Mr. and Mrs. John Boss received a letter from their son, John, Jr. He is still in New York. He was all ready to go over but the way things look now, it will be home tickets for them all.

No trace of little Clarence Thompson has as yet been found. He disappeared on Wednesday, November 13. A week of continuous search has failed to disclose any information as to his whereabouts. If lost, the night of his disappearance being a cold stormy night the chances are he succumbed to the effects of the weather and was buried near autumn leaves, for they were falling thick and fast.

Barlow

BARLOW, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Vickers received word Tuesday that their son, Samp, has arrived safely in France.

Barlow has made good her record and is again over the top on the United War Fund "drive." Our quota was $259.50, including the additional 50 per cent. The committee raised $228.50 which put us over the top, as the committee was mistaken in thinking that we had to raise the 50 per cent to get our quota, but were requested to raise the 50 per cent if possible. The committee was C. N. Giddings, chairman; J. McGowan, Mrs. Hinkle and Mrs. Irwin. The first quota was $173.00.

School was not opened Monday on account of several new cases of Spanish influenza. Mr. and Mrs. James Hayes are ill with it and Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and children are quite ill. Mr. Wurfel is still confined to his bed but is improving.

Macksburg

MACKSBURG, Nov. 21.—We record the death of Edward Schnack, who until about a year ago was a resident of our place, when he moved to Portland with his family. Mr. Schnack leaves a widow with two young children. Both he and Mrs. Schnack, who was a daughter of our well-known neighbor, Mrs. J. Gibson, have won the friendship and esteem of this entire neighborhood.

Mrs. Gibson has just received word that her son Will, who is in France, has been injured by gas. Will was one of the first of the boys from our place to enter the war.

While rejoicing over the termination of the war, the ranchers with their families, not contenting themselves with idle celebration are showing their patriotism in the more practical way of seeking to obtain increased production from the soil, knowing well that our nation will be called upon for the world supply of life's necessities to a greater extent than ever before.

The weather is most favorable for the fall planting. Already many of the fields are bright with the promise of the next year crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Neff, who for over a year have owned and occupied the place formerly belonging to the late Milo Lentz, have sold the premises to

Kelso

KELSO, Nov. 21.—Robert Jonsrud, captain of the United War Work drive in the district with the following committee, were busily at work last week: Angela Canning, B. Nelson, Joe Hall, Mrs. C. Timmerman. To date, $322.40 has been raised of our quota of $342.50, which includes the fifty per cent increase.
