The Government borrowed from you for a definite time and you wanted your money back before the time was up. With so many of you not sticking to your end of the bargain, the marvelous way in which prices of Liberty bonds kept up, which were issued on a patriotic basis, leads many shrewd observers to believe that the new issue—the Victory Liberty Loan—made on an investment basis, will always maintain a market of par or better.

The care of the teeth begins at least one generation back. That is, the child who is to have healthy teeth must have a mother who cares for her own teeth and eats proper bone-making foods during the term of pregnancy. If she suffers with toothache at this time, it is often a sign of malnutrition; she not only should have her teeth put in first-class order, but should eat enough glutens, albumenoids and phosphates, to make certain that the baby will have strong teeth when it matures to the teething period. A good physician will prescribe a diet that will include these ingredients.

During childhood, bone-making foods are needed. White bread should not be allowed; gluten and whole-wheat breads are more nourishing and will help make strong teeth, and save much pain and expense in after life. Indeed, the eating of whole-grain breads need not be confined to the child; for everyone will benefit in many ways by discarding white bread. People with weak and soft teeth will be much improved if they take a teaspoonful of limewater in a glass of milk or plain water every day. And this, by the way, is helpful to counteract a bad breath.

Schools are taking up the "tooth brush drill" when they are located in communities where the twice-a-day tooth brushing habit is not in vogue.
