

NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY

Correspondence From All Over the County Telling of Improvements and Local Happenings During The Past Week—Your Subscription Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Interesting News Of Meadowbrook

MEADOWBROOK, March 24.—Ruben Chindgren came home from O. A. C. Friday to spend his Easter vacation.

Dr. Hume of Molalla was called Sunday to see J. Beama's baby.

Ralph Holman and family have moved to Molalla, where Mr. Holman has interest in a garage.

Horner & Millard Lumber company have purchased a Ciotrac tractor to haul logs with.

Mr. and Mrs. Boary and baby arrived Friday from Denver, Colo., and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. J. Beama in the Harold Horner house.

Ralph Holman, Jr., youngest son of Ralph Holman, who recently moved to Molalla from here, had his tonsils removed in Portland Saturday.

Ben Chindgren spent the week-end at Astoria, while there attended the 40th anniversary of the Lutheran church.

Mr. Dye of Molalla has purchased the Horner-Millard truck and is doing the hauling for them.

M. D. Chindgren and daughter, Vivian and Laurie were in Oregon City Saturday to see Mrs. Chindgren, who

Eagle Creek Grange Takes New Members

EAGLE CREEK, March 23.—E. L. Naylor recently made a trip to McCoy, Oregon, buying three thoroughbred Ayrshire cattle, having them shipped out to his farm last week.

The Eagle Creek grange held its regular session at the Grange hall last Saturday. There was a very fair attendance and quite an interesting meeting was held. Three new members were received into the grange. As a special feature on the program the lecturer, L. C. Chambers, gave several selections on his phonograph.

Louie Kirchem was a grange visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Orke are spending a few days on their farm.

H. H. Hoffmeister, Mrs. Katie Douglas and Mrs. R. B. Gibson were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffmeister.

Mrs. Viola Douglass came out to Eagle Creek Saturday to help with the care of her son, Roy Douglass, who is sick with the influenza. He is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sersanous and daughters, of Sellwood, were the

FINE SPRING WEATHER BRINGS OUT BEAUTIES IN CLACKAMAS COUNTY

MACKSIBURG, March 25.—No fairer sky or clearer atmosphere ever hung over this territory than that which rested above it on the day of Vernal Equinox, the Sunday just past. The first real day of spring with the roads in their short-lived freedom from effective dust or mud, was well improved by the auto-owning ranchers, glad for a brief release from the strenuous past, with Mother Nature who so often tells them that this work has been too slow.

With the verdure fresh from recent rain and set in pleasing contrast by the rich brown of newly-plowed earth turning with the promise of plenty for the coming year, the bright turf of the woods and of the roadside forming a setting for clusters of the wild violet, the spring beauty and the forest blue-bell. Over and above all the song of the wild birds

TEACHERS INSTITUTE AT WILSONVILLE SATURDAY WAS WELL ATTENDED

WILSONVILLE, March 25.—County School Superintendent Calavan. Supervisor Vedder and Professors Toose and Reese attended the all-day session of the teachers' institute at Wilsonville Saturday, March 20, and gave addresses during the day.

Flora Collins, a student of O. A. C., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Robt. Graham and gave a sketch of the work they wish to accomplish by the passage of the higher educational millage bill, at the Oregon Agricultural College, on Saturday, at the teachers' institute.

County Agent Scott got stuck on the Graham hill, for a few hours on Saturday.

Quite a number from Wilsonville attended the social at Stafford, Friday evening, March 19, and helped to raise the amount of two hundred and twenty-five dollars, which was raised at that time.

Andy Hasselbrink has sold his farm, and the new owners will take possession, April 1.

Elmer Kruse, Lloyd Jones, and John Say, are home this week, from O. A. C.

Mrs. Butterworth, of Seattle, and Mrs. Rhoady, of Portland, visited their sister, Mrs. Reed Graham, the first of the week.

George Moran and C. Graham, students of O. A. C., visited John Say Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Ethel Boyd is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Graham.

Elmer Hasselbrink went to Portland Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stout, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Say and family, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Say, Vida Seely and Mr. and Mrs. Reed Graham and daughter, Helen, were among residents here, who went to Portland to take in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" at the Baker theater this week.

A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. A. Hasselbrink, Monday evening, by their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. English have bought the Andy Hasselbrink farm, and will soon take possession.

Rev. Gilbert, field superintendent of M. E. Church, will preach in the local church, at eight o'clock, on Sunday evening, March 28, and everyone is cordially invited to be present. There will be special music.

Miss MacLean, principal of the local school, gave a delightful dinner party, to some of her friends, on Saturday evening, at the Cottage Hotel. The chicken dinner was served in Mrs. Dill's splendid style, and the guests included Miss Bremer, Miss Worn, Menga Batalgia, Margaret Batalgia, Marvel Robbins, Claire Say and Miss MacLean.

A splendid time was enjoyed at the teachers' institute Saturday, March 20, and an excellent program was rendered to say nothing of the sumptuous repast served at noon by the Parent-Teachers' Association. Splendid addresses were given by Supervisor Vedder, Mr. Reese, Mrs. Wagner, F. Toose and Supt. Calavan, and a special feature of the event was a violin solo by Wallace Graham, Jr., of Portland, and his sister, Virginia Graham, also gave a violin solo, showing wonderful talent, for such young children.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF LOWER LOGAN GIVE PLAY SATURDAY EVE.

LOGAN, March 25.—The last case of smallpox is now out of quarantine.

Quite a number of families have had a case of grippe or influenza, many instances of whole families being prostrated at the same time. It was said while it lasted but most of those afflicted are resuming their duties.

Miss Ethel Hutchins has had charge of the store during Mr. Straube's illness.

The young people of Lower Logan gave an entertainment and dance at the school hall Saturday evening, March 20, which was a success considering so much sickness in the district. The play "Light House Nan" was well presented and enjoyed by all present. An Edison phonograph furnished most of the music. The young folks deserve much credit as they have worked hard, practicing for it. About $25 was the net proceeds.

Three Lower Logan boys who expect to work for highway contractors leave Monday next. C. A. and F. Kirchm to Southern Oregon and Albert Gerber to Eastern Oregon.

Mrs. Adolph Frederick fell and broke her leg Sunday. Enforced vacations of that nature are hard for a mother with little children.

L. H. Kirchem visited relatives at Eagle Creek this week and while there attended the meeting of the Grange.

Another sign of spring met with recently around here is the affable sewing machine agent who seems to be "hint proof."

Two more members of the Castille family are ill with the influenza a son and wife who came to care for the others who were all ill with it at the

Unbalanced Brains

Just why universities and colleges persist in attaching to the state's payroll people who are out of sympathy with the government that pays them is beyond our comprehension. We have referred to Professor Goldman, of Corvallis, who is a chief in the councils of the land and labor party that would destroy the secrecy of the ballot and substitute a mail vote and is hand-in-glove with the Non-partisan league and the fallacies it backs. Now comes Mrs. Helen Miller Senn, employed and paid by the University of Oregon out of the public funds to galivant around the effete east and report upon the Lord knows what. From her public utterances since her return, it would seem that Mrs. Senn is an apostle of labor unionism first and a university attache last, and we are unable to discern any benefit accruing to the state institution she was supposed to represent as a result of her perambulations.

Higher education is the natural outgrowth of our common schools, ordinarily termed the bulwark of American civilization and the foundation of good citizenship. We have watched our state university and our agricultural college spread from small beginnings until they have become, literally and athletically, known from one end of our broad land to the other. The two institutions have progressed under reasonably conservative methods and have achieved enviable reputations beyond the confines of our own state. We have been proud of them and have been prone to boast of their efficient operation.

We fear, however, that it is high time the check-rein was tightened. Oregon taxpayers cannot afford to spend their money on Goldmans and Senns and the sooner the institutions depart from the hire of radical servants, the better for them and for our children, to say nothing of our purses.

SPORTING GOODS STORE AND RESTAURANT ARE OPENED AT ESTACADA

ESTACADA, March 25.—Charles Weaver and family, from Toledo, Wash., has located on the S. J. Howe place, just across the river from Estacada, and will put out four acres of loganberries. Mr. Weaver has been a school teacher for 25 years and thought he would have a change. Besides his wife he has four children one girl in the high school.

Grover Kigham arrived home last Friday from a Portland hospital where he had been for nine months. He was injured in a logging camp by a log falling on him and submitted to several operations. He gets about on the streets in a wheelchair.

Miss Ardella Dunlap and brother Herbert, went to Portland Saturday to spend the week-end with relatives. R. F. Snyder and family have been sick with the gripple. Mr. Snyder is now able to be out.

The house on Stafford avenue, owned by J. W. Shafford, has been rented by Mr. Darrell, one of the firm who is connected with the lath mill.

P. M. Wagner and wife went to Portland Friday evening and visited with relatives until Sunday night.

Mrs. L. A. Wells' mother, Mrs. Lillibourp, left for her home at Roseburg last Saturday, after several weeks visit here.

Mrs. A. K. Morton, who owns a little cottage on Terrace addition, but who has been in Portland for two of three years, will return and reside here again.

William Morham and family, of Portland, were visitors at the E. E. Salting home Thursday night and Friday.

Miss Ruth Saling was here from Portland Sunday to visit home folks.

W. F. Cary and Harry Snyder were Oregon City and Portland visitors last Friday, making the trip in Mr. Cary's machine.

The farm house of John Holm in the Garfield neighborhood, was recently burned with most of its contents. A new house is now being erected on the same site.

Palm Sunday, which comes March 25, will be appropriately observed at the Methodist Episcopal church. Special music for the occasion is being prepared.

V. W. Hauser and wife, late of Portland, have opened their restaurant on Broadway next to the Boner confectionary. The room has been newly papered and painted and presents a very nice appearance. Mr. Hauser serves meals and lunches, sells home-made bakery and confectionery.

The Cary real estate agency sold to E. Kigham and the new owner is now in possession. Mr. Boner has been in business here for a number of years and expects to remain, as he retained the Kodak and fishing goods and will move to some other quarters. This will make a new business for Estacada.

S. E. Wooster was in Oregon City

MARSHAL FOCH WOULD INVADE RUHR DISTRICT

PARIS, March 24.—Marshal Foch has asked the council of ambassadors for permission to enter the Ruhr district of Germany with 80,000 allied troops, it was learned from an authoritative source today. Hugh Wallace, the United States ambassador, is reported to have rejected the request, but the British ambassador is said to be supporting it.

After opposition developed to his proposal, Marshal Foch then asked permission to send 50,000 troops into the Ruhr district, but this request was refused also.

The council of ambassadors has agreed, however, that the French should be allowed to occupy Frankfurt if the negotiations between the mayor of Essen and President Ebert at Berlin fail.

(Essen is controlled by the Spartacists.)

CHESTER CARPENTER OF GLADSTONE DIES THURSDAY MORNING

Chester Carpenter, a well known young man of Gladstone and son of Mrs. Clara Carpenter, of that place, and of the late W. Carpenter, died at the family home at Gladstone Thursday morning from tuberculosis.

Chester was born in St. Joseph, Mo., and came to Oregon about three years ago, settling at Gladstone, where he has since resided.

He is survived by his mother, of Gladstone and the following sisters and brothers: Misses Gladys, Lena, Helen Carpenter of Gladstone, Dee Carpenter, of Missoula, Montana; Cyril Carpenter, of St. Joseph, Mo.; William and Roy Carpenter of Gladstone. He was a cousin of Mrs. Thomas Gault, of Gladstone.

His wife died about two years ago, and his father, William H. Carpenter died at Gladstone February 1, 1920.

The young man was about 24 years of age, and had many friends at Gladstone.

The remains are at the funeral parlors of Holman & Pace, and funeral services are to be held from the Christian church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. Clay, pastor, officiating. The interment will be in the family lot in Mountain View cemetery.

BISSELL PERSONALS

BISSELL, March 23.—(Special).—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ruhl underwent an operation at St. Vincent hospital in Portland last Friday.

Mrs. Marie Klinker is visiting relatives in Portland this week.

Mrs. Theo. Harders who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Ella Lovegrove of Bend, Ore., for the past two weeks returning home last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klinker visited Mrs. and Mrs. Leo Roth last Sunday. Ed. Harders is on the sick list this week.

WOMEN KILLED IN RIOT

DUBLIN, March 23.—One of the two persons killed in last night's riot here was a woman, Margaret Dowling, a domestic servant. The other was an unidentified young man. Several persons were wounded, including one of the soldiers, who was shot through the head.

to Estacada in 1906. Besides her husband she leaves one son, Burton Moore. The funeral was held at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by A. Demoy, an old friend of the family. Interment was made in Lone Oak cemetery at this place. Her relatives all reside in Canada.

Mrs. Milt Marshall went to a Portland hospital Monday and Tuesday morning submitted to an operation for gall stones. Dr. Morse, their family physician, accompanied her. The latest report from her is that she is getting along just fine.

Harry Reid was out from Portland last Sunday to visit his parents and friends, being accompanied by his sister, Roberta, Miss Harriet Hill and Mrs. A. K. Morton. Harry is employed with the Allen & Lewis, wholesale house of Portland.

When in Sandy stop at Bob Smith's Garage

Liberty Six Motor Cars
1920 Ford Automobiles
K. M. Wade Drag Saws
on Sale

Auto Repairing
and Blacksmithing

J. I. CASE TRACTOR AND HORSE DRAWN

We offer you two lines of plows that have been especially developed, in many ways, for our Northwestern trade. In the J. I. Case we have a complete line of walking and riding plows, including the J. I. Case Elastic Gang plow for light tractors. These Elastic Gang plows were bought last year and are being sold at very favorable prices. The Vulcan Plow is especially successful in all parts of the Northwest where Chilled Plows are preferred. The Vulcan Tractor Gang, shown here, possesses some features that you will want when you understand them. It is very elastic, can be changed from 12 to 14 or 16-inch cut in very few minutes and is made in one, two and three bottom sizes with genuine fool proof power lift.

HARROWS

No one in Portland carries so complete a line of harrows of all kinds. We have the Nationally famous makes, Clark's Cut-away Harrows, the harrow with the cut-out disc and the solid steel frame and also have a complete line of the RODERICK LEAN disc harrows for all makes of tractors, as well as the regular sizes of spring and spike tooth in both Lean and J. I. Case make.

2 carloads Myers Pumps,
1 carload Stover Engines,
1 carload Stover Feed Mills
just received.

We advise you to fill your needs while our stock is good.

Everything in cultivators from the small hand cultivator to the large orchard and field cultivator. There are few lines on which we now have a complete stock, but the J. I. Case line of walking and riding cultivators is one of the few. We bought these last year and can make you considerable saving over this year's prices.

J. I. Case CULTIVATORS

Planet, Jr. Walking Riding for small gardens or great farms

340-46
East Morrison St.
Portland, Or.

W. J. Wilson & Co.

Oregon City Agents

is much improved. Several from here attended the debate between Meadowbrook and Fernwood also the basket social at Fernwood Saturday night, all report an enjoyable time.

Birthday Surprise Is Given At Carus

CARUS, March 24.—Mr. and Mrs. De Buhr and a number of others from here attended the dedication exercises at Tigardville Sunday.

John Calvary was tendered a surprise last Saturday evening. Mr. Calvary left Monday to take up the work of forest ranger in Eastern Oregon.

A number of men from Carus attended the meeting of the Farmer's Union at Beacon Heights last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Mauts from Oregon City spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Gwillim.

Theo. Miller and Allen Edwards are the last ones in Carus reported to have purchased a Ford. We are confident that the agent is doing a rushing business here.

Dewey Thomas recently sold his place to Ed Brown of Beaver Creek. Ed Howard spent most of last week in Portland.

Many of the folks from here attended the musical in Oregon City last week given by the Welsh Quartet.

A very pleasant time was spent at Mrs. Alice Casaday's home Friday evening, when a number of her friends called unexpectedly to wish her, "A happy birthday."

Norman Howard came out last Sunday to visit a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Howard.

Mary Anne Davis visited last week with G. R. Gwillim.

guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Naylor Sunday.

Guy Munger was a Portland visitor the other day.

Snodgrass to Start New Shingle Mill

UNION MILLS, March 24.—L. V. Trullinger, who has been staying in Hillsboro for the last three months, has returned and will start up his sawmill in the near future.

Mrs. Joe Nordling visited in Colton Friday.

Norina Culbertson spent Friday with Annie Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Larkins and family of Meadowbrook visited with the R. L. Orem family Sunday.

Joe Nordling and D. Halkinson finished a job of painting and paper hanging for Oscar Huik of Colton this week.

Robert Snodgrass of Mulino has started a shingle mill on Cedar Creek. The timber in this section being very good, a large output is expected.

O. F. Johnson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. H. Durr of Clarksville visited Sunday with the O. J. Culberts and family.

Martin and Harold Johnson arrived from the Oregon Agricultural college Sunday afternoon to spend their spring vacation at home.

Ester and Elsie Orem visited Saturday and Sunday with LeEtte Shon of Oregon City.

The County Agent is indebted to the International Harvester Company for a number of copies of a very interesting and instructive booklet entitled "The Scrub Must Go." They are for free distribution to anyone interested. The work of the I. H. C. people in helping to show the value of better stock and better farming methods is of great earring their joy at being with us. Foolish he who should let corroding care or apprehension of evil that may never come make him oblivious of their care-dispelling charm. Even the statuesque M. Hood in her snowy grandeur looking as if he too would like to join in the universal glee, seemed to scintillate with more than his wonted brilliancy in the sun's bright rays. Not even that dread spectre the flu has had the hardihood to intrude his baleful face into the spring-brightened region, but has at the approach of awakened growth.

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its

The winter-retarded fruit vines and trellises that have kept as in anxious speculation as to whether we were not—for once—to be deprived of the "Kindly fruit of the Earth," are, no longer able to resist the magic of sunshine are showing us that we may expect, at least, an average yield. The Easter moon which made its