

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cook of Boise, Idaho, who have been in Oregon City as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toose of Fourteenth and Water streets, and also visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Toose at Frog Pond, in the Stafford country, left for their home Wednesday morning. Mr. Cook was teacher of the Canemah school 22 years ago, and Mrs. Cook was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wetherill, former residents of Oregon City. Mr. Wetherill was county treasurer of Clackamas county for several terms while residing here. It has been many years since both Mr. and Mrs. Cook have visited here, and were surprised at the growth of the city. Since their departure the Hawley paper mill has been erected, and also the paper mill on the West Side was enlarged. At the time of their residence here the Willamette mill was in operation. The Oregon City woolen mills has also enlarged its plant. Mr. Cook says it is surprising how the little city has changed during the past few years.

Bert Harvey, a former bookkeeper for the Oregon City woolen mills, who was one of the first young men from Clackamas county to enter the service, is now on his way to Gibraltar, according to a letter just received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harvey of the Twilight section. Bert is on the U. S. S. Willamette, and has recently arrived in New York City from Mare Island. He writes an interesting description of his travels through the Panama Canal and the places he has visited since entering the naval service. Bert was ready to be mustered out of service, with all baggage ready for checking for his home in Oregon City, but on the day for leaving he was notified by the superior officer that all the crew was to be retained for another trip. The disappointment of Mr. Harvey and other members of the crew was great, and they are now looking forward to seeing their honorable discharge on their return to New York or at another port.

Miss Margaret Krummel, who has been connected with the Home Telephone company for a number of years, has resigned her position as chief operator and accepted a position with the Pacific telephone company as stenographer and bookkeeper. Miss Krummel's position with the Home Telephone company has been filled by Mrs. Kate Harrington, who has also been connected with this company for a number of years. Miss Naideen Blanchard of Gladstone, has accepted a position as an operator with the Home Telephone company, and is now filling the position formerly held by Mrs. Harrington.

Private Hugh Walls, a former resident of Oregon City, who has been in France, and who has just returned from overseas, visited his grandmother, Mrs. R. W. Porter of Gladstone, Sunday, Feb. 24, for the present stationed at Camp Lewis, and is a member of the 91st Division, that was to go to the fighting line about the time the armistice was signed. His home is at Modesto, Cal., and he will probably go to the Presidio, San Francisco, to be mustered out. Mrs. Walls and little child have been in Portland during Mr. Walls' absence, where they have been guests of Mrs. Walls' parents.

Henry R. Kruse, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kruse of Mount Pleasant, who a few days ago, left for Berkeley, California, where he is to resume his studies at the University of California, has written his parents while en route saying they were delayed for some time near Grants Pass owing to a big land slide. On the train and also going to the University were Henry and Harley Stevens, formerly of Oregon City, sons of Mrs. Pearl Stevens of Portland, and grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stevens of this city.

Kenneth Nelson, the young son of Mrs. Charles Nelson, who recently met with an accident, when he fell and broke both legs, one above the knee, underwent an operation at the Oregon City hospital Tuesday morning when the right leg was plated, the broken bone having failed to remain in place, this was found necessary. The operation was successful, and the little fellow is improving. He has not been informed of the death of his father, the late Charles Nelson, who was buried Monday afternoon.

Ivan Frost, who has been seriously ill in the St. Joseph's hospital, Vancouver, Wash., suffering from influenza, has improved so that he was able to be brought to his home in Oregon City Tuesday afternoon. D. E. Frost, father of the lad, accompanied him to Oregon City, and the trip was made by automobile. Although somewhat weak from the effects of his illness, Ivan expects to resume his position with the Western Union Telegraph company at Vancouver within a few weeks.

Mrs. C. Schuebel, who has been in Portland at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Lee Bequeth, nee Eulalie Schuebel, formerly of this city, who has been suffering from influenza, returned to Oregon City Monday morning and in the afternoon left for Salem, where she was called to the bedside of her daughter, Miss Roberta, who is suffering from tonsillitis. Miss Schuebel had gone to Salem to act as stenographer for her father, when she was taken ill.

Miss Zena Moore, who has been critically ill at the St. Joseph's hospital, Vancouver, Wash., for a number of weeks, suffering from influenza, is now rapidly recovering. She will leave friends. Miss Moore goes to California for the benefit of her health. She was formerly of Oregon City, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Moore, now of Vancouver.

Mrs. M. E. Graves, who has resided for many years at Canemah, and who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Smith of that place, left for Portland Tuesday evening, where she will spend the remainder of the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Driscoll. Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll have been making their home at Wasco, Oregon, but have purchased a home at 1214 Glenn Avenue, North, Portland, where they are to make their home.

Donald Ryan, who has been at the Ryan home at Gladstone since the Christmas holidays, has returned to Salem, where he will resume his studies at the Salem high school. He is president of the student body and cadet captain of the institution. His brother, Marshall, who is a graduate of the high school of Salem, has recently returned from Corvallis, where he had been at the Student Army Training Camp.

First Lieutenant J. L. Taylor, a former Oregon City young man, who has been stationed as an instructor at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Virginia, has been visiting his father, I. D. Taylor, of this city. He also visited his brothers, Walter Taylor and W. E. Taylor, of Portland, before leaving Monday evening for Omaha, Nebraska, where he enters the service of the Union Pacific Railroad company.

Captain W. E. Hempstead, who recently received his honorable discharge from the army, after a 17-months service, resumed his practice here the latter part of the week, and has rented two rooms in the Barclay building, one of which is a surgery. Captain Hempstead has been connected with the Coast Artillery since entering the service. He has taken up his residence at Gladstone.

G. Lee Harding, who arrived in Oregon City with his wife and little daughter, Virginia, from Tacoma, Wash., to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding, is improving from his illness, and was able to be out for the first time Sunday. Mr. Harding, soon after arriving here, became ill with influenza, and his little daughter was also taken ill with the same disease.

Mrs. Moore of Damascus, is in Oregon City, where she will remain for a few weeks. Mrs. Moore reports that most of the cases of influenza at Damascus are improving, but for several weeks that little settlement had its share of the dreaded disease. Mrs. Moore's family was among those afflicted. She has recently returned from Marshfield, where she has been visiting.

Mrs. Henry McKinney and young son, Harding McKinney, who have been in Oregon City, where they have been guests of Mrs. McKinney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding, left for their home at Baker, Oregon, Monday evening. Mrs. McKinney and son have fully recovered from their illness, having suffered from influenza, shortly after their arrival here.

Rev. Spaulding of Pullman, Wash., has been in Oregon City as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cochran of Twelfth and Washington streets. Rev. Spaulding, who is pastor of the Presbyterian church, came to this city to preside at the baptism of his young grandson, Joan Cochran. The baptism took place at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning.

Drs. H. S. and Guy Mount received word Wednesday from their nephew, Major Frank Mount, who is in France, saying that he would leave for the United States February 23, and after his arrival in the States would go direct to Camp Lewis, Wash. Here he will be mustered out of service, and will return to Oregon City to resume his medical profession.

Ernest Mass, who has been in the navy, has returned to his home in Oregon City. He is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mass, and he will resume his position with the Oregon City woolen mills. He was connected with the office force when entering the service over a year ago.

Thomas Barry, who is in the navy, stationed at Mare Island, has returned to Oregon City. He has received his honorable discharge from the service and is glad to be home again. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barry of Thirteenth and Madison streets.

Dr. J. G. Nash of this city, is one of the enthusiastic motorists for the coming season. He has just purchased a new automobile, and is now planning many trips during the summer, and says he is going to see some of the scenic places of Clackamas county.

Mrs. Wolfer, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Weismandel, returned to her home in Portland, Mrs. Wolfer formerly resided in Oregon City. Mrs. C. H. Hald of Portland, formerly Miss Mable Nelson, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Weismandel.

Mrs. Walter Wheatley of Mount Pleasant, who has been at Jennings Lodge, where she has been nursing several influenza patients, returned to her home at Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Wheatley has now become afflicted with the disease.

Mrs. Clarence Roll, nee Kate Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cooper, formerly of this city, but now of Portland, is very ill at her home suffering from influenza. Mrs. Cooper left for her daughter's bedside Tuesday service since early summer and, stationed at Camp Lewis, has returned to his home at Mount Pleasant, having received his honorable discharge. He is the son of G. M. McDowell of Mount Pleasant.

Henry Thoeny of Redland, was among the Oregon City visitors Monday. Mr. Thoeny has been unable to come to this city on Saturday, as is his usual custom, owing to the high water in the northern part of the city.

Cook Is Some Cook Partner Gets Married Needs a New Home

Much amusement was created at the court house a few days ago by the "arrest" of County Recorder Noe who was recently married.

William (Bill) Cook, who has batched with Noe for some time at Gladstone, was the plaintiff in the case and he swore out a complaint and Sheriff Wilson made the "arrest." Cook alleged that the marriage of Noe cast a slur on his cooking and it looked like Noe was not satisfied with it. Still another complaint was that Noe neglected to inform him of the approaching marriage and he was very much surprised. The complaint was made out by District Attorney Gilbert L. Hedges and everyone at the court house participated in the joke.

Cook and Noe have batched at the Gladstone home for some time and Bill was always the cook and many a fine banquet he has set to their many friends on different occasions. He says he does not blame Noe for getting married but he feels that he has been left out in the cold and is now looking for a new home although he has been invited to remain with the happy bride and groom.

Attorney William Hammond got so enthused over the joke that he got busy along a poetical line with the following results:

POOR BILL Said Bill to Gibb: "This sure is the life. No kicks, no cuffs, no worry of wife: Just sit and think and smoke your cigar. And come when you please without family jar."

Said Gibb to Bill: "With you I agree. This single life is the life for me. You cook the meals and bring on your Ford. I'll furnish the house and one-half the board."

Now, Bill's a Cook in name and in deed. He did his best his comrade to feed; He filled him full every night and morn. With salads, meat, potatoes and corn. But Gibb then failed his bargain to keep. One week-end night while Bill was asleep. His promise thrown to the winds for life. He stole away and married a wife.

Poor Bill! Poor Bill! A much wiser man. Now lives his life as best he can. He's vowed he'll find himself a good mate. Now girls, look out, he's setting his bait.

IN SOCIETY CIRCLES A wedding was solemnized in Oregon City on Sunday afternoon, January 13, 1919, the culmination of a pretty little romance, participated in by one of Uncle Sam's boys, and a former Oregon City young woman. The bride is Miss Elsie Vowles, born in London, coming to Oregon City four years ago from England, having traveled extensively through Europe before taking up her residence in Clackamas county. The bridegroom is William F. Staggs of Carthage, Missouri, who was with the spruce division stationed at Vancouver Barracks. The young couple had met but twice, and the courtship has been done mostly by correspondence, as the bride has been spending the past three months with her brother in California.

The wedding, which has been kept so secret, was announced Saturday morning, and came as a complete surprise to the friends of the young couple. The marriage ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the St. Paul's Episcopal church, with Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, rector, officiating. The bride is a member of the church. She was attired in an attractive traveling suit and hat to match.

The bride is a niece of Lady Cochran of London, and she expects to be her guest in the near future. She made her home in Clackamas county for four years, except for the time she spent in California. While here she resided with her brother, Reg Vowles who is in the Canadian Army, with the First Canadian Reserve Battalion. William Staggs, the bridegroom, is a well known business man of Carthage, Missouri, and is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. Staggs of Twilight.

After visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Staggs at Twilight the young couple will leave this afternoon for their future home at Carthage, Missouri.

Little Kathryn Barry, daughter of Louis Barry of Greenpoint, was a pleasing hostess at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lloyd Bernier of Greenpoint, last Saturday. The affair was in honor of the little girl's seventh birthday anniversary, her little friends being invited in to spend the afternoon. The time was devoted to games, but one of the features that pleased the little ones, was the "spread." The table was prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme corresponding to that of the living and dining rooms, pink and green. The table was centered with the big white cake prettily ornamented with tiny pink candles, and each place was marked with a tiny pink basket filled with pink candies. Festoons of pink satin ribbons extended from the electrolights to the table, and the shades were of pink crepe paper. With the lighted candles on the cake and the pink shaded electric lights and seated around the table were the brightly-eyed and happy children this made a most attractive sight.

Mrs. Bernier was assisted in entertaining the tots by Mrs. Charles W.

WILLAMETTE MAN IS OWNER OF VALUABLE COLLECTION OF BOOKS

George F. Thompson, principal of the Houlton school near St. Helens, has been spending the week-end at his home at Willamette. While at home Mr. Thompson made a number of improvements to his property. Besides having taught school for many years he has also devoted much of his time to horticulture, and he has grubbed and cleared his land at Willamette and planted this to fruit trees and berry plants, besides having some of the ground in garden. Mr. Thompson has selected only the best varieties of berries and fruit trees. He has devoted much of his time to collecting data of important events, and every printed article that he could secure on the Spanish American war he has in his library. It was during the time of the illness of his mother in the East before coming West that he commenced to gather data for his library, and he has now about 100 volumes, well bound, of important events that he and his mother have taken from newspapers and magazines, and these are all indexed, and show considerable work on the part of Mrs. M. M. Thompson, and her son, George F. Thompson. After the death of his mother Mr. Thompson continued his work in adding to his library, and now values it priceless. He has insured the books that now fill the library he has built at his little home.

ROOMER OF ANNEX INJURED BY FALL THROUGH SKYLIGHT

Ellis Donovan, who is rooming at the Electric Annex on Sixth and Main streets, met with an accident Monday afternoon that he will not care to repeat. Donovan had just his key and believed he could make his way to his room from the bath room by stepping across the skylight of the J. C. Penny store below. Donovan was not as sure footed as he thought for the next thing he knew he was in the office of Dr. A. C. Stewart on the opposite side of the street, where he had been carried, and as a result of the fall through the skylight to the floor below. He is suffering from many bruises and a bad gash on his head.

It was during the busy time of the Penny store when Donovan made his entrance by way of the ceiling. Glass flew in all directions, and Donovan, in the center of it, and as the employees rushed to his assistance they found the young man unconscious and lying in a pool of blood, from the gash in his head.

Donovan recently arrived in Oregon City from Lebanon, and is employed in the paper mills.

The young man is recovering from the effects of the fall, and he will be able to resume his position in a few days.

TWO MEN ARE COMMITTED TO STATE ASYLUM

Carl Erickson, a resident of Falls View, was taken into custody Monday by Sheriff Wilson and was examined by Dr. Meisner for sanity and committed to the asylum and taken Salem Monday night.

The man has an idea that he is being followed by strangers and they have him hypnotized and through this medium they are talking to him and giving him commands.

J. Norgreen, who was taken into custody Saturday night by Night Officer Surfus, was taken to the asylum Monday. He had escaped from the institution the first of the year and had been in Washington most of the time since. He asked the officer for a bed in the jail for the night and admitted that he has escaped and expected he would have to go back.

HUBBY CLAIMS WIFE TREATED HIM INHUMAN

Frank D. Travis and Elsie M. Travis were married in Hastings, Nebraska, and in his divorce suit entered Thursday he alleges cruel and inhuman treatment.

He alleges that she allows her parents to interfere with their home and that this causes much trouble. He further alleges that she associates with other men and that she finally deserted him, taking the child of the couple with her. She has since refused to return to him and he asks a decree of divorce.

BACKING THE SALVATION ARMY Elks Receive Great Praise for Work in Drives of Mercy

So they went to the Grand Lodge of the Elks. And the Elks, who had been hearing from their local lodges, greeted them with enthusiasm. In more than fifty cities the Elks took complete charge of that drive—notably in Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Kansas City, and St. Louis. They paraded the streets; they got up circuses. They left the Salvation Army people, who really had enough to do with their regular work, free, and guaranteed the money. "They saw us through," says Colonel W. A. McIntyre, who is at the head of the army's New York office. "We're still a little dazed by all they did for us. We never could have got the money without them. We couldn't ask them for anything they didn't give us. Usually we didn't have a chance to ask. They took hold of our drive magnificently. There aren't words strong enough in praise of the Elks. "They're a wonderful lot. It's not quite a new thing for them to help us. I remember, once, years ago, they held their Grand Lodge in Buffalo. And at the same time we were having a festival and trying to raise some money. We had a hurdy-gurdy, among other things. Well, a lot of those Elks just took that hurdy-gurdy away from us. They kept it going for three days—and night! They charged a dollar a ride, and every Elk must have ridden a dozen times. They went all over town in it. We'd never seen so much money as they handed over to us." "It isn't a new thing for the Elks to turn in and help in an emergency, either. Back in 1906, when the news of the disaster in San Francisco was flashed over the wires, "Bob" Brown of Louisville, was Grand Exalted Ruler of the order. He caught the first train for Chicago, wiring Fred Robinson, then as now grand secretary, to have five thousand dollars in cash and tickets on the Overland Limited ready for him. Robinson gave him ten thousand, and Brown beat all records in reaching the coast. More money, in cash, kept coming to him. He stayed out there for weeks, and for a time the Elks were the only people who had any cash at all for relief work—the banks being closed. Brown tells one story of that time. He and a lot of other relief workers, went into a little town on the peninsula that had been left an utter wreck. Brown spoke last at a meeting that was organized. "The others passed around slips on which people could write down what they needed," Brown says. "It was fine—and it was all they could do. But when it was my turn I opened a satchel I had and slapped down five thousand dollars in bills. "There's what the Elks can do, Mr. Mayor!" I said. "We happen to have the cash. Go to it!" "The Elks contributed and sent in four hundred cartloads of food to San Francisco. And they raised so much money that Brown couldn't spend it, and out of the surplus a fund was established that the Elks have used ever since to give quick relief in case of disaster. They helped in the same way at the time of the Dayton floods in 1913, and after the forest fires in Minnesota last autumn. And at Christmas no soldier's children lacked Christmas cheer. House-to-house investigations by the local lodges of the Elks took care of that. Christmas has been a great Elk time always. Every lodge has sent members around, hunting up kids Santa Claus was pretty sure to overlook. And on Christmas morning there'd be a basket, with dolls and sleds and oranges and candy. After Christmas there would be, as a rule, too, more permanent help—something to insure the future. But the Elks think kids ought to have a good time Christmas, and hang the expense! Don't you rather like these Elks?"

Organization of the War Memorial Association of Clackamas county was officially launched Tuesday by a committee named from the Live Wires of the Commercial Club, with M. D. Latourette as its chairman, E. E. Brodie, secretary, and W. R. Kirk, E. T. McBain, Rev. C. H. L. Chandler and A. E. Rugg as other members. It is planned by the committee to use the banking districts as units, as was done in the several Liberty Loan Bond campaigns and the following captains were named in the seven banking districts of Clackamas county and asked to meet here next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock: Canby, W. H. Bair; Milwaukie, Philip Streib; Estacada, H. C. Stephens; Molalla, John R. Cole; Wilsonville, E. R. Gurnel; Oregon City, L. Adams; Sandy, W. A. Proctor.

LIVE WIRES LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR WAR MEMORIAL IN COUNTY

HIGH WATERS REcede PAPER MILLS START SMALL DAMAGE DONE

The water is receding rapidly, and the river is now getting into its natural state, while in the northern part of the city it has about disappeared.

The Crown Willamette Pulp & Paper company started its big plant Tuesday morning, and all employees were on hand after a few days off.

The Hawley Pulp & Paper company has also started its wheels into operation, and the 300 men reported for duty Tuesday morning.

There was no damage to either paper mill during the high water, although the water entered several departments of both. There was no accident during the flood, but Mr. Rivers, one of the employees of the Chase & Linnton company's plant, who owns and resides on a boat house had a narrow escape. His little house was moored near the mouth of the Abernethy creek, when the swift current of the Willamette tore it from its moorings. The craft was floating toward Portland when Rivers awoke from his slumber. He rushed to the door of the boat house and called for help. Several parties nearby hearing the man's frantic call, rushed to his aid, and managed to lasso the house, and brought him to safety. Rivers is a good swimmer, but says the current was too swift for him to attempt it and the water was cold.

Western People Are Married in Washington, D.C. Corporal Howard Zinsler, formerly of this city, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Zinsler, the former for some time county school superintendent of Clackamas county, and Miss Emma Moore were united in marriage at Washington, D. C., January 7, and are to make their future home in that city at 1642 Hobart street. The bride was a former teacher in a Washington grade school for two years, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Moore, reside at Pullman, Wash. She was a student of Pullman college.

Corporal Zinsler, before entering the service, was horticulturist at the state hospital, Salem. He entered the service last July. He attended the Oregon City schools and also graduated from the same before the family left here some time ago.

SUIT ENTERED TO RECOVER ON TRACT OF LAND

John Anderson entered suit Thursday to recover on land sold to A. Vesta and Anna Vesta in 1915 for which a mortgage was given for $500 for three years at seven per cent. In April, 1917, Vesta sold the property to Carl and Emil Lovgren, they to assume the mortgage. They in turn sold the property to A. M. Holt in July, 1917, he assuming the mortgage. Holt sold the property to C. W. Johnson, he also assuming the mortgage. Anderson alleges that the mortgage is long overdue and he asks settlement and $100 attorney's fees.

PROBATE COURT

James Hussey filed for letters of administration of the estate of the late Roy A. Hussey. The estate consists of real property in Clackamas county and is wild land. Petitioner wants the property sold at private sale. Frank Fern Thebo filed for probate of the estate of the late Cora E. Thebo

ENTERTAINMENT AT MILWAUKIE ADDS TO FUND

Mrs. Rosina Evans, chairman of Women's Division of the Council of Defense, Clackamas county, received from Milwaukie, Clackamas county, Tuesday morning a check for $31.46, the proceeds of an entertainment given by the Milwaukie grammar school under the direction of Mrs. Emilie C. Shaw and corps of teachers. This is to be added to the Belgian and French Relief Committee, which Mrs. Evans has charge of in Clackamas county. Mrs. Evans has forwarded to headquarters from Clackamas county so far, $550. This money is secured by placing bottles at business houses and at doors of moving picture theatres, and the money sent from the teachers of Milwaukie is to be added to the general fund and forwarded immediately to headquarters.

SUIT ON PROPERTY

May Reed entered suit against S. O. Dillman, A. C. Howland and Alva C. Hughes to recover the sum of $100 on a sale of property made by the defendants. Dillman & Howland, real estate agents, sold property in Oregon City belonging to Hughes to the plaintiff which consisted of one-half lot for $1300 cash. The Portland Trust company had an interest in the land and it was necessary to get a deed from them and plaintiff alleges that the real estate firm promised to do so and $100 of the purchase price was turned over to them for this purpose, this to be returned if they failed to secure the deed.
