Lieutenant B. C. King, wife and child, who have been in Oregon City as guests of the former's brother, L. A. King, and family, left Saturday morning for Cottage Grove, where they are to visit Lieutenant King's mother and other relatives. He has just returned from overseas service, and has been a member of the heavy artillery. While in this city he gave an address before the students of the Oregon City high school on some of his experiences while in France. In his address Lieutenant King told of 800,000 people leaving Paris in three months time during the war, and this was at the time the big "Bertha" gun, owned by the Germans was shelling the city. He also told what the heavy artillery accomplished. Lieutenant King's brother, L. A. King, is in charge of the manual training department of the Oregon City high school.

WELL KNOWN RANGER RESIGNS HIS POSITION TO BECOME RANCHER

Dee Wright, one of the best-known forest rangers in the Northwest, has left the service to become a rancher. Mr. Wright notified the forest service of his resignation upon his return from Eugene, near where he recently leased a ranch. For a number of years Dee Wright was stationed near Wapinitia, but he was transferred last fall to Cascade Locks, where he has been spending the winter in excavation and road repairing. In Oregon's cowpunching days Dee Wright was a conspicuous figure and could lasso with the best of them. When the state became more civilized Dee Wright continued to be a conspicuous figure in outdoor life through his various feats. He became an expert packer, and in all other forms of woodcraft is equally proficient. Among his accomplishments of the last year was removing the surplus elk from the city park to Estacada early last summer, and the riding to the summit of Mount Adams on horseback, accompanied by Mrs. Wright, on Labor Day.

CITY OF GLADSTONE DEFENDANT IN SUIT OVER SEWER PAYMENT

C. E. Forsner filed suit against the City of Gladstone to prevent the mayor from signing the warrants to pay for the sewer recently installed in that city. He alleges that the council did not go according to law in installing the sewer and gave the people no chance to express their opinion. He claims that the council did not pass a resolution of their intentions of doing the work and the charter provides for this. The costs of the works was $507.11.

Red Cross Women At Redland Busy

Mrs. L. H. Allen of Redland, was in Oregon City Saturday. Mrs. Allen is chairman of the Red Cross Auxiliary of Redland, and this little organization is still meeting at the homes of the members on Thursday afternoons of each week, where the time is devoted to making garments. There are about 14 faithful members, who always see that there are at least two sewing machines at the home where the meetings are held. Some of these are taken along in the vehicle. No time is spent for refreshments, and each moment is well spent in needlework for the worthy cause. They are to continue the work as long as their assistance is needed. Ten garments are made in every two weeks at these weekly afternoon meetings. The members are proud of what they have accomplished.

Straw Vote Favors High School Bonds
