Peaches are retailing at $1, these being the Crawford and the Elberta. Although the peach crop is somewhat short this season in Clackamas county, the quality is good.

California grapes are arriving daily, and there is no doubt but that the market for the local grapes will be more encouraging than those of the California product. Never before in the history of Clackamas county have the grape vines been more prolific than this year. Vines that have not yielded a crop for years are now loaded with fruit, but the fruit will be late.

Pears are a short crop this year. and especially the Bartlett. The berry season is almost over, there still being a few of the Everlasting berries in the market.
