Macksburg

MACKSBURG, August 1.—As if with the impulse of a new spring, all vegetation has been revived by the rain of the past week, and seems trying to re-grow. Most of the winter grain was cut before the rain, but the spring grain, the potatoes and the corn, which are doing fairly well are growing at apace.

The fruit, about which for a time, grave apprehension was held, is more plentiful and of an extra fine quality. The berry season, now about ended, with the exception of strawberries, has been a successful one. The Evergreen blackberry will ripen in the middle of August and is in its wonted profusion. Pear and plum trees are loaded to the point of breaking, while apples promise to be as plentiful as usual.

Travel, for a few days, has been a veritable delight, the freedom from dust and mud being transferred in this new country when the drive-ways are right in their infancy, meet the appreciations of all.

Constant good news from the seat of the War brings a hope that goes far toward banishing the sadness inseparable from the many familiar places left vacant by the young men who have gone to fight for us over the sea. It is cheering to see the readiness with which the work these young boys were doing is taken up by those whom they left behind. School boys are performing labor, thought heretofore only for full grown men, while in the threshing crews, are to be found men who had thought themselves of an age past such work.

Determination to stand by their Country till she is safely through this ordeal, seems to have brought a superhuman power into every frame that holds a loyal heart. Reward will be theirs when the War is over and the Nations' work is apportioned among her people. Men and women to fill places of honor and trust will be drawn from the ranks of those who have gone on record for loyalty and truth.

The Red Cross Auxiliary held its usual meeting on Wednesday and will meet again on the last day in July to complete work which must be taken to the headquarters in Oregon City with one month's report in the first week of August.

Many of our workers have had the sadness of War brought home to them at the departure of sons or brothers for the war. One of our members has four sons in the service, while another too young for the draft is anxious to enlist. This seems to inspire greater earnestness in the work, all feeling that the more zeal shown in helping on the struggle the sooner it will be over.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which in an advanced condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

WHEATLESS PERIOD IS ABANDONED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Release of hotels and public eating places from the voluntary pledges to use no wheat until the new harvest was over, has been announced by the food administration. Homes operated on the same basis are also released.

This action, which was foreshadowed two weeks ago, follows receipt of a cable from Food Administrator Hoover in conference with the allied countries in England. He has received the requirements of the allied nations for the coming year and their estimates of their own wheat yields.

Announcement is expected shortly from these conferences that the entire allied world has enough wheat to abandon its extreme wheat conservation plans and that all will share alike in the wheat that they have pooled.

Abandonment of the wheatless period does not mean that pure wheat bread will be used. The Victory bread is to come into universal use and it will be the only white bread baked in the bakeries of the United States, served by its restaurants and used in its patriotic homes. Victory bread is 50 per cent wheat flour and 50 per cent substitutes.

Syrups for Canning Fruits

By Laura Buffum

Fruits may be satisfactorily canned without sugar, and those put up especially for young children might better have sugar omitted. The adult taste requires sweetened fruit and less sugar is required if the fruit is sweetened when canned. Sugar is added in syrup form when the product is canned and permeates it well during the process of sterilizing. It is more economical to can fruits with sugar rather than to add sugar when using. Send for a free canning manual which the National War Garden Commission, Washington, will send you for a 2-cent stamp to cover postage.

In directions given, various grades of syrup are mentioned. These are in the following proportions:

Thin—One part sugar to four parts water.

Medium—One part sugar to two parts water.

Thick—One part sugar to one part water.

In making the syrup have the water boiling, then add the sugar very gradually. Stir constantly, keeping the liquid boiling, until all of the sugar is dissolved. A clear syrup, which rarely needs skimming, results if this method is used.

Thin syrups are used for all sweet fruits such as cherries, peaches and apples. Use medium syrups with sour fruits, such as strawberries, gooseberries, apricots. Thick syrup is suitable for preserving, and especially sun-cooked preserves. Thin syrup is not sticky; medium syrup is sticky when cooled on spoon; thick syrup when poured has a thickened appearance.

Care should be taken while using the syrups. The liquid should be added boiling hot to the filled jars, but between times, if allowed to continue boiling, it will change in quality, a thin syrup in small quantity, rapidly becoming thick. The Commission will be glad to answer any questions written on one side of the paper, and sent in a self addressed stamped envelope.
