Stating that neither the Governor nor the Fish and Game Commission has authority under the law to open any stream closed by the legislature to net fishing and that the only seat of authority for such action is vested in the United States Food Administrator, Carl D. Shoemaker, State Game Warden, refuted in a statement yesterday, the contention of some local fishermen that the Governor had the power if he chose to open the Willamette river above the suspension bridge to the falls, to the gill-net fishermen.

The statement of Mr. Shoemaker

There has been considerable controversy among fishermen in Oregon City, regarding the power of the Governor to open the Willamette river above the suspension bridge to gillnet fishing. It has been contended that both the Governor and the Fish and Game Commission have this authority. The confusion, however, arises through an act of the last legislature which reads as follows:

"Provided that the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, may at their discretion, and at such times may adopt, permit the sale of any game animals, game birds, or game fish, the sa'e of which is otherwise prohibited by law."

This quotation will be found in 5. paragraph five of chapter 297, of the laws of 1917.

sion to close any open season or any open stream. This was done for the taken according to order numbers. reason that from time to time certain streams become depleted, and for the best interests of future anguing and fishing, it would be the part of wisdom to close that stream. It was under this authority, and on account of this reason that the Clackamas river was closed to net fishing.

The sole authority to suspend state laws effecting commercial fishing is vested in the United States Food Administration. Whether the necessity exists in this case is a matter for that body to determine.

Governor Withycombe has been a sincers friend of commercial fishermen and sportsmen. He has never wavered or hesitated in advocating the doing of what he thought was for the best interests of both. He should not be criticised for not doing that which he has no power to do, and that is the case at Oregon City now, when the commercial fishermen censor the Governor for not opening the Willamette river to net fishermen. He has no more authority or power to do this than the fishermen themselves.

Personally I believe that there is a more friendly spirit existing be- in their respective precincts but this tween the commercial fishermen at plan wil not be followed out this Oregon City, and the Fish and Game year. Although Miss Harrington ask-Commission today than ever before in the history of the Commission, I the same privilege this year but was welcome such a show of cooperation, denied. and look forward to the time when all of these matters may be worked out in a friendly and pleasant way.
