SAY MEASURE IS FULL OF JOKERS Report Persistent That Single Tax Idea Lurks in Jackson Bill.

A few years ago the people of the state of Oregon, in a spirit of gentleness and amused tolerance, listened to the Portland Journal's campaign for single tax. It was Mr. Jackson's pet hobby, and his official mouthpiece shouted loudly and loudly. When the votes were counted, however, the people breathed a sigh of relief, for single tax and Oregon citizenship were found to have nothing in common.

For a time Editor Jackson subsided. Unable to dictate the editorial policies of the newspapers of the state, and stung to the quick at the decisive defeat of his pet scheme, he maintained an attitude of calm demeanor. Now Mr. Jackson steps up to bat again, fostering and fathering a new plan of unorthodox and inexplicable legislation. In on the scheme with Jackson is a Portland attorney, and the two have devised a plan that is unique to say the least. Just the interest of the lawyer has not been divulged. The proposed law bears the Jackson trademark, and those who have familiarized themselves with the measure, state it is as full of "jokers" as some of Mr. Jackson's single tax measures in the days of old.

Jackson's scheme is to abolish the delinquent tax law as it now stands and substitute in its place an impractical, ethereal scheme, cleverly framed to lure the voters, but intended as a piece of radical and vicious legislation that will benefit the lawyers, the title grabbers, and others of their ilk—at the expense of the struggling home owner. Such is the Jackson delinquent tax bill. There are those who intimate that Jackson's energy in working for the bill is due to the fact that his Portland Journal has been overlooked in the publication of "Munnahs lists in days gone by, and that his spleen against the present statute is inspired through petty jealousy in the Portland newspaper field. This may or may not be the case.

The present tax publication law for Oregon is the ideal measure if public service may be considered the criterion. It is simple, practical and devoid to protect the taxpayer from the title grabbers and other vultures. Briefly it provides that notice be sent by the tax collector, THROUGH THE MAIL, to every delinquent taxpayer within 90 days from date of delinquency. Then, and only then, to reach those whom the mails have failed to reach, the law provides that publication shall be made in the newspapers.

Could any plan be fairer? Could there be any better scheme to protect the unfortunate delinquent from the malicious cunning of the tax title grabber—who loves to work in the dark.

Now comes Mr. Jackson and the Portland attorney and initiate a bill to abolish the publication. It requires no particular mental acumen to see the result, to note the splendid opportunity for the title grabbers and their legal friends to quietly "clean up" on those who have failed to receive notice. Theoretically the scheme

STARS AND STRIPES AT BERLIN State Press Firm In Support of Win-the-war Program.

Oregon's record in the Liberty Loan drives would have been impossible without the splendid co-operation of the newspapers of the state. This statement was made recently by one of the state loan executives. It is a tribute to the press of Oregon that is deserved.

The Red Cross drives, the Y. M. C. A. and Salvation Army campaigns and the Knights of Columbus drives have all depended, in the last analysis upon the wholehearted and voluntary support of the press of Oregon. This support has been freely given from the start, without any thought or expectation of payment for the hundreds and hundreds of columns of advertising and publicity donated.

"When honors are apportioned for the winning of the world war," said a big man of the nation recently, "the newspapers of the country will receive deserved recognition."

Perhaps the general public does not know that Congress has made no provision for the paid use of advertising the loan drives. Nor have the newspapers of the country asked for remuneration. Loyal they have responded in generous fashion and freely given their news columns and editorial pages to the propagation of a great cause.

True, it has been expensive business to carry out the government's wishes in advertising bond sales and other war activities. Like the soldier in the trenches, the Oregon editor has headed the command of his country, and "carried on" in a manner that has turned the eyes of the nation upon this state. "Oregon First" has become a national slogan.

Nor have the country editors finished their work. There are other drives coming, there are endless duties ahead, and until the great day when the Stars and Stripes shall float in Berlin, the press of Oregon will be on the job for Uncle Sam, without a whimper.

Operating a news plant is expensive procedure in these days of high wages and expensive stock and mechanism. With the additional expense of handling government publicity, the margin of profit is cut clear to the bone. Paper has doubled in price, ink has trebled, and yet the country editor is serving the people of his community at the same old price.

Now comes Editor Jackson of the Portland Journal with an initiative bill to readjust the legal rate schedule. This rate has been equitably fixed by the state legislature so that the country publisher can charge no more than five cents per line. Jackson, who has tried for years to dictate to the press of Oregon, without results, now would bound the country editor out of business at the most crucial hour in the history of the country—a time when, if ever, the country needed to fulfill a most important mission.

A reduction in rates cannot be met by any newspaper at this time and should not be asked. The present rate is the average charge the country over, and no attempt has been made to increase it in spite of the fact that everywhere cost charges are going skyward. The present rate was fixed by the legislature; it is fair to the people of the state, and fair to the country editor who is giving his best efforts to help the government at this time. Jackson's motive, under the circumstances, is grossly selfish. His nefarious plan will throttle the press of the state at a crucial time when the press cannot carry further burdens. Let the voters register an emphatic "NO" to the measures bearing the C. S. Jackson trademark.

The press of Oregon should be allowed to live. This is all it asks.

French Government Honors Famous American Lawyer

The French government has decorated William Nelson Cromwell, a famous lawyer of New York, with the medal of "Reconnaissance Franche" in recognition of his charity work for that country. Mr. Cromwell organized the "Atelier des Blesses Franco-Américains," which has its headquarters in the Grand Palais, and gives the convalescent soldiers work that enables them to earn a living. He has been interested in the blind soldiers of France, and recently became a member of the executive committee of the Permanent Blind War Relief Fund.
