

MILWAUKIE & NORTHERN CLACKAMAS

PLANS FOR WELCOME

The City Council, a committee from the Firemen, the School District and the parents of the boys in service met at the city hall Wednesday evening to discuss ways and means to raise funds to give an enthusiastic reception to the returned men. At that meeting it was decided to solicit funds by a house to house canvass. The solicitors will make a report next Wednesday evening.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS ACTIVE.

The Milwaukie Commercial Club met Monday evening at the school building. Geo. L. Rauch of Portland gave an address on the "Own Your Home Campaign," which was listened to with interest by all present. Philip Streib gave an outline of the State Chamber of Commerce work and Mr. Streib and Harry W. Crawford were appointed to take charge of the work of securing members for the state chamber.

The next meeting of the club will be held Monday evening, March 31st, at the same place.

Mrs. Arndt received a message from her son, Roy O'Dell, who is now at Camp Lewis, who expects to be mustered out so as to be home Thursday afternoon.

Edward Lee, who has been at Camp Lewis for some time, expects to be mustered out the last of the week. He was severely injured and has spent many months in the hospitals in France and America.

Chas. A. Larkin, Jr., sent a newspaper clipping to his father, Chas. A. Larkin, Sr., in which the record of the work of the two Oregon Battalions are given. "Chick" as he is familiarly called, is a member of Battery B-147th Regt.

William Miller is home after being mustered out at Camp Lewis. He was a member of the Coast Artillery.

St. Claire DeVal and J. Nortwick are home after being mustered out.

L. Wesley Gracie is expected home soon, as he arrived in New York several days ago.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Keck

Sunday, a girl. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schmidt have returned from Seaside and have opened their store again. A store on Milwaukie is a great accommodation to all residing there. The store has the same phone number as before, 88-Y.

Merle Larkin, who has been ill for some time, is able to be out again.

School Activities

The basketball game with Beaverton was played Friday evening with victory for both M. H. S. teams. The girls won with a score of 16 to 9 and the boys 25 to 10. It was the best game played this season. The next game will be Friday, March 28, with Washougal and a double header. This will be the last game of the season.

The senior girls spent a very enjoyable afternoon at the home of Miss Risley, Saturday, March 15th.

The challenge issued by the senior boys to play any class in basketball was taken by the sophomores.

The Milwaukie teachers gave a surprise party to Miss Clark, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth. The cafeteria of the grammar building was tastefully decorated and a bountiful spread was enjoyed.

State Superintendent Churchill and County Superintendent Calavan visited the High school one day recently.

OREGON MAN HONORED

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Clyde B. Aitchison, former chairman of the Oregon State Public Service Commission, on which he served as a member for eight years, tomorrow will be named chairman of the interstate commerce commission.

Portland—Willamette Iron & Steel Works breaks world's record; builds 22 Scotch marine boilers in 23 days.

GOVERNOR OUTLINES POLICIES OF OFFICE

SALEM, March 15.—(Special)—In a statement issued to the press today, Governor Olcott outlines his policies to the people of Oregon as follows: In assuming the duties of Governor, I am keenly appreciative of the unusual responsibilities devolving upon the office of chief executive because of the reconstruction period now before us. In my opinion this is a time when there is as great need for a vigorous flow of patriotism and loyalty as when we were sending thousands of our boys to fight for the cause of liberty.

Time after time, under the leadership of our late governor, Oregon has demonstrated the depth of her patriotism by her splendid record in furnishing her manhood, in subscribing for Liberty loans, the Red Cross, and other war activities. These records were made possible because the people of the state learned to pull together in a common cause as they had never done before.

The many serious problems incident to this time of reconstruction can be solved with credit to the state if we can have the same oneness of purpose, the same sort of cooperation by patriotic citizens, the same sort of willingness to subordinate selfish interests for the good of a great cause, as Oregon has displayed throughout this war period.

For the sake of the well being of this state, I feel that this united support should be given to the governor regardless of the individual who might occupy the office of chief executive. This is no time for the display of factional strife. It is no time for putting politics above patriotism. It is a time for all of us to put our shoulders to the wheel for the good of common cause.

It is a time for Oregon to forge ahead. The legislature has provided for a big road building program. The people will soon have opportunity to express their opinion of a commendable reconstruction program. I believe the people, on June 3, will approve the reconstruction bond issue. It is important that they should. They ought to lend impetus to private enterprise. It ought to encourage capital to seek opportunity to connect up with industry. And if some employment as provided by the expenditure of public funds until industry again catches its breath and hits a stride in step with the times, the most urgent and immediate crisis of the reconstruction period will have been bridged.

It shall be my endeavor to encourage industry to the fullest extent of my power, and to use the influence of this office to promote that harmony and fairness between employer and employee that are necessary for industrial success and a happy citizenship. There is to be no upheaval in the state government, caused by the removal of appointees and their replacement with new appointees. I shall expect business efficiency from all departments and positions coming under the jurisdiction of the governor. I shall expect each appointee to give the state the same conscientious service which would be required of him if he were in private employment. If there are any who cannot do this, they will be given opportunity to find employment elsewhere. In these matters I do not expect to deviate from the policy which I have consistently followed while serving as secretary of state.

State institutions, with the exception of the state penitentiary, are under the jurisdiction of the state board of control. As a member of that board I shall continue favoring the policy of giving the various superintendents a free hand and to hold them entirely responsible for proper business management. They shall have complete control over the employees under them. The warden of the penitentiary will have equally as complete authority to employ and discharge his help, but as the responsibility for the administration of the prison will rest upon me I shall expect to direct its policy. I hope to do this in a manner that will be approved by the people of the state.

In stepping into the office of governor as a result of a vacancy caused by death, under the provisions of the constitution I also remain secretary of state, entitled to draw the salaries of both offices. But, as I have already announced, I shall draw the salary of only one office. If a way can be found for immediately presenting to the courts the question of whether I may resign the office of secretary of state without forfeiting my right to continue to hold the office of governor I will take advantage of it. I wish to have that point settled as early as possible, and if the courts hold that I may do so I shall resign the office of secretary of state and appoint a successor. But if this cannot be done, then I shall not draw my salary as secretary of state unless it should be for public purposes to meet some emergency which might arise in connection with the official duties of one or the other of the two offices I now hold. I shall not draw the salary for my personal benefit.

The most urgent reason why I wish to obtain an early determination by the courts of this question, is to make it possible to again have three members on the board of control, with three independent minds giving consideration to state problems, but if it should develop that I cannot resign my office of secretary of state, thus forcing me to retain two votes on the state board, I wish to assure the people of Oregon that I shall not abuse the great power which has been vested in me but shall

JIMMY COON AND HIS FRIENDS The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest

Sammy Muskrat is Selfish. Sammy Muskrat is a good liver. Yes, sir! Sammy is awfully fond of good things to eat, and of all things to eat Sammy is especially fond of a Shore Dinner.

A shore dinner for Sammy is made up mostly of fat fish, just out of the water, and fresh water clams on the half shell. Sammy is awfully fussy when he eats his shore dinner. He will not eat his clams on the half shell in any old place, as Dick Otter will do; he wants the table set just so, and he wants it set in the same place day after day. You see, Sammy Muskrat is "set in his ways."

Dick Otter and Benny Mink laugh a great deal at the odd ways of Sammy Muskrat, and especially at his stubbornness about his meals. Dick has tried very hard to break Sammy of this habit. You see, Dick Otter is very social and playful, and he would like to eat dinner every evening with Sammy Muskrat. But Sammy prefers to eat alone, and I suppose he has some very good reasons for eating alone.

One afternoon, Dick Otter called at Sammy Muskrat's house, and called out, as he saw Sammy swinging in his hammock on his front porch.

"Hello, Sammy Muskrat!" "Hello, yourself!" granted Sammy rather crossly, for he had been out all night, and wanted to take another nap. But Dick kept calling, and finally got a straw and tickled Sammy behind the left ear, until Sammy was wide-awake and jumped up and threw Dick on his back in friendly wrestle.

"Now, see here, chum," said Dick Otter. "Let's go fishing and clamming this afternoon? The weather's fine, and we can get a big catch; and then let's have a shore dinner together on the mossy bank of a Murruring Brook, in the twilight!" But Sammy Muskrat was still sleepy and he grumbled out: "Oh, g—away, and let me sleep. Didn't I tell you I was out all last night and didn't get a wink of sleep? I must get a nap or I'll break down my health!" "Ha, Ha, Ha," laughed Dick. "Break down your health! Why,

Sammy Muskrat, you are as tough as a boiled Owl, and you are as fat as butter.

"You are plumb lazy; that's all that's the trouble with you. You need more exercise."

But Sammy Muskrat wouldn't go, that afternoon, clamming and fishing with Dick Otter. He had been with Dick before and he knew that he would have to do most of the work while Dick Otter did most of the eating!

Sammy Muskrat had been sleeping all days, and deaning of having a big shore dinner all by himself, at his own secret dinner table. So after Dick Otter passed out of sight, Sammy started off alone to a secret pounce along Murruring Brook, where he knew of a bed of big and fat clams.

Now, you and I know that it isn't nice to refuse to go out with a friend, to do something, and then, when the friend is gone, to sneak off and do that very thing by oneself! So it was selfish of Sammy to want to go clamming all by himself, wasn't it—especially when he knew where there were some nice clams—and not share them with Dick? But just wait till you hear what Dick Otter does!

Possession of Store Is Asked in Suit

William F. Jones entered suit against George Havill for possession of the store building in Hoff formerly occupied by the Hoff brothers.

Plaintiff alleges he owns the building and that the defendant has possession and will not vacate on demand. Costs and disbursements are asked in the case.

Thousands Demand Release of Mooney

DETROIT, March 17.—About 5000 men roared out their demand for the release of Thomas Mooney at a meeting here Sunday night addressed by Max Eastman. In one voice they also endorsed a call for a general strike on July 4.

Eastman was applauded when he denounced the espionage act and deplored the jailing of Debs.
