INQUEST IS HELD FOR COLTON SUICIDE BY CORONER JOHNSON

Coroner E. L. Johnson and Dr. W. E. Harris of Colton, held an inquest and autopsy over the remains of Louis Blumberg, who committed suicide in the Colton country last week. The man was operated on in 1907 and has been erratic since and it is thought that he committed the deed when not in his right mind. The remains are being held awaiting the arrival of the sister, who is named executrix of the estate.

They were charged with breaking into the home of Peto Sivik and holding him up with a gun and taking a barrel of what they thought was wine. This afterwards proved to be vinegar. Mothers of the young men appeared before the justice court and asked that the boys be released as two of them have brothers in the service who are now on their way home. Martin, said that she was moving from Salem and that she had jelly in the grips. The officers accused her of having liquor and at first she insisted on them having a search warrant before she would give up the suitcase. When they were examined they were found to contain 12 quarts of whiskey. The woman with Mrs. Martin gave the name of Mrs. Moore and claimed that she had nothing to do with the liquor. She was released and Mrs. Martin was held in jail until the news of her arrest was known in Portland and a man came up and furnished bail for her appearance today for a hearing.

Cheese Is Cheese Bought Two Crumbs Cracked $50 Bill

A young man visited one of the large grocery stores of Oregon City Saturday morning and asked for a nickel's worth of cheese. The accommodating clerk rushed to the cheese case, took a crumb of cheese and placed it on the scales. The purchaser said: "Is that five cents' worth?" The clerk answered in the affirmative, and the young man said: "Well, put on another crumb, and I will pay you ten cents." The patron laid a $50 bill on the counter to pay for his two crumbs of cheese. During the past month the price of cheese has gone skyward, and it appears that the patron of this store did not realize it until he asked for a nickel's worth.

Stannard of Gold Hill, elected a member of the Oregon house of representatives from Coos and Curry counties, is dead of pneumonia at Bandon, according to a letter received by Speaker Seymour Jones today. Mr. Stannard's family is ill at Gold Beach and has not been notified of his death. He was slated for membership on the roads and highways commission, but because of his inability to reach Salem on account of illness when the legislature opened, he informed the speaker that he would be willing to allow another member to be substituted on the committee. Mr. Stannard was for many years a newspaper publisher at Gold Beach, and for the last four years served as county clerk of Curry county. He was elected to the legislature last November.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS MAY BE INCREASED

SALEM, Jan. 17.—A bill will be introduced in the legislature next week to fix the minimum salary for school teachers at $75. Another will be introduced to repeal the county high school fund law and provide for all counties to operate under the county high school tuition law. A committee of the Oregon State Teachers' association met here today and discussed legislation relating to educational matters, and the two proposed bills mentioned will have the backing of the association. In many counties of the state average teachers' salary is ridiculously low if competent instructors are expected to be retained in the schools but local efforts to obtain salary increases have often met with failure. That is why an effort is to be made to obtain state legislation upon the subject, prescribing a minimum salary which will apply to all parts of the state.

BILL GOVERNING ROAD FUNDS IS BEFORE HOUSE

SALEM, Or., Jan. 17.—(Special)—While they are state wide in their application, Representative Schuebel has introduced some bills in the House which grew out of the situation in Clackamas county, particularly in Oswego and Oregon City as to overlapping road districts and districts within city limits. The Oswego situation went to the Supreme Court and involved the question of who shall have charge of the expenditure of funds in road districts lying within the limits of incorporated cities and towns. The highest court in the state held against the town of Oswego and that the county court is the custodian of such funds. Representative Schuebel has one bill which provides that "amount apportioned (of the road fund) to any incorporated city or town to be expended under the management of the officials of such incorporated city or town for the improvement and repair of county roads and for the repair and maintenance of improved streets within the boundary of such incorporated city or town." As a sort of a companion bill Representative Schuebel has introduced a measure governing the construction or repair of roads without a city leading directly into such city, and for agreement to be entered into between the county court and city authorities as to the construction of such roads.

Disposition of amendments was begun, however, and Administration leaders hope to pass the measure tomorrow. Without a record vote, the Senate rejected the amendment by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Republican, providing for distribution of the fund by a committee, to be named by the President, subject to confirmation by the Senate, and to be responsible to Congress.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE WELL ATTENDED AT GLADSTONE SATURDAY

The local teachers' institute held at the Gladstone school house Saturday was well attended. Mrs. Blanche Blumauer of Portland, president of the Junior Red Cross, gave an interesting talk on the work in the schools. This was followed by a reading, "Circle Work," by J. C. Almack of the University of Oregon. H. C. Seymour, state club leader of the Oregon Agricultural College, gave an interesting address on "Boys and Girls' Club Work," and Mrs. Margaret Curran of the Oregon State Normal at Monmouth, gave a short talk on "Ideal of the Teacher." Mrs. Curran's talk showed very clearly the two distinct types of teachers—the ideal and the machine type.
