

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mrs. Ray Gregory and little daughters, Virginia and Margaret, arrived in Oregon City from San Francisco Wednesday. They are the guests of Mr. Gregory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregory, who reside a few miles from Oregon City in the Greenwood section. Mrs. Gregory and children, who formerly resided in Portland, have visited in Oregon City on many occasions, have many friends here. They made the trip to Oregon on the steamer Beaver, and during the trip a donation for the Red Cross was taken up on the boat. Articles were donated, including jewelry and other attractive gifts that brought good prices when the auction took place on the boat. Mrs. Gregory donated a handsome opal ring, and it was eagerly sought for, and brought $12. The amount resulting from the sale to be turned over to the Red Cross Society in Portland was $186. Much amusement was afforded the passengers during the auction.

Mrs. G. H. Cantner, state chairman of the Women's Division, State Council of Defense, gave an excellent address before the assembly of women meeting in the Commercial Club parlors Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Cantner told of her recent trip to Washington, D. C., and explained the work of the Red Cross Society, the food conservation, children's welfare and other patriotic work that has been carried on in that section of the United States. She also told of the bottles that were to be distributed for donations for the Belgium babies.

Mr. and Mrs. Otha Taylor, of Portland; Mrs. C. Marston, Lou Marston, of Gresham; Miss Marie Soule of Philomath, and Miss Dorothy Taylor, of Portland, motored to Gladstone from Vancouver, Sunday. They were guests of Mrs. Grace M. Smith Eby, Lou Marston expects to leave Vancouver today for the Presidio, Calif. to go into training. S. M. Marston, his brother, of Gresham, has been employed by the government in irrigation work in Lake county. Both young men attended the Oregon City high school and are well known here.

Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Davis, who have been making their home at Tenth and Madison Street, left for Salem, Thursday afternoon. They are to visit for about ten days as guests of Mrs. C. Schwab, sister of Mrs. Davis. They will then proceed to Portland, where they are to remain at Mount Tabor until the latter part of August, where they are to be guests of friends. Rev. and Mrs. Davis will leave the first of September for their new home at Philadelphia, Pa., where they formerly resided before taking up their residence in Oregon City.

Dr. and Mrs. George F. Hoeye, accompanied by Mrs. John W. Kelly, are to leave by automobile today to attend the "home coming" of the Salem people. This is an annual event that is looked forward to each year by the residents of Salem as well as those who have made their home at Salem. The affair is to be held on Saturday, and great preparations have been made for it. During their stay in Salem Dr. and Mrs. Hoeye and Mrs. Kelly are to make their headquarters in the cottage of Dr. Hoeye on the Oregon State Fair grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stauffer, who are spending the summer at their farm, known as the Larwick place, were in this city Tuesday. Preacher Well Trained 'Flap Jacks' Enjoyed No Fatalities Recorded

A jolly party left Oregon City Wednesday evening. Rev. E. E. Gilbert, pastor of the M. E. church, John R. Bowland, C. I. Stalford and Clarence Hoffman chaperoned sixteen boys, members of the Methodist Sunday school to Eagle Creek falls on the Columbia river highway. They went by auto and arrived in time for supper.

Upon the arrival each man in the party was given his post of duty. Rev. Gilbert, one of the honor men of the party, was given his choice of washing dishes or making the flapjacks. He said his wife always had charge of the cooking at home, but it was necessary for him to "juggle" the dishes handed him before he changed his mind. John Bowland said he could not know whether his "star boarders" cared for that kind of not. All assured him they would manage to partake of his cooked "dough." Mr. Stalford said he was willing to do his bit, but preferred to be away from the culinary department, so he was honored with the position of preparing the beds. Hoffman was the last to be given a position and he was put in as guide of the boys, but often assisted in preparing the meals, as Bowland was accused of Hooverizing too much.

The first night was a terror to some of the boys, they say, for there was snoring in various kinds of tones, ranging from tenor to bass. The party reached home Thursday, after the "time of their lives." Mr. Bowland proved an exceptional good cook; and other men in their party did their work well. A similar trip is being planned.

ACCUSES WIFE OF RUNNING OUT ON NIGHTS WITH MEN

Percival Wood was granted a divorce from Vera A. Wood by decree of Judge Campbell Tuesday, after the evidence introduced tended to show that she had treated him in a cruel and inhuman manner. The couple were married in 1908, in Columbia county and have four children, Percival, Lucile, Kenneth, and Richard, the custody of whom the mother gets in the decree. The plaintiff agreed to pay the sum of $30 monthly for the children's care, and the court granted permission for him to visit them at reasonable periods. Among other things in the complaint, Mr. Wood charges his wife with running out at night with other men, and neglecting her home and her family.

MRS. O'NEILL LAST MEMBER OF PIONEERS

Mrs. Minnie O'Neill, one of the most prominent early Oregon pioneers, and widow of the late Dan O'Neill, died at the family home, Rose Farm, Mount Pleasant, Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Mrs. O'Neill was the eldest daughter of the late William Livingstone and Louise Holmes. She was born August 6, 1836, in Arkansas, and crossed the plains with her parents by ox team in 1842. The family reached Oregon City after having many exciting experiences, and settled on what was known as the Holmes Donation Land Claim, where Mrs. O'Neill has resided practically all her life, and what is known as Rose Farm. This was one of the first homes to be erected in Clackamas county, and it has been visited on many occasions by hundreds of friends of the Holmes family. It is one of the old historic homes of the state.

Mrs. O'Neill until a few years ago always took an active interest in the state's affairs. Although 82 years of age, she retained her mental faculties until the last. No woman of Clackamas county had more friends than this pioneer.

Mrs. O'Neill was the last of her family. Her sister, Miss Mary Louise Holmes, died at Rose Farm about two years ago. She is survived by her niece Mrs. Louise Martin, of Spokane, Wash., a nephew, William Holmes, resides in California, also a cousin, Mrs. William Thornton, of Montana, and at the present time in California, but who will arrive within a few days.

The deceased was a devout member of the St. Paul's Episcopal church and has been a member of the St. Paul's Guild for many years.

The funeral services are to be conducted from Rose Farm, Mount Pleasant, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will officiate. The interment will be in Mountain View cemetery, and the remains will be laid beside those of her husband, Dan O'Neill, who died at Rose Farm about 18 years ago.

1847 PIONEER EARLY FARMER IN NORTHWEST

George W. Dimick, father of Senator Walter D. Dimick, and uncle of Judge Grant B. Dimick, died early Sunday morning at his home, two and a half miles from Oregon City, at the age of 81 years. Mr. Dimick was one of the oldest pioneer farmers of the Willamette Valley and he has been a big factor in the growth of the agricultural and livestock industries in this section for the past sixty years. He came to Oregon in 1847 with his parents, began working on a farm almost immediately and has continued that work all his life. For a great many years the deceased owned and managed a grain and livestock farm of over a 1000 acres near Hubbard. A few years ago he retired from extensive farming and came to Oregon City and lived on a smaller farm nearby until his death.

The deceased had been an active temperance and prohibition worker all his life and an active member of the Methodist church for over 60 years. He was one of the first farmers in Oregon to join the Grange when it was organized in this state and retained his membership through the years.

George W. Dimick was born near Springfield, Ill., April 28, 1837. Ten years later his parents brought their family across the plains to Oregon by ox team and took up the old Dimick donation land claim near Hubbard. This claim, with additional land added to it at different times, was the home of George W. Dimick for 60 years. His father was Augustus R. Dimick, a well-known pioneer figure in the early days.

The funeral will be held at the home near Oregon City at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. From there the remains will be taken to Hubbard for burial and short services will be held at the grave.

George R. Dimick is survived by his widow, Mrs. Addie Dimick, and children, George D., of Salem; John A., of Hubbard; Lottie M. and Walter A., of Oregon City; Bud, of Portland; Orrin, of Portland; Ray, of Fort Canby, and Ada, Harold and Raymond, of Woodburn.
