HOMESTEADERS LEAD HAPPY LIFE

Women and Shoes Are Strangers to Youngster From Wilds.

Mrs. Dora Badger and young son, Huron, residing on a homestead eighteen miles beyond Molalla, were in Oregon City Tuesday and Wednesday. They left for their home Wednesday morning. Mrs. Badger and her family are taking up a homestead, and it is located in one of the most attractive spots of Clackamas county, where the grass is green during the summer months, and the fertility is unusually good. The family has made many improvements, and while the husband and father is doing his bit for his country working in the shipyards at Astoria, the wife is doing her bit as well for her country by working the land of her homestead, and caring for her four children. This is the first time that the little fellow has seen a woman, other than his mother, for a year, while in Oregon City, says the mother, and he was more than delighted to see women and little girls on Wednesday morning while making his way to the depot. The youngster, who is about two years old, has become accustomed to wearing no shoes, and his mother says when he puts them on now, he would slide around like an automobile without chains on a slippery road. He flatly refused to wear his shoes to Oregon City when his mother started on her errand here, and he was allowed to

BOY DESERTERS FROM CAMP LEWIS PICKED UP HERE TUESDAY

When Night Patrol Ed Surtus picked up Roy Thompson and Henry Hertford loitering about the streets of Oregon City Tuesday night, he landed two badly wanted deserters who had departed from Camp Lewis about a week ago.

After a long examination by local officers Wednesday the boys broke down and admitted they had left Seattle about a week ago and had changed their clothes up in Washington en route to Portland. They had a suit case containing a pair of army shoes and two army shirts. The possession of which they could not satisfactorily explain. They gave no reason for running away and seemed to be relieved after telling the officers the truth of the matter.

Thompson lives in Missouri and Hartford comes from Madison, Nebraska. Both boys are in the draft army and were sent to Camp Lewis last July where they have since been stationed. They will be returned to Seattle where they will receive their

Wife -- "Poor Fish!" Hubby--"Too Much!" And To Court Goes He

What is the legal significance of the expression, "You poor fish?" This is one of the scathing terms alleged to have been heaped upon Percival Wood, by his wife, Vera A. Wood. The husband's divorce suit, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, was filed in the circuit court Wednesday, and in it he charges his wife with having repeatedly called him "a poor fish." He further complains that by reason of this cutting appellation, and other peculiar expressions used by his wife he has been greatly humiliated and disgraced among his neighbors in Portland.

Plaintiff offers to pay his wife $30 per month for the support of their four minor children.

Canby Motorist Has Close Shave With Street Car

CANBY, Or., June 5.—A Ford automobile driven by R. Erickson, in which were Mrs. Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Olson, was struck by a Mount Scott car at Grays Crossing in the edge of Portland at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Mrs. Erickson's right arm was slightly bruised. The rest of the party escaped injury. The car was demolished.

PARK RENTAL IS TURNED OVER TO LOCAL RED CROSS

The students of the Oregon City high school gave a picnic at the Schnoerr park during the past week. The park rent amounted to $2.50, which Gustave Schnoerr, instead of accepting, turned over to the local Red Cross branch.

DIVORCE COURT HEARS ECHO OF FORMER DECREE

Inez Dimick, in a complaint filed in the circuit court Wednesday, seeks to force her former husband, L. S. McDonald, to give up the possession of the two minor children of the couple. The McDonalds were divorced in 1916, and the court at Grays Harbor, Wash., is alleged to have awarded the children to the mother, who is the plaintiff in this action.

CONSCRIPT LABOR FOR SHIPYARDS SUGGESTED

With the view of urging the government to conscript labor for the shipyards and place them on a similar basis with the spruce division and other army work. The Live Wires of the Commercial club Tuesday appointed a committee consisting of M. D. Latourette, C. H. Dye, and O. D. Eby to investigate conditions and report back to the organization.

It was asserted by Live Wires that almost all of the labor shortage and labor trouble of today could be directly laid at the door of the shipyards. These plants, primarily government war industries, are paying which the average business cannot afford to pay and it was pointed out that the labor situation was becoming critical with most industries outside of the shipyards that it would in time force them to suspend operations.

The fact that young men are receiving industrial exemptions and earning big wages in the shipyards while others were working in spruce camps and other army industries for $30 a month was asserted to be an injustice by members of the Live Wires.

The organization took a fling at another war measure when it endorsed the proposed ordinance before the city council making it unlawful to loaf in Oregon City. The law is aimed at habitual loafers and will require, if passed, every man within stated ages to have some useful employment.

Lieutenant Wallace Canfield, a former member of the Live Wires was a guest at the luncheon and gave an interesting talk on army life.

Dr. L. A. Morris, Walter A. Dimick, Thomas A. Burke and George Banton were appointed to serve on a committee to entertain the next draft quota which leaves Oregon City the last of the month.

B. T. McEain, chairman of the federal postoffice committee, called the organization's attention to the fact that a new postoffice when the department had sent out the word that no new federal buildings would be built during the war.

JUNE DRAFT WILL CALL 83 MORE CLASS ONE MEN

Clackamas county draft officials are arranging to handle the call for 83 Class 1 men to entrain for Camp Lewis for service in the National Army under the quota for this county fixed by the Adjutant General's office Saturday. The men will leave for Camp Lewis between June 24 and June 29.

In addition Clackamas county will be called upon to furnish 12 men of grammar school education and mechanical training, who have an aptitude for mechanics, to be specially trained in mechanical lines at the Benson polytechnic high school in Portland. The men will be instructed under regular army supervision and are to report on June 15 in Portland to their commandant. Automobile mechanics, general mechanics, plumbing, metal working, carpentry and radio operation will be the branches in which instruction is given.

Clackamas county will have no trouble in getting the twelve men to fill the call as volunteers, in the opinion of Sheriff Wilson, chairman of the local exemption board. The varied industries of the county can supply any number of skilled mechanics such as are needed. The men will have until June 7 in which to volunteer. If the quota is not completed by that date the local board will designate men to fill it.

The ceremony was attended only by Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Dunbar, Miss Margaret Beatie, a close friend of the bride, and the latter's brother, Ira Bolton, of Camp Lewis. Immediately after the wedding, the couple left on the evening train for Bremerton, where they will make their home for the present.
