OREGON CITY YOUTH RETURNS HOME AFTER SERVING IN FRANCE

Wagner L. E. Tillotson, formerly of Battery B, 346th Field Artillery of the 91st Division, has returned from France, and arrived here a few days ago to visit his mother, Mrs. L. E. Tillotson, of Sixth and Washington streets.

Mr. Tillotson tells many stirring tales of the battle lines, as well as many humorous happenings. He saw service in the Toul sector near Metz, at Neuf Chateau. Before going to the front he was stationed at Camp De Soige, near Bordeaux. Although he was in active service at the front, Mr. Tillotson was one of the lucky boys not being wounded. He is not superstitious about 13 being unlucky, for he believes it has been lucky for him, and the reasons are as follows: He was a member of 346 Field Artillery, and the figures three, four and six make 13, which is part of the 166 Field Artillery Brigade, which added by one, six and six make 13. He started for France on July 13, arriving in France 13 days later, and broke camp on December 13. There were 1300 men in the regiment arriving there, and thirteen of the men wore moustaches. Before the ship arrived in port a committee of thirteen was appointed to remove the thirteen moustaches. Their home trip required thirteen days, and while passing the Statue of Liberty the hands of the clock and watches marked 9:13, and when passing Governor's Island they were greeted by thirteen guns. Upon arriving in the United States they were interviewed by thirteen reporters, and to finish it up right Tillotson was mustered out thirteen days after arriving at Camp Lewis, Wash.

Mr. Tillotson has brought some rare souvenirs of France. These have been placed on exhibit in the display window of the Price Brothers' store. Among these are a German luger and cartridges, also the steel helmet and gas mask the young man wore while he was in France.

CRUEL AND INHUMAN TREATMENT ALLEGED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Marie Sallee entered suit against John S. Sallee for divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married at Council, Idaho, and have lived in Oregon City for some time.

She alleges he has a bad temper and would come home intoxicated and curse her and at times struck and slapped her. She claims he would leave home for days at a time and make no provision for the support of the family and she had to work to provide for them. Plaintiff alleges that he deserted her in January, 1917.

At one time she claims she bought property in Gladstone and defendant acted as agent for her and he had the deed made out in his name. She asks the court to grant her title to this property. There are three children of the couple and she asks the custody of these and $50 per month for their support and $150 attorney's fees.

Ward B. Lawton entered suit Monday against John Moore to collect on a bill of goods and a note for $50. The bill of goods amounted to $76.16 when the plaintiff and defendant had an accounting September 6, 1918. It is alleged in the case and plaintiff alleges he let defendant have $32.28 more since that time. He also asks for settlement of a note for $50 alleged to have been given him March 19, 1918, or which he claimed nothing has been paid. He asks for $50 attorney's fees.

Before taking up this work Miss Cross was a student of the Oregon Agricultural College and was in her senior year.

MILL EMPLOYE ASKS DAMAGES FOR INJURIES

Orville Albright brought suit, through his guardian, against the Crown-Willamette Paper company for $2,999.99 for injuries received while employed by the defendants.

He alleges the place he was working was not safe and while discharging his duties he was severely burned on the arm by a large paper machine. He also claims his arm was broken and badly scarred. The alleged injuries occurred May 17, 1918, at night.

MANY BILLS ALLEGED DUE IN COMPLAINT

Jacob F. Johnson entered suit against Albina Olds to collect $500 he alleges defendant promised to pay if he would help secure a loan on property of Olds. He claims the property was sold and he never received his money.

He further claims that in September, 1914, he loaned defendant $35 and this has not been paid.

He says he also sold plaintiff tools to the value of $29 and worked on the farm at $2 per day, for some time and neither bill has been paid.

He also alleges he sold plaintiff some hogs, wood, etc., to the value of $175 and received nothing for these.

SUIT ENTERED TO COLLECT ON LARGE NOTE

Dawson Smith entered suit against Maggie G. Friel et al to collect a promissory note for $1,200 given by defendants December 8, 1915, to run five years at seven per cent.

A mortgage on property in Cherryville was given to secure the note and H. C. Courtner and Mabel Courtner claim some interest in the property and plaintiff asks this claim be annulled and the property sold to satisfy his claim. He further asks $150 attorney's fees. It is alleged that nothing has been paid on the note.
