Progressive Dinners Up to Date—Year 1930

"Some day," remarked the gourmet, "we shall be able to dine perfectly. Many cities have their food specialties and unless eaten on the spot they are never so good. There's where the swift airplane comes in. I shall begin my men's in Boston with steamed clams. Ten minutes later I shall be in New York enjoying a dish of delicious turtle soup. This is followed by a planked shad in Philadelphia and chicken and waffles, 'Maryland style,' in Baltimore. Next on to Richmond for a course of Virginia ham and salad. To Florida for dessert and then, the wind being favorable, I cross to Cuba for a perfect cigar, and the meal is finished."

Rubber Factories Look Like Dairies

CALCUTTA, India. In Southern India a factory at which high grade rubber is made resembles a dairy, the milky appearance of the latex adding to this illusion, as well as the precautions taken to insure absolute cleanliness. One of two methods of manufacture is generally adopted. If the estate is young and only a few trees are being tapped the rubber is made in the form of biscuits or sheets. The biscuits are placed on racks in a warm room or an artificial dryer and allowed to remain there until dry. The finished biscuits are pale amber colored and transparent, and for this reason are popular on the market, for their purity and freedom from dirt can be judged by holding them to the light and looking through them.

A colored doughboy was clad in white pyjamas when the camp was surprised by a night attack and everybody headed for his own dugout. The dugout was still some distance away when Sam suddenly remembered that in the blackness of the night he was wearing white.

"What did you do?" he was asked the next morning. "Well, sir," he said, "it occurred to my mind that the good Lord had provided me with the best camouflage in the world so I dropped those night garments right there and made the rest of that trip in my birthday suit."

To Place Wireless Phone on Mt. Hood

PORTLAND, July 23.—Telephone Engineer C. M. Allen left forest service headquarters at Portland this morning for Mount Hood, to supervise installation of the wireless telephone equipment to connect the mountain lookout station with ranger headquarters at Zig Zag. Most of the equipment is already at Zig Zag, dismantled and ready for the pack train which will take it up the mountain to Triangle Lorraine. From that point to the summit, a distance of two miles, all the apparatus will have to be carried by the rangers on pack boards. The electrical engineers of the entire nation are watching the project with interest. Allen already has a wide reputation in his profession, and he is now undertaking to erect, under difficulties, the highest wireless telephone station in the world.

His brother, Winfield, who enlisted at the same time, and is at the present time stationed at Camp Lewis, Wash., also visited his home, and is looking forward to the time when he receives his discharge, which will probably be within a few days. He is with the 22nd Aero Squadron.

Demand For Planes Far Exceeds Supply

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 23.—More than 2000 airplanes of the pleasure type could be sold immediately if manufacturers could make deliveries, and more than 500 have been purchased or ordered in the United States during the past three months, according to a statement issued today by Henry Woodhouse, vice president of the Aerial League of America.

You Can Lead a Horse To Water Gompers

LONDON, July 18.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arriving at Southampton on the Mauretania, declared regarding American prohibition that "it is all rot to think you can compel a country to be dry." It was a physical impossibility, he said.

MILWAUKIE MAY SEE BOXING BOUTS IN NEAR FUTURE

Reports from Milwaukie are to the effect that a boxing commission will be appointed by Mayor Snyder shortly after the next meeting of the city council of that city, slated for the early part of next month.

If the Clackamas county executive goes through with the proposed plan, it will meet with favor among the local boxing devotees, who realize that if the Portland commission has competition they will be in line to see some high-class mittmen in action here during the coming boxing season.

TRANSCONTINENTAL TRIP MADE IN FORD BY PARKPLACE BOYS

Frank and Fred Peckover, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peckover, of Parkplace, arrived at the family home last Sunday afternoon after a trip across the continent in their new Ford, which they purchased a few days before leaving for the West.

Frank Peckover has been employed for the past three years at Akron, Ohio, by the Goodyear Tire Company, and his brother Fred has been in the East for the past six months. It was while visiting the Niagara Falls, New York, that they decided to come to their home in the West by automobile. They purchased the Ford, and equipped themselves with four Goodyear tires, and were ready to start for their long journey. The automobile was purchased at Buffalo, N. Y., and July 3 the trip was started. Among the states passed through and visited were Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Idaho, Oregon.

While in Indiana they visited Mooresville, and were surprised at the beautiful buildings and grounds, and feel it is an ideal home for the orphans of the deceased members of the order of Moose. Here they found all forms of amusements for the children.

In Cheyenne, Wyoming, they visited the Brennan boys, formerly of Parkplace, and here they were royally entertained.

The trip over the Columbia river highway was among the most scenic roadways traveled by these motorists. Among the states that had the finest and most attractive buildings and good roadways was Indiana, and the roads in other states were somewhat rough in places, but the Ford in which these two young men traveled rambled right along over steep grades and deserts, where the sand and sage brush surrounded them on all sides. They crossed deserts during the night, for the heat was so intense during the day it was too uncomfortable for traveling.

As they drew nearer the Pacific coast the climate became more agreeable, and after arriving in old Oregon they gave one big sigh of thanks for reaching "God's country."

When the young men arrived at their Parkplace home their auto was gaily decorated with various kinds of pennants that were purchased in each state as they passed through. A large cloth placard placed across the back carried the slogan "FROM ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC—FROM NEW YORK TO OREGON—HOME."

The total expense incurred during the whole trip amounted to 40 cents, in addition to traveling expenses. They had no punctured tires or blow-outs, and considered themselves lucky as they had witnessed other tourists having all kinds of troubles with their machines. Several times they had a chance to exchange their Ford for a larger and more expensive machine, but they decided to remain with their Ford, as it was giving perfect satisfaction.

The parents of the young men were not aware of their intention of making the trip across the continent by automobile, and were surprised when they arrived here Sunday. Frank Peckover expects to return East, after spending his vacation in Parkplace.

In the first line of battle there were 5,000 colored troops, supported by a second line some distance in the rear, of 10,000 white Yankees. Henry, a colored soldier recently arrived, was plainly nervous. Some of the other boys began to kid him.

"Suppose," asked one of them, "suppose Henry that ten million billion trillion of them Busch Germans suddenly popped up right out of the ground here; what would you do?" "I ain't tellin' what I'd do, replied Henry, "but I know what the rest of you yaller niggers would do and I know the papers back home would have in big headlines tomorrow morning: "Ten thousand white folks trooped to death!"

FORMER DOMESTIC SCIENCE INSTRUCTOR WILL WED IN SALEM

Miss Lorene Parker, a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College, and two years ago instructor of domestic science in the high school of this city, has been here for a few days, where she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Mount. Miss Parker, who was connected with extension work during the war, and for the past year at Pendleton, will leave for her home at Salem this morning, where she will remain until August 22, when her marriage to P. K. Whelpton, of Lincoln, Nebraska, will be solemnized. Mr. Whelpton, who is a graduate of Cornell, is connected with the University of Nebraska.

Miss Parker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parker, prominent residents of Marion county.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BRIDGE IN PORTLAND; STRUCTURE DISABLED

Bursting over Portland with all the vigor of a middle western thunderstorm, flashes of lightning, accompanied by a welcome shower, made the atmosphere vibrant at 11 o'clock this morning. A bolt struck the east tower of the Steel bridge and burned out the electrical mechanism that operates the draw, setting fire to the pavement and consuming a pile of briquettes. Another, or possibly the same, bolt demolished the tall flag pole on top of a building occupied by the Atkins Saw Company at First and Oak streets. Although the shaft was completely splintered, no damage was done to the building proper.

SPOKANE IS IN DANGER OF FLAMES FROM FIRES

SPOKANE, July 23.—A smoke pall hangs over Spokane. Back in the timber thousands of weary men are fighting a losing battle against a score of fires. Although a light rain fell in Spokane early today, none has visited the burning areas.

Local firemen for four hours Tuesday evening fought a stubborn fire in the Hollywood section of the City, which is covered with pines and brush.

New fires are reported from half a dozen sections. Supervisors are nearly at their wits' end. There is a shortage of labor and a high wind is fanning old fires into renewed activity.

MOUNTAIN LION IS RAVAGING CHICKEN YARDS IN MAPLE LANE

Mr. J. D. Hadley, of Maple Lane, has of late been on the watch for the "party" who has quite frequently been subtracting from his stock of chickens. Early Tuesday morning while standing at the telephone and gleaning through his window over the scope of land of which he has possession, he saw the visitor he had been looking for. It happened to be a nice big mountain lion about four feet long and looked as though it had prospered on Mr. Hadley's chickens.

A rifle was handy which was soon in hand but Hadley was handicapped for the lack of shell, so all he could do was to scare the prowler away. However, Mr. Hadley will not be placed in this position again for he has made preparations, if the opportunity comes again, for a warm reception.

NEW SIGNAL SYSTEM BRINGS THOUGHTS OF VACATION DAYS

A number of residents in the vicinity of Seventh and High streets and Railroad avenue have been awakened frequently recently in the early morning hours by the tinkling of cow bells, and in the first haze of awakening have not been able to convince themselves that their dreams of an anticipated vacation are not a reality until they have glanced at the familiar surroundings of their homes.

Investigation into the cause of the unfamiliar sounds has revealed the fact that the sounds really originated from cowbells but that the dreams of rural surroundings and vacations were merely illusions. The cowbells have been installed in the Seventh street elevator as a signal system, and their summons to the operator at the hands of the early morning passengers was really the cause of the rural delusion on the part of neighboring residents.

Boy Breaks Arm In Fall From Horse

Wallace Worthington, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Worthington, of Oswego, fell from a pony he was riding Wednesday, sustaining a broken arm.

The lad was brought to Oregon City, where Drs. H. S. and Guy Mount attended the fracture.

NATIONAL PUBLICITY GIVEN OREGON CITY IN CHICAGO MAGAZINE

The July issue of the National Printer Journalist, a trade journal devoted to the printing and allied trades, carries an excellent half-tone engraving of a panoramic view of Oregon City in connection with an earlier story of the approaching dedication in the City by the National Editorial association of a monument to the Oregon Spelunker, the first newspaper to be established west of the Rocky mountains. The itinerary of the members of the association in their visit to the convention in Portland next month includes all of the points of interest throughout the northwest and the dedication ceremonies in this city rank as one of the most important of the events to be participated in by them during the entire trip.

ATTEMPT TO DERAIL TRAIN WINS LECTURE FOR LOCAL YOUTH

Accused of attempting to derail a Willamette Valley Southern train by placing an obstruction on the tracks of that company in the railway yards in this city several days ago, George Bird appeared before Judge Anderson Wednesday afternoon to stand trial on the charges filed.

After hearing the facts in the case Judge Anderson paroled the youth to his parents on good behavior. The young man departed from the court thoroughly chastened, and the lecture delivered to him by Judge Anderson apparently will not soon be forgotten.
