WILLAMETTE RIVER LOCKS ARE AGAIN OPEN FOR TRAFFIC

After being closed three months, the Willamette river locks were thrown open to navigation Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the first steamer to go through being the Grahamona, Captain Rabe, followed by the Relief, Captain William Lum. The Grahamona carried 150 sheep and a miscellaneous cargo.

Both steamers struck remnants of a dam in the lower lock. Blasting had failed to dislodge pieces of the dam, and another blast was fired late Monday afternoon and during the week the lock will be cleared of all obstructions. The lower lock now has a depth of six feet during the low water period, an increase of about four feet. New gates have been hung at the lower guard locks and material is on hand for other gates.

The United States engineers expected to have the work of deepening the lower lock completed in three weeks, but the work has taken as many months. The deepening of the basin in front of the paper mills will probably be done next summer.

WAR-CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE COMMITTEE TO RAISE $425 FUND

A new form of "mobilization" in connection with war work has just been approved by President Wilson and Secretaries Baker and Daniels, and a nation-wide movement inaugurated in its interests.

Trained organizers are lining up the forces around every training camp to give the men the helpful, normal entertainment which they desire and to which they are entitled. Practically every city and town and hamlet in the whole United States has been assigned a quota which they will be expected to raise for what is known as the "War-Camp Community Recreation Fund." There will be no special week set aside for the collection of this fund, but it will be gathered together within the next two or three weeks.

The quota for Oregon City is $425.00. Chairman Latourette of the Live Wires has appointed the following named committee to manage the local campaign: Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, W. A. Dimick, C. Schuebel, R. Caulfield and A. L. Obst.

This movement is really the mobilization of community hospitality and the United States is setting a new precedent in attempting to gather together all the sources of hospitality in all the communities surrounding military training camps. While the recreation and amusements to be provided will add to the enjoyment of the soldiers and sailors, the prime idea is that healthy environment around the camps, with proper welcome to the soldiers, will add to the strength of the army and navy.

The local committee will have announcements to make of a plan of action within a few days.

Charles Barte Found Guilty By Jury In The Circuit Court of Non-Support Wife and Child

Following a deliberation of a few minutes, a circuit court jury Thursday afternoon found Charles Barte, formerly a resident of Oregon City, guilty of non-support of wife and child.

The state's case showed that Barte, and the complaining witness, Leona Barte, were married in 1914. They lived for a few weeks in Oregon City and then moved to Portland, where Mrs. Barte claimed, her husband failed to provide the necessities of life to such an extent that she was compelled to leave him and has since lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bierman, well known residents of Oregon City. The testimony further showed that Barte had made no efforts to support his wife and baby from the time she left him in Portland. District Attorney Hedges and Deputy T. A. Burke handled the prosecution.

The defense, which was handled by Brownell & Stevens, set up the defendant's inability to support his wife, on account of physical disability. The state refuted this through testimony of Dr. Mount, who examined the man a few weeks ago, at the instance of the district attorney's office. Dr. Mount's testimony was to the effect that while Barte showed symptoms of weakened physical condition, in his judgment work would be good for him. Barte further claimed he had tried to obtain work on many occasions, but failed. For the past few months he has been doing assistant janitor work at the Sellwood schools.

After the verdict, Barte's bail was raised from $250 to $500. He is to appear for sentence Saturday morning. The crime is a felony under our laws.
