The defense then objected, maintaining that she could not testify as to that matter, and the question was argued.

WIRES ARE HOSTS TO FIRE LADS AT BANQUET

One of the largest attended and best banquets ever held in Oregon City was that of Wednesday night when the Live Wires entertained members of the Portland fire department, the local department, the city council and American Legion boys at the Masonic hall in this city.

There were nearly 200 people present and besides the fine banquet served an exceptionally fine program was given. This consisted of musical selections, solos, dancing and speeches. Mrs. Dr. Huycke gave two solos, the latter being the Marseillaise, which was a decided hit. Little Miss Lela Washburn made the hit of the evening with her dancing. Although this little miss is only eight years of age she is exceptionally clever in her work.

Fire Chief Dowell, of Portland, was present and gave a talk on matters of interest to the firemen and others who are interested in the welfare of the city. Two reels of pictures were exhibited, one being of the Portland firemen in their fight against the big fire at Thirteenth and Hoyt streets recently.

Fire Chief Tom Graham, of Corvallis, also made a fine address on drilling of firemen. Although Mr. Graham is a business man he gives most of his time to fire work and is one of the best known drill-masters on the Pacific coast. He is drillmaster of the Portland fire department and gives a portion of his time every summer to the work.

Captain Zeller, who had charge of the firemen who responded to the last call of Oregon City, was present, as was Fire Chief Seiler, of Oregon City. Both men made brief talks on fire work.

State Fire Marshal Pomeroy and Assistant Roberts were guests at the banquet and both gave addresses. These men were responsible for fixing the blame for the last fire in Oregon City and Pomeroy in his address touched upon the fire that destroyed the Methodist church and Price Brothers' store. He stated that the fire and that these reports were out-landish and he understood that insinuating reports were in circulation in Oregon City as to the origin of the fire and that these reports were outrageous and a disgrace to those who uttered them.

Thomas F. Ryan, an old time fire chief of Oregon City, gave a brief talk which was well received. The matter of the city hall was brought up and it was decided by a vote to work for a down town site for the new building. J. J. Tobin explained that the city had enough property which could be sold that would provide for purchasing the site.

Everybody except the tire people think the Sweep Up the Glass Club, organized recently by automobilists in Los Angeles, Cal., is a bully idea. Members stop their cars when glass is sighted in the roads and in a few moments remove the slivers which so frequently turn the pleasures of motoring into nightmares. The above photograph was taken while one of the members was keeping her pledge.

COMMITTEE ASK FOR MORE TIME AND ADJOURNS

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9, 1920 (Special)—The committee on resolutions spoiled a day for the Republican convention by asking for more time and after disposing of the reports of the committees on credentials, permanent organization and rules, the body adjourned until Thursday morning, when the first real fight over the platform is expected to materialize. Unless Borah and Johnson are able to force an adoption of their position through a fight on the floor, it is thought likely that the Resolutions committee will report a compromise clause on the league of nations question, as the convention leaders, if there be such, are prepared to give an inch in order to keep the irreconcilables from bolting. There is no likelihood of adjournment before Saturday, and there is a prospect of the convention running into next week, unless a nomination is made.

West Point Open To Oregon Men

SALEM, June 9.—Oregon young men who aspire to entrance into the United States military academy are urged to enlist at once in the Oregon National Guard in a letter received by Governor Olcott from P. C. Harris, adjutant general for the United States.

There has never been a time since the passage of the law authorizing appointments from the National Guard when all the vacancies have been filled and every candidate from that source who has qualified and who desired entrance to the academy has been admitted, according to General Harris, who, however, does not guarantee that such will be the case in the future.

Definite announcement as to the number of admissions from Oregon for the class of 1921 will be available in July and examinations of candidates will be held during the first two weeks in December, but in order to qualify for admission candidates must have had at least one year's experience in the guard of some other branch of the military service and young men are urged to enlist before July 1 this year, in order to meet this requirement.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Few folks or families now living have not at sometime or other used this "Golden Medical Discovery" for the stomach, liver and heart. Over twenty-four million bottles of this tonic and blood remedy have been sold in this country.

Gould Heires Who Eloped With Carroll Wainwright to Avoid Delayed Wedding

The young couple's objection to an ostentatious and probably delayed wedding is given by their friends as the reason for the elopement of Miss Edith C. Gould, third of George J. Gould's children to marry without having their parents present, and Carroll L. Wainwright, a descendant of Peter Stuyvesant. The bride, who is eighteen, was to have made her formal bow to society in New York next winter. The bridegroom, who is twenty-one and an art student, had spent a great deal of time with the girl, who will share the Gould millions, for the past year, but their engagement had not been intimated to any one. It was said they feared their families would ask them to postpone the wedding for a year or two, so they got in an automobile in New York and went to Elkton, Md., where the ceremony was performed. Then they informed their families by tele-

Citizens To Observe Flag Day Monday

Flag Day will be observed in Oregon City next Monday evening by the Elks' Lodge, when appropriate exercises will take place. Those having charge of the decorations are Fred Miller, county clerk, and W. B. Cook, county assessor.

The Daughters of the American Revolution will observe the day at the home of Mrs. E. L. Pope at Parkville. This will take place Monday evening, and will be in the form of a picnic to be held on the banks of the Clackamas river. The husbands of some of the members are to be among the guests.

The members of the American Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary are to attend the exercises at the Elks' Temple following the short business meeting. Bernard O. Keene, of Portland, was an Oregon City visitor Tuesday.

B. L. JEWELL DROWNS IN CLACKAMAS WEDNESDAY

B. L. Jewell, a prominent resident of Oregon City, was drowned in the Clackamas river Wednesday morning near River Mill while fishing with two companions, Matt Story and Charles Straight, and the body had not been recovered up to a late hour Wednesday night, although searching parties had been at work all afternoon.

The three men were using a net and rowing down the river when the boat hit an obstacle and capsized. The occupants were immediately thrown from the boat into the swift water. Straight immediately made for the shore and reached it in safety. Story and Jewell were drawn under the water and it is estimated that they were carried for over 200 yards before coming up he was ahead of the boat, which soon drifted down and caught up with him. He caught onto the craft, which was bottom side up. He clung to the boat and looked around for Jewell, who was nowhere in sight. Soon Jewell came floating by and he was grabbed by Story, who pulled him onto the bank.

The fish net was dragging behind, one end caught in the boat, and the other soon caught on a snag in the river, holding the boat.

Both men were nearly unconscious and as soon as they partly revived Jewell was making for the shore. Story thought it better to stay with the boat until help arrived and tried to persuade Jewell that was the best.

Story did not see Jewell leave the boat, for his back was turned and he was busy holding on. The first he noticed of the man was when he was about 20 feet from the boat making for the shore. He had secured an oar and when last seen was about 20 feet away.

At this point the water is very swift and the boat was drawn under the water several times while Story was on it. Altogether he estimated that he was in the water 45 minutes and that Jewell only stayed with the boat about five minutes.

Jewell is well known in Oregon City and has resided at Greenpoint for several years. He was formerly game warden for the county and has been in the game service for the past ten years. He was at one time employed on the police force of Portland and was a member of the moral squad. He is survived by a wife and small child, who are living at Greenpoint.

FAILURE THREATENS MARION ROAD WORK UNLESS BONDS SOLD

SALEM, June 9.—Unless local investors come to the rescue of the Marion county road bond issue and buy up the bonds the road program in this county is threatened with failure, according to members of the county court. No bid was received on the bonds which were offered for sale a few days ago. Three paving plants which are now in readiness for the summer run will be closed down and all road work stopped, throwing 300 men out of employment, unless the bonds are taken up, it is said. The bonds must be sold to bear interest in excess of 5 1/2 per cent and cannot be sold below par.

WOMEN WIN FIGHT AGAINST COUNCIL ON SITE FOR CITY HALL

The members of the city council who attended the banquet tendered by the Live Wires to the firemen of Oregon City, adjourned from the banquet room to the parlors of the club and listened to the protesting citizens and delegations from the Women's Club, the Guild of St. Paul's church, who were present.

Mrs. Eva Emery Dye presented eight reasons why the city hall should not be located in the McLoughlin park. Dr. Hugh Mount, Mrs. Geo. A. Harding, H. C. Stevens and others spoke strongly against the park location. In view of the strong sentiment shown the council appointed a committee composed of Emery J. Nobis, H. C. Stevens and James Shannon to select and recommend a suitable downtown site and to report to the council Wednesday, July 16.

Irish Raiders Have Clash With Troops

DUBLIN, June 9.—Irish raiders swooped down on the Red Hill barracks Tuesday, captured five soldiers and were about to make a get-away when soldiers from a nearby garrison engaged them, capturing five of the Sinn Feiners. With the fight tactically a draw, the garrison troops were surprised later by a return of the raiders, who overpowered them and liberated the arrested Sinn Feiners.
