MACKSBURG

MACKSBURG, Oct. 15.—Glad must be the heart of the immortal discoverer of our land have been, if, looking from his eternal abode, he could see that on Saturday, Oct. 12th—the day set apart in honor of his memory, was the one in which the greatest war of all ages was brought to its climax and that the alliance, embracing his own native land was coming out of the conflict victorious. Glad, but not yet quite triumphant, his far-seeing sagacity would have shown him to be. He would have admonished us that this was the beginning of the war's end and not its final close. His varied knowledge of the world would have prompted him to tell us that a conflict of nations so boundless in extent, so vast in vicissitude and so incalculable in gravity, could not be brought to a speedy end. We need not put "winning the war" out of thought and aim, nevertheless all our plans are sure to be gravitating toward post-bellum days.

The Red Cross auxiliary will hold its regular meeting October 16th, to complete work for the Belgians. Not Miss Agnes Berg is teaching school near Newberg.

Albert Berg was home on a visit from Camp Lewis Sunday.

Alva Andrus, who is a student at the Polytechnic school, spent Sunday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown. Alva said the boys have finished their course and all have been assigned to the infantry, and will soon leave for an eastern training camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Ausve received the sad news Saturday of the death of their eldest son, Dave, who was working in the mines at Butte, Mont., and who died of pneumonia. The news came as a shock to the parents and friends as the last heard from Dave was that he was well and gaining flesh. The remains were shipped here, arriving Wednesday, and the funeral services were held Thursday at the Methodist church in Canby where Dave attended Sunday school when a boy. Dave was reared among us, coming here when a child, where he has many friends and was highly respected. The bereaved parents and family have the sympathy of the entire community. Interment was in Zion cemetery.

with the end of the war will the Red Cross abate its energy in the slightest degree. Just now the Belgian cause is claiming attention. The misery brought upon that brave people by this war is, we know, beyond the power of tongue or pen to express. This has deeply touched the American heart as indeed it has appealed to the sympathies of the entire civilized world. The privation and grief of little children—many of whom have been made homeless orphans by German spoliation—comes home to the children in our favored land. To give the Belgian children a happy Christmas is the crowning motive for work in the children now. So earnest are the little ones in this enterprise, it is likely that every Belgian child in this country or in Europe will be made joyful by a handsome package on Christmas day. To see the children in their earnest work and in their brave acts of self denial augurs well for the tiny victims of war and the prospect of bright and joyous childhood in the midst of war's grim havoc as wasted little hands are reached for these tokens of love and of tear-swollen eyes growing bright with the cheer they bring will be a pleasure not soon forgotten.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO DESTROY STEAMSHIP I. W. W. IS ACCUSED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Declared to have tampered with the steam control of the steamer Wasco, thereby endangering many lives and property to the value of more than $100,000,000, Bernard Weinberg, alleged I. W. W., is held in the city jail here today on the perfunctory charge of having violated the selective service act.

While his ship was under full steam, the captain of the Wasco discovered Tuesday night that the steering device failed to respond. A hurried examination disclosed that someone had tampered with the vessel's steam control and the vessel's course altered just in time to avert a collision with a motorship, but the Wasco crashed into pier 41 before she was docked.

The wooden steamer Wasco was the first vessel turned out by the Grant Smith Porter yards in Portland and was launched Feb. 17.

SUIT IS FILED ON BIG NOTE TO GET PAYMENT

Suit was filed here today by B. E. Kennedy against Willis R. Cox, John W. Park, J. Canby Morgan and Carl Ward, Receiver, to recover $3780.49 on a promissory note executed February 23, 1918, to Morgan by Cox and Park and assigned by Morgan to Kennedy. In order to secure payment of the note Morgan took a chattel mortgage on a logging outfit, a shingle mill and a lumber mill, with their equipment, at Clear Creek, and since the note was executed, Carl Ward has been appointed receiver for the property.
