SANDY MEN WRITE HOME

Under date of November 16th, R. E. Esson writes: "The Hun croaked sooner than we expected. I thought we would finish them about next July. It looks now as if I would get home some time. We can tell better when we see whether the Hun lives up to the terms of the armistice. There is great enthusiasm among the troops. It looks as though they really are tickled to go home. Wonderful work that changes the outlook. I sure would like to have had some of that duck. Mac Thomas is a good duck hunter, also a good fellow. Glad you got the Liberty Bonds, as I knew you would, because I handled all that work for this hospital from the time they were on sale until they were paid for."

John Linhart received a card recently from his brother, Frank, dated October 7, 1918.

Dear John: Received your letter a few days ago. Glad to hear from you, found me well. Hope these few lines will find you the same. Brother, I can't think of much to write. Will close. Hoping to hear from you soon.

FRANK.

John was mustered out at Camp Fremont, and returned home December 11th. He was quite sick of the measles while there, but has fully recovered. Frank has been across almost a year.

Mrs. George Ten Eyck received a letter from Mr. Ten Eyck Monday, from Camp Eustis, Va., saying they expected to start for Camp Lewis last Wednesday. Expected to be mustered out within forty-eight hours after reaching that place.

WILSON URGES THAT HARBOR PROJECTS BE FINISHED AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Through the letter of President Wilson to Chairman Small of the house committee on rivers and harbors and the statement of Mr. Small, the situation is becoming clearer as to what may be expected in river and harbor legislation at the present session of congress.

The president suggests, in brief, that completed projects should be adequately maintained, that uncompleted projects be completed, and that further improvements, not in excess of sums recommended by the army engineers, be carefully scrutinized to make sure that they really will promote the interests of commerce. With these safeguards, the president favors a go-ahead policy.

Chairman Small indicates that his committee will favor only a few new

No cases of influenza have been reported in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitley, who have been visiting Mrs. Whitley's par-

Red Cross for the coming year.

Though who would be out of the Red Cross? Who would be known to say: As all must who refuse to renew their membership—"I withdraw from the society, which is working for the thousands of sick and wounded soldiers, who crossed the ocean to fight for us, to help feed and cloth the refugees, driven from their homes by war, to provide food, fuel and shelter for those whose bread-winner has fallen victim to the influenza. I want my time and money for myself?"

The ranch lately purchased by Earl Dvartschak is already showing the energy that must be possessed and exerted by all of our young Americans if—in the present generation—we are to see devastation of war repaired. Long rows of trees have been cut into huge piles of cord wood ready for market while other signs of improvement are in view.

Two households in our community are meriting the united sympathy of the people by the turn that war matters have taken for them. Both incidents have found previous mention in this paper, but we wish to manifest to these two families, our deep concern in their troubles. Clarence Stevens the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens has been missing since early in October, and Will Gibson, the first of Mrs. J. Gibson's sons to enlist, was reported as having been injured by poison gas several weeks before the end of the war. Nothing has been heard of the young man since the report was made. The welfare of these boys, so well known to us all, is a matter of real anxiety to us.
