

ONE DAIRYMAN IS REAL STICKER

N. H. Smith of Logan Has Cows With Records For Butter Fat

By R. G. Scott, County Agent
Over in the Logan country there is a dairyman who is not going out of business. His name is N. H. Smith. He has just bought a car of milk feed, which will last him about two months. He has about forty-five head of cattle to winter over, including his young stock. Mr. Smith believes in feeding his livestock. The county agent saw the calves come down to a trough and get their supper of mill feed, and from the looks of them, they will pay for it all and then some, when they are grown up. At present the older cows are paying for their own feed, for the calves feed, and are paying their owner a nice sum for taking care of them. When I found them milking in the middle of the day, I wondered if they also milked in the middle of the night, but the reason is that some of his cows prefer to work three eight hour shifts, with three milkings, than two twelve hour shifts, like ordinary cows. Mr. Smith has a few of the ordinary kind, but he is gradually weeding them out. He also has some quite extraordinary cows, one for instance named Kadla F., which as a four year old made a record of 16,191 pounds of milk of 678 pounds of butter fat in a year. This is still the world's record for a four year old Jersey cow. He also has a cow which gave 702 pounds of fat in a year, and a three tested cow which gave 688 pounds of fat in a year, with several more around 500 pounds. Several years ago, he took the bull by the horns, so to speak, and bought four cows for a total of $1200. Since then he has used bulls of the best breeding, and now has a herd to be proud of

TEMPLETON FAVORS GOOD IMPROVEMENT FOR SINGER GRADE

The council met in abbreviated session Wednesday night for their regular monthly meeting. The proceedings were cut short in honor of Major W. R. Logus, who made a talk afterward from the steps of the Liberty Temple.

Little was accomplished at the council meeting, aside from the appointment of judges and clerks for the special election of September 24, at which time some radical charter amendments will be voted on.

Councilman Templeton brought up the matter of paving Singer Hill, and ed improvement. After discussion, it was decided to hold the matter over for a special report on the estimated expense. The council will meet next Monday to hear this report.

Councilman Templeton also brought up the matter of some minor traffic violations, and cited the city police for their seeming dereliction in allowing cut-outs on motor-cycles and automobiles to be used on the city streets. He also brought up the matter of machines running at night without proper lights as provided in the ordinances. Mr. Templeton mentioned a variety of other matters which he considered needed attention, and the various departments of the municipality were requested to take action.

The city officials were tendered, and accepted with thanks, an invitation by Councilman Bridges to attend a ship-launching at the Foundation yards in Portland on September 11.

The officers will go in a body, and be special guests of the company during the event.

The judges and clerks appointed for the coming election were: First Ward, judges, Ed Johnson, John Bltner, and Mrs. Rosina Evans; clerks, Mrs. Joe Beaulieu and Mrs. William Howell, Jr.

Second Ward, judges, W. C. Green, Sol Walker, and C. W. Kelly; clerks, Mrs. Nan Chapman and Mrs. David Caulfield.

Third Ward, judges, Mr. McClelland, E. P. Elliott, and Mrs. John Green; clerks, Mrs. N. M. Alldredge and Mrs. Quinn.

RETURNED OFFICER IS SPEAKER TO HOMEFOLKS

Before five hundred of his townsfolk, Major William R. Logus, who recently returned to the United States from France in the exchange of officers, told of the work the American army is doing "over there," of how well the American boys are cared for and urged the people at home to continue backing the boys by subscribing to the Liberty Loan, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other auxiliary units.

That the mothers of the boys who are fighting in France have no need to worry was one of the messages brought by Major Logus. All are being well cared for, he said, secure all they want to eat, and are doing wonderful work.

He named many of the Oregon City boys whom he had met during his stay in France and all the men from every part of the country are in good health and spirits.

Letters are appreciated more than anything else, he said. All his hearers were urged to write letters. He described a "mail day" over there, how the boys received their letters and were given time off in which to read them, how they compared notes with one another. Always, he said, there were four or five boys who received no letters, and these boys would walk up to the sergeant and shake the mail sack, so confident were they that a letter must be somewhere in the sack for them. When they had been assured that no letter had come addressed to them, Major Logus said it was pathetic to see them make their way back to the billets.

"Above all else" he said "write to the boys over there. It takes you only a short time and it means a great deal to the boys. Write the cheery kind and don't mind if they fail to answer it. They are busy but keep a string of letters going to them, even though they do not answer."

Following the meeting which was held in front of Liberty Temple, Major Logus was taken to the home of the Oregon City lodge, No. 1189, B. P. O. Elks, of which he is past exalted ruler.

More than 100 members of the lodge pulled their chairs in a huge circle and with Major Logus in the center, seated in an easy chair, listened to anecdotes, tales and experiences of the boys who are fighting for freedom and democracy of the world.

One of the stories which Major Logus told, he explained was a stock "negro" story in France.

A colored soldier who had been wounded in action was convalescing in a hospital said to a comrade:

"Say boy, if I ever get back to those United States, the Statute of Liberty will have to 'back face' to see me."

The colored troops furnish much amusement to the white soldiers because of their sharp wit and yet at the same time, Major Logus said that when the history of this war is written, the colored troops will be given a prominent page.

Major Logus will leave tonight for Camp Lewis, where he will be assigned to duty as brigade adjutant.

WAITERS STOP WAITING

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—First the waiters stopped waiting, and then the diners did. It happened at the Blackstone hotel all because the waiters wanted a raise and walked out to impress the fact on the management. Then the cooks walked out, in sympathy, as the unions say, with the waiters, not the waiting diners. And then the waiting diners got tired of waiting and walked out, too. All of which is why the Blackstone announced today that for the time being the dining room is closed to guests.

EVERY COLLEGE STUDENT MUST TAKE TRAINING

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 4.—The policy of the Oregon Agricultural College will be to have every man physically fit in some form of athletics next school year. Dr. A. D. Browne, director, will organize intramural athletics on an extensive scale to carry out this purpose. Last year the college units through which the intramural work was developed were fraternities, clubs and classes. If the military work of the Government makes it impossible to use the fraternities other units can be used to equal advantage. The wishes of the Government in respect to athletics will be carried out.

WOOL SHORTAGE MAY BE FELT IN OREGON CITY

Oregon City women who are knitting socks, sweaters and other articles of clothing for their soldier boys have been favored by the fact the government has not commandeered the stocks of woolen yarn in the Oregon City stores so far. Recently the entire stocks of several large Portland stores were taken by the government for its use. All in Oregon City who have yarn are urged to knit it at once and place it into use as the amount of available wool is becoming smaller all the time.

LABORITE SCORES PACIFISTS

DERBY, Eng., Sept. 4.—A resolution was adopted by the labor congress here today reaffirming the allies' war aims. The delegates called upon the Labor and Socialist parties of the central powers to make a statement of their war aims.

Captain E. G. Watkins, 16th infantry, who was with the first American troops to land in France, will also be a speaker at the luncheon. He has been sent back to act as instructor at one of the cantonments.

The passage of the resolution was followed by uproar in the convention hall and interruption of the proceedings. Havelock Wilson, president of the International union, scored the pacifists in a statement, declaring that they are the worst enemy of democracy.
