Mrs. C. G. Miller, and also visiting Mr. Warren's sister, Mrs. C. O. T. Williams, have purchased a bungalow and an acre of land near Oak Grove. The land is under cultivation, and is set out to fruit. Mr. and Mrs. Warren will take possession of their new home next week. They have been making their home in the Hood River county, but have disposed of their property interest there. Mr. Warren formerly resided in Oregon City, and comes from one of the early Clackamas county pioneer families.

Mr. and Mrs. George Batdorf and daughter, Marion, will leave within two weeks for Los Angeles, Calif., where they expect to spend a large portion of the summer months, and may decide to go to Kansas before returning to Oregon City next fall. This was Mr. Batdorf's old home. They are to make the entire trip in their automobile, and are planning on having many side enjoyable trips before returning to this city. Mr. and Mrs. Batdorf have recently disposed of their grocery business at Willamette, and are now to enjoy a much needed rest.

Chester Douglass, formerly employed as an operator for the Star theatre, in this city, and who has been in the service of the United States army for the past two years, stationed at Camp Lee, Ky., has returned to Oregon City, and has resumed his work, taking up his duties Sunday. Douglass, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Douglass, of Canby, visited his parents for a short time before commencing his duties. He has many friends here, who are giving him a royal reception. He is an experienced "movie" operator.

Mrs. M. A. Stuart, whose home was formerly in Oregon City, and one of the early Clackamas county pioneers, now residing at Seaside, Oregon, who has been in Oregon City visiting her sister, Mrs. A. O. Aldridge, and her brother, George Boylan, and family and other relatives, has returned to her home. Mrs. Stuart was accompanied to Oregon City by her daughter, Mrs. Raleigh Woods, also formerly of this city, now of Astoria. Before returning to her home Mrs. Stuart visited her daughter, Mrs. Hannah Peterson, of Eugene.

David Long, secretary of the Clackamas county fair, whose home is at Hasella, was in Oregon City on business Thursday. Mr. Long, who is engaged in growing brocoli, brought a sample of his product to this city. Some of this measured 23 inches in circumference, and was among the finest that has been seen in the markets. Mr. Long has shipped much of this to Portland markets, and the season is nearly to its close.

R. E. Butler, of the Butler Poultry farm, near Jennings Lodge, was in Oregon City Friday, coming here to ship some baby chicks, which went by parcel post. The destination of 500 was Estacada; 100 to Rufus, Oregon, and 200 to this city. Mr. Butler had 3000 hatch Thursday, the largest number hatched in one day at the Butler farm. They are of the white leghorn breed.

Webb E. Burns, who has been in Alaska for several months, has returned to Oregon City to make his home. Before going north he made his home for several years at Camas, Wash., where he was connected with the paper mills. Mr. Burns has taken a position with the Murray Sand & Gravel company, and will be employed at New Era.

Mrs. T. L. Jordan, who recently took up her residence in Mount Pleasant, and who has been bedfast for over a week suffering from injuries to her knee cap when she fell on a sidewalk on Lima avenue, in this city, is slightly improved. As Mrs. Jordan was walking over the sidewalk a loose board caused her to fall.

W. J. McCord, one of the prominent breeders of registered Jerseys, was among those who transacted business here Friday. Mr. McCord is one of the most enthusiastic breeders of this breed in the county, and has some fine animals at his farm located at Twilight. He is one of the early Oregon City pioneers.

Justin Lageson, of Portland, accompanied by his sons, Gilbert and Raymond, were in Oregon City Sunday, visiting the former's mother, Mrs. L. J. Lageson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lageson and children, Arline and Chester, Jr., and Bert Lageson, of Portland, were also guests at the Lageson home.

Richard Masten, formerly connected with the Brady Mercantile company, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Masten, of Portland, left Monday evening for Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Masten, a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. James Brady, of this city, who was also their guest last week, is a journalist.

Miss Alice Bollinger, daughter of Rev. E. S. Bollinger, former residents of Oregon City, was here Sunday visiting friends. Miss Bollinger, who attended the Oregon City high school, also Pacific University, at Forest Grove, is now taking a nurse's course at Good Samaritan hospital.

Judge and Mrs. Grant B. Dimick, accompanied by Mrs. McGinn, sister of Judge Dimick, motored to the Dimick stock farm at Hubbard Sunday. They also visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Mark, the latter Mrs. Dimick's sister, who resides at Mark's Prairie.

Born Sunday, April 25, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Meindl, of Portland, a daughter Mrs. Meindl was formerly Miss Lorena Lazelle, a daughter of the late George Lazelle. The little one has been named Vivian Adelaide. This is the first daughter in the Meindl family.

Mr. Praeter, one of the well known residents of Gladstone, who was stricken while employed on the Christian church a few days ago, is improved so that he has been able to be out again.

Mrs. A. J. Burdette, who resides in Canby, visited in Oregon City Thursday.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Douglass, the former a prominent realty man of Tecumseh, Nebraska, were in Oregon City Monday, in company with Mr. Douglass's brother, Harvey Douglass, and wife of Canby. They were on their way to the Sandy river, where they spent the day trying their hand at the sport of fishing for smelt. They returned to Canby laden with fish, and which was an unusual trip for the Nebraskans. Mr. and Mrs. Douglass have been visiting a sister of the latter at Spokane, Wash. They are making their first visit here, and are now on their way to California, where they are to visit Los Angeles and other cities of interest, before returning home. They will leave Canby Wednesday evening for the south.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fordyce and little daughter, Virginia, who left here about a year ago for Mississippi, where Mr. Fordyce has had charge of a large plantation owned by his sister, Mrs. Clara Bennett, have taken up their residence at Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Fordyce's health became so that it was necessary to leave Mississippi, and they expect to return to Oregon in the near future. It is probable that they will come with the Shriners' excursionists in June, as Mr. Fordyce is a Mason and Mrs. Fordyce a member of the Order of Eastern Star. They will be accompanied here by Mrs. Bennett, who will visit in the West. Mrs. Fordyce is a daughter of Mrs. A. Nelson.

son, of this city, and formerly Miss Lena Nelson.

Mrs. George Maple, accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marcus Maple, of Jennings Lodge, were in Gladstone Tuesday as guests of Mrs. John Kent. Mrs. Marcus Maple is a war bride, having met her husband while he was in the service and stationed in New York. The romance ended by their marriage last fall, and they arrived in Jennings Lodge in January, 1920. Mrs. Maple, who has heard much of the Oregon rains before taking up her residence here, says she enjoys the "mists," and had the impression that it rained continually from one season to the other from what she had heard while residing in New York.

Lieutenant John Kearney, of the United States army, who was in command most of the time of the company Joe Hedges, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hedges, of this city, was in both in the United States and France, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hedges Sunday on his way to Eugene, where he will visit Joe and Lieutenant Keith Kiggins, of Portland, another boy who was in the company. Joe Hedges, who is a student of the University of Oregon, speaks from experience of Lieutenant Kearney's great care and solicitude for the boys. Kearney is an old army man, having been 31 years in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. William Warren, who are visiting at the home of their niece,
