe has been unearthed and that others, including a local married woman, will be included in the clean-up.

The girls, it has been learned, had bobbed their hair after their escape, and had been fitted up with boys' caps in the nature of a disguise. The district attorney states that the purchaser of the caps has been identified as a married woman of this city. Still another cap, found in a barn near a state institution where one of the girls was captured early yesterday morning, has been identified as being the property of the state employe in question.

The people are being watched, it is stated, so that there is no chance of their making their escape, and as soon as the final touch of evidence has been gathered they will be apprehended. The girls are said to have told a complete story relative to their escape and succeeding adventures. It is not known what charge will be lodged against the alleged offenders who gave assistance to the fugitive girls.
