

MISS ALLEN, STATE NURSE, HERE IN INTEREST OF HEALTH

Work Being Carried on in County With State Help is Bearing Good Fruit

Miss Jane Allen, state advisory nurse, who is working here under the state board of health, was in Oregon City Saturday, coming here on business in connection with her work. Miss Allen is supervisor of the county nurse.

Miss Elizabeth Weinhold, who is sent here by the board of health, and who has been working during the past few weeks in this city at one day a week and will also work in the rural sections.

This work will be taken up again within a few days as soon as Miss Allen returns. She is now working among the pupils of the Milwaukee schools during the epidemic of smallpox. Each morning she takes up her work visiting the school, and making a thorough inspection. The children showing any signs of illness, are at once sent to Dr. Lowe, who has been selected for the work to assist the nurses in diagnosing the cases.

There are now 50 cases of smallpox in Milwaukee, and at first it was thought advisable to close the school, but by the county nurse making the daily trips and investigating this will probably be the means of the schools remaining open thus allowing the students not afflicted to continue in their daily studies.

At the conclusion of the work in Milwaukee Miss Weinhold will divide her territory in making her visits. Canby and its rural section will be taken up at first, then Estacada and its rural sections, Colalla and rural section and Oregon City and rural sections.

Miss Weinhold will make her headquarters when visiting the districts in the vicinity of Oregon City with the money derived from the sale of the Christmas seals of the Red Cross will go towards paying the expenses of the county nurse for a certain period.

The work is to be carried on permanently, but other means will be provided to carry on this necessary work. The county court recently included in the budget for 1920, $1200 to be used for this object for the coming year.

Miss Weinhold is well posted on her duties, and comes here highly recommended. For three years she had charge of the Visiting Nurses' association in Chicago, and a year in the county of Cook, Ill., the county where Chicago is located.

Miss Allen, who organized the work, is now one of the busiest little women in the northwest. After having charge of the training at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago she came west to take up this work.

Calls are now coming from various parts of the state to establish the county work and place therein nurses to visit the cities and rural sections as now to be carried on in Clackamas county. Among the places awaiting her arrival, and where requests have come from six counties, so that Clackamas county is considering itself lucky in securing the assistance of these two trained nurses, who have already accomplished much since taking up their duties here.

CLACKAMAS RIVER TO BE BRIDGED NEXT YEAR

If the present plans and purposes of the county court are carried out a new wagon bridge will span the Clackamas river between Oregon City and Gladstone before the year of 1920 will have closed.

In preparing the budget for the county expenses for next year, the court has allowed some fifty odd thousands of dollars for the general fund for roads and bridges. It is proposed if the budget plan as now arranged and published goes through to erect a substantial steel wagon bridge on the site of the present bridge during the coming summer.

These plans are altogether in line with the country wide program of good roads which has been adopted by the people recently when they voted to bond the county for a large sum of money to build hard surfaced roads in all parts of the county.

The present bridge structure was built over the Clackamas river about 30 years ago and it has from time to time been enlarged to take care of increased traffic until now the limit of expansion has been reached and the building of a new structure is the only solution of the traffic problem over the river.

It is altogether probable that the services of the state highway commission will be called for in making the surveys and the drawing of the plans for the bridge. This work will probably be commenced in the near future and as soon thereafter in the spring as the weather will permit the actual work of constructing the new bridge will begin.

It is very probable that the bridge will be entirely built of steel. The span is so long as to make a concrete structure impracticable at this time.

There has been some discussion on the matter of changing the location of the bridge. Some advocate the moving of the bridge up the stream while others favor a plan of moving it down stream from the present site. But it seems to be the general wish and desire to have the new bridge located on the site of the present structure and the present plans of the county has this plan in mind.

LAND SALES INDICATE MANY LIKE CLACKAMAS

If one for a moment questions the fact that real estate in Clackamas county is not on the move they have but to visit the county recorder's office and they will be convinced that this county has never seen such exchanging of property as is now going on in this county. The movement is not confined to any particular section of the county but is general all over the county, nor is it confined to any particular class of property.

There is just about as good a market for farms as there is for residence property and visa versa. Another feature of the market is that a very heavy percentage of people are paying cash for their purchases. And many others who own places that have been mortgaged are now paying off their mortgages.

An Oregon City real estate dealer when interviewed by the Enterprise, stated that he could not give a record of the sales he had made during the past two weeks because he was too busy making sales to take the time to make out his reports.

This dealer did make the statement that not a day passed but what he closed one or more sales and while the interviewer was talking with him there was an office full of people waiting their turn to see him. It looked like the reception room of a fashionable doctor in a large city, or like the ante room of the sanctum sanctorum of the one time eastern drawing room rage, a Hindu sheep herder posing as a Brahmin prophet.

During the month of November the office of County Recorder G. J. N. recorded 271 deeds and 107 mortgages.

One of the abstractors of this county says that during his experience in the abstract business he has never been so rushed as he has been during the past month, with more business to come during the first of the year.

Many people now coming westward are those who have engaged in farming in the eastern states, and are looking for farms in the west where the winters are mild and where the crops seldom fail, and even the middle western states are being largely represented, among the newcomers, among these being North and South Dakota and Nebraska.

H. A. Heater, realty dealer of this city, who has become associated with S. O. Dillman's real estate office, has made the following sales since taking up his realty business with the latter:

The Salisbury property including modern home at Gladstone, sold to Miss Laura Bregier, a teacher of the West Linn school. The price was $2500.

The George A. Brown place consisting of six acres located at Maple Lane was sold to Mrs. McGreider. This land consists of ten acres and brought a price of $2550.

The Swartz place in Kansas City addition, Oregon City, consisting of six acres was sold to A. C. Sellers, who is now operating a dairy farm, bringing some of the best Holstein dairy cows here. He is conducting this in connection with being employed in the office of the Morning Enterprise as a linotype operator.

The Woodward home and lot on Center street was sold to Miss Kerr, a teacher in the Oregon City schools, the price being $1700.

Joseph Hans' place, a farm consisting of 20 acres located on the Abernethy road to John Eckelson, for $4000.

The William Littemer lots located on Fifth and Jefferson streets to William Campbell for $500.

The beautiful ten acre farm of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lewis, located at Maple Lane, to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have made many improvements on that property and have engaged in growing apples, some of the finest varieties obtainable. They have purchased property on Seventeenth street of this city. The price was $4500.

The G. G. McClure place in Maple Lane to A. Brockhagen of Iowa. The price was $7750.

The Hart residence in Gladstone to J. D. Bishop, of Portland, for $2600.

The T. A. Berg home at Bolton to E. B. Anderson of this city, who is connected with the Crown Wilmamette Paper company, $1000.

The McDowell home at Mount Pleasant to Mr. Kahanau, of this city, the price being $1350.

Mrs. M. Eggmann's property on Fourth and Washington streets, modern home, sold to Mr. Boginsky, the price being $1800.

The home of Mrs. Burris at Fourth and Center streets to Mrs. August Boetticher, the price being $1800.

A portion of the R. M. Wade farm at Carus has been sold, the price being $3000.

The Wallace Lewis tract of land consisting of 20 acres has been sold for $2000. The purchaser is Mr. Traver, who has come here from Salem, and who has been following the poultry industry for a number of years. Mr. Traver is to continue the industry, and is to erect modern buildings for his poultry, expecting to erect these at a cost of $2000.

Mr. Heater has also sold the O. A. Pace ranch of 46 acres to F. C. Sell. The price was $4000.

The E. A. Hughes house and lot at Greenpoint has been sold through Mr. Heater to Carl Hopp, with a price of $2150.

Mr. Heater believes that he has had a very good start in selling real estate with the above sales having been made during the past few weeks.

A. C. Howland, a well known realty dealer has sold the following:

C. B. Eldred's 200 acres in the Trout Creek district to H. H. Mullen, of Ontario, Ore. This is one of the best stock ranches in Clackamas county with Trout creek flowing through the property. Twenty acres are in cultivation, all stock and crops going with the place.

County Urged to Start Road Work at Once

Oratory in 57 colors was spilled all over the banquet hall of the Oregon City commercial club Saturday night, when 100 people from every part of Clackamas county gathered to celebrate the victory of the road bond measure and to discuss plans for the future.

Everybody who had a message talked and several others talked under protest, but for three hours a happy feeling ran around the tables as the many speakers emphasized the importance of continuing the good work that was merely started with the passage of the bond act.

Only two resolutions were presented and both were adopted by unanimous vote. The first was from Charles Kruse, of Oswego, whose resolution urged the county court to at once set in motion the proper machinery to have the roads to be improved under the bond measure surveyed and mapped out under the direction of an adequate crew of engineers. The importance of such action was pointed out, because of the necessity of starting actual construction work in the early spring.

The other resolution came from J. C. Robinson, of Canby, and conveyed the thanks of every guest to M. D. Latourette, for his tireless energy in behalf of the good roads measure. Mr. Latourette having acted as chairman of the campaign committee.

Herman Chindgren, of Colton, amused the audience with a Swedish dialect monologue.

Brief talks were made by John R. Cole, Molalla; George C. Brownell, Concord; Carl J. Renhard, Colton; B. Sullivan, Highland; L. L. Porter West Linn; Charles Kruse, Oswego; J. W. Reed, Estacada; E. D. Olds, Oak Grove; J. W. Shibley, Springfield; M. J. Lee and J. C. Robinson, Canby; L. C. Compton, roommaster; L. P. Campbell, district bridge engineer of the state highway commission; J. W. Egan, Monitor; Gordon J. Taylor, Molalla; George Kitzmiller, Dover; W. H. Cook, Hazella; John H. Gibson, Wichita; M. C. Glover, Eagle Creek; Wallace Telford, Boronia; E. L. Palmer, Monitor; Ward B. Lawton, Mt. Pleasant; O. D. Eby, E. E. Brodie, Grant; B. Dimick, Gilbert L. Hedger, Oregon City; County Judge Anderson and Commissioners Harris and Proctor.

OPERATION ON DANCER

PARIS, Dec. 6.—Gaby Deslys, famous French dancer, who was recently operated on, has taken a sudden turn for the worse and is in a serious condition.

It was stated today that gripe, accompanied by high fever, has followed the operation.

The original trouble was an abscess of the throat.

FIREMAN HURT IN FIRE

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 8.—Fireman Roy Finch was seriously injured and $100,000 worth of damage done early Sunday, when the Fairbanks Morse building in the downtown section was gutted by fire of undetermined origin. The company will rebuild in the spring.

UNDERWOOD ASPIRES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama is a candidate to succeed the late Senator S. Martin of Virginia as democratic minority leader in the senate. It was announced today.

No Time to Be Lost

By unanimous vote nearly 100 farmers and good road boosters urged that the county court make its plans now to immediately place in the field at least two surveying crews, properly equipped, so that the engineering detail incident to the expenditure of $1,700,000 in the paving of 145 miles of road, plus the funds raised by special district tax, be commenced at once.

It is obvious that if the recommendation is not followed, that much valuable time will be lost next year ought to be devoted to actual construction.

Road making has been reduced to a science and adequate engineering is imperative for the right kind of permanent construction. Good engineering is bound to result in better roads, and the result of inferior engineering has been repeatedly demonstrated, not only in Clackamas county but elsewhere in this state.

This is ideal weather for preliminary work on the system of roads that have been authorized by the people. The farmers are impatient to get their highways improved in the shortest time possible. There is no occasion for delay and it is inadvisable to start real road building next spring, so that when the construction season ends next fall, the people who worked and voted for the bond measure will have something to show for their efforts.

Good Fellowship

Amalgamation of the spirit that won the victory for the good road measure in Clackamas county is evidenced in various ways. Never before has there been such good feeling between the residents of the county seat and the farmers of the county, some of whom have labored under the delusion that the man in town cared for the welfare of the farmer only to the extent of getting his money through the channels of trade.

In fostering the good fellowship that has ripened through the close relations of the bond campaign, the Commercial Club of Oregon City is doing a great and lasting work. The town citizen, with his paved highways in sight, worked early and late for the plan to give equally good thoroughfares to the farmer, who responded to the extent that the majority for the measure was greater in the country districts than in Oregon City. The common interest of good roads will mean a better county for all of us to live in.

Elks to Wage Strong War Loan Campaign How Valuable Is Second Mortgage

The Elks of this city have taken charge of the campaign for the sale of war savings stamps and have within the current week thoroughly organized and begun their work to put Clackamas county over the top by the end of the campaign which is now but a few weeks off.

Dr. Clyde Mount is chairman of the committee while Lloyd Riches is secretary of the committee. The county has been divided into 134 districts and a captain has been named in each district. Each captain has been notified by letter of his appointment and has been divided into 134 districts committee men and to begin to actively canvass his district to secure the amount allotted to this county.

The following telegram was received here Friday in regard to the vigorous prosecution of the campaign.

"Dr. Clyde Mount, Chairman War Savings Committee, Oregon City, Ore. 'Nearness of close of war savings campaign makes it imperative that unusual effort be put forth during remainder of month. Many people in your county can easily afford to purchase limit. Five hundred or $100 subscriptions. Publicity will get them. Arrange with local newspapers to run names of limit subscribers. Also plan of purchase of $5 war savings stamps for every child in county by parents or relatives as the means of inculcating thrift habit is good one. Stamps should be bought in December and presented on New Year's morning as the beginning of systematic savings campaign during 1920. Publicity on this plan has brought wonderful results in California cities. If every individual will do his part during three weeks, success is certain. Harry G. Allen, associate director was loan organization."

"Mr. Taylor, on looking up the property found that the holders of the first mortgage have foreclosed their mortgage and it would seem that the California bank is holding the sack."

Mr. Taylor says that sometime ago he received another letter from a man saying he held a second mortgage on a piece of land for $3000 and that the holder of the first mortgage was about to foreclose. The writer of the letter wanted to know what he should do to protect himself.

On looking up this property Mr. Taylor found that the valuation of the property was placed at $1400. It did not look good for the man who held a $3000 mortgage on such a property.

AMBITION FOR OFFICE AROUSES IRE OF COUNTY RESIDENTS

Hageman's Desire for Office of Roadmaster at Logan Makes Many People Indignant

The ambition of H. W. Hageman of Logan, to become deputy road master for the district that now includes Logan, Springfield and Parkplace, has aroused the ire of many of his neighbors and other residents of the district, who resist Hageman's claims to preferment on the ground that he not only fought the road bond measure, but that he was also opposed to the voting of a special district tax to prepare the roads for the hard surface authorized under the bonds. It is charged that Hageman's attitude has been against public improvements generally, and that after using every effort at his command to defeat the good roads bill, that he endeavored to control the budget meeting in the district and circulated printed tickets bearing the names of men of his choice for members of the advisory board. Hageman filed a petition with the county court this week, asking for the appointment, which will be made at the January term of court.

IMMODESTY IS WITH WEARER

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Fashion leaders of France are ready for cordial cooperation with Pope Benedict and Cardinals Amette and Bourne in their campaign against indecent fashions. It wish to emphasize, however, that the most modest dress can be worn in an indelicate manner. The décolleté gowns seen in Paris theaters nowadays are outrages on good taste, but the wearers rather than the dressmakers must be blamed.

SMOKING IS ON INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—America is losing its taste for strong drink, but is increasing in the cigarette habit. During the fiscal year, before prohibition came to the nation, there was a decrease of 6,189,737 taxable gallons of distilled beverages removed from bonded warehouses over the previous year.

In the past year there were 46,500,000,000 cigarettes consumed in the United States as compared with 8,500,000,000 in 1910.
