Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slinger, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cebo and Thomas Slinger, of Mount Pleasant, who have been on a motoring trip, visiting the Tillamook beaches, have returned to their home. Many exciting experiences were had by members of this party. Among these was seeing a large black bear making his way down a tree. The party did not stop long enough at that point to ascertain whether the bear was after them, or if it was trying to get out of the way. "More power" was added to the automobile, and much ground was covered in very little time. Several members of the party are recently from New York, and having their exciting experiences in the "Wild and Woolly West" was rather enjoyed.

J. Stanley Gozesky, who is with American Expeditionary Forces in France.

A former Oregon City young man, and one of the most popular leaving this city, "Mike," as he was familiarly known, was connected with the L. Adams store for a number of years, and before enlisting in the service of Uncle Sam, he was at the head of several departments. He is with the 344 Bakery Company, France, American Expeditionary Forces. Stanley's brother, First Sergeant A. J. Gozesky, is with Company A, Fourth Separate Battalion, U. S. Marine Barracks, and is stationed at Quantico, Va. First Sergeant A. J. Gozesky has been in the service for the third time, and is one of the men Uncle Sam can depend upon. In a letter to his brother, Joseph, of this city, he says: United States Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va., Aug. 3, 1918.

"Dear Brother: "Just a few lines to let you know that I am going away soon, and am sending you my papers, medals, etc., by registered mail, and I wish Mother would take care of the belongings for me. "I am now first sergeant of a new company, and am kept quite busily engaged. "I will close for this time, and you will hear of me later."

LAND OF COTTON IS NO PLACE FOR THIS OREGON SOLDIER BOY

Burk, of Thirteenth and John Adams Street, Creston was born in Oregon City, but it has been some time since he has been here. He is stationed at Camp Hancock, Georgia. In his letter the young man says: Camp Hancock, Ga. "Dear Maude: "I received your letter, also one from Alta, and was mighty glad to get them. I am taking the first opportunity in answering them. "I have been on kitchen police or guard or old guard fatigue every since I received the letters. I have come down to the Y. M. C. A. to answer. "There is nothing down here except sand and negroes, and I am far from delighted with it. I like it very much better at Benicia. We had pleasant barracks there, but here all we have is sand floors and tents. "There are about 20,000 soldiers here, counting the ordnance artillery and infantry. It sure does get hot down here too, but when it does rain it rains harder than it does in Oregon. "Last night I received my first pass, the first I have had since coming down here, and I went to Augusta, which is only five miles away. It was my first and last trip to that city. They sure rob a person in that town. It is a quaint old, slow Southern town, but is rather pretty. The streets are wide with a walk bordered with two rows of trees. In the center and on the sides of this parking are streets about as wide as Main street of Oregon City. "We were placed in quarantine when we arrived here, and were in quarantine for a few days, and when we got out we were placed on duty. "Augusta is full of negroes, and they sure live in the worst tumbled down shacks that you can imagine. There are about 7500 people there. "There are a lot of fellows from Oregon, and it is good to have so many around. There is nothing in the South that compares with the West, and if I ever get out of Dixie again, I am never coming back. I was never 'cut out' to live below the Mason Dixon line. "We had a nice trip coming down here. The ladies of the Red Cross met us at Denver and Nashville, and gave us everything imaginable, which all enjoyed, and we had a better impression of the South than we have now. "Well, I must close for the present. "Love to all, "CRES."

MILLIKEN ENJOYS LONG JOURNEY Tells of Scenery and His Experiences on Trip to Front

Keynote—"I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way."

Aug. 1—"The country we are going through now is surely beautiful. We can look for miles each way up and down the valley, and see the grain fields. Dad, you'd give your right hand to spend six months in those mountains, and if mother and little sis were here they'd sure think they were in heaven, (even tho it is pretty hot for that place).

Aug. 2—"We are now passing thru the most beautiful scenery that you could possibly imagine. Thru the rugged old Rockies where you can look almost straight down and see charming little towns nestled in the valleys, and limpid streams which are literally alive, I am sure, with mountain trout, and I know that in those hills there is the best of hunting. We have just left a town—, where we certainly received a welcome, even though we weren't expected. At one place an old soldier stood at attention and saluted until the whole train got past, and, believe me, we gave him a rousing cheer. Another old white-haired and white-bearded veteran held up a flag and waved it. Talk about patriotism, folks! You can't imagine how the people of the United States are one and all in it to down the old Kaiser. It sure makes us chaps feel like putting up a real fight to know that the people back there are all behind us.

"I want to tell you how they treated us at Spokane, Wash. The Ladies' Red Cross Society gave us candy, checker-boards, cherries, peaches, post-cards (which they mailed free of charge) and every other goodie that one could wish for. We took a hike through the main drag there, and received a royal reception. Have had so much praise since we left the old Fort that we are almost as cheery as a bunch of those old-country kings.

"My! It has been hot today. Until the last half hour it has been so hot that the old colored porter's "Herb-eyes" melted so that we couldn't eat them. If you ever take a trip out here again, Dad, you'll never forget one place in Idaho where—, Lake Is. It's the most beautiful place I ever saw in my life. "We sure have some colored porter. We call his "Rastus," "Snowball," "Tex," "Jerry," and several other pet names. When we got off at one town we had him take the head of the Company, and he led us through town, and talk about fun! The people cheered along the line. He's been so stuck up ever since that he will hardly look at the other porters. He taught us a song about—

O yo' ole Unc' Sammy! He's got the infantry, He's got the cavalry, He's got the artillery! But his version runs— O yo' ole Unc' Sammy! He's got de infantry, He's got de cavalry, He's got de utility! Whenever we come to a town we sing it until we raise the roof. With me in berth No. 6 are my old squad mates, two dandy fellows, Charlie Goodwin and John Bottans. One is from Wisconsin, and the other from Detroit, Michigan. The West is still wild and woolly in spots. At one place a cordon of dance-hall girls came down to see us go through, and there were cowboys by the score.

Don't worry about us. We are having the time of our lives. Les (Kellogg) is in the second division, so I have not seen him since we left Spokane. FRANK W. MILLIKEN

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS AT WORK Conduct Welfare Departments in 45 Army Any Navy Centers

Christian Science camp welfare work is now being carried on in forty-five army and navy camps in the United States under direction of the Christian Science War Relief and Camp Welfare Committee of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. There are at present about seventy men and fifteen women engaged in this work, the women serving mainly as welfare room attendants. Conducted at first independently, the camp welfare work has been merged with the war relief work which the Christian Scientists were doing in foreign countries before the United States entered the war. For both these purposes about one million dollars have been raised. The aim of the Christian Science camp workers is to be as helpful as possible to all the men in the camps, whether or not they are Christian Scientists, and particularly to give assistance which may not be available at the time or place through any of the other camp welfare agencies. A feature of this phase of the work is an arrangement for keeping soldiers and sailors in close touch with their relatives. Cooperating with the committee in Boston, there is a Christian Science camp welfare committee in each state. The committee in the home state of a soldier or sailor cooperates by mail and telegraph with the committee of the state in which he is camped or stationed to form a direct and constant link between the soldier or sailor and his relatives. Thereby the relatives are quickly made acquainted with needs of their boy in the service, and he is provided with an avenue of quick communication with his home. This linking of home and camp, combined with the personal attention of the Christian Science workers in the camps, has frequently been the means of changing a soldier's outlook from one of gloom to one of joy, and not infrequently it has proved to be the means of relieving relatives of financial embarrassment, the committee in the home state making loans for use by the relatives until their boy in camp should be prepared to forward money to them. The net result, for which the Christian Science committees and camp workers have received many commendations, has been a noticeable raising of the morale of many men in the service and the development of a better feeling at home regarding the participation of their boys in the service. The camp workers say there is an increased willingness among the commanding officers and surgeons to allow Christian Science treatment for those men who ask for it, and many Christian Science healings have been recorded. Recently, two requests for Christian Science services in hospital wards were received by camp workers from medical nurses who had observed the beneficial effects of Christian Science treatment. In or near numerous camps, the Christian Science Committees have erected substantial buildings, with quiet places for reading and writing, and other buildings are in course of construction. A light touring car has been added to the equipment of the Christian Science camp workers at each camp to be used whenever and wherever possible in assisting the men.

Where Gen. Pershing Was Teacher in School for Negroes and Old Servant

Daddy's Wall SCHOOL WHERE GENERAL PERSHING TAUGHT One of the first things John J. Pershing did to earn his living was teaching in a Negro school in his home town of Laclede, Mo. The small schoolhouse stands to-day deserted and forlorn, but there are many Negroes in that part of the state who owe what little education they have to the man now commanding the American forces in France. "Daddy" Hall, in those days was the Pershing family servant, and, he, too, still lives in the little town. He remembers the general well and is filled with stories about him.
