Members of the Women's Club are planning to be in attendance at the public meeting of the city council Wednesday night and voice protest on the matter. They say that this park is the only beauty spot in the city and it was through their efforts that the park was changed from a rubbish dump to its present state.

Italian Cabinet Is Facing Overthrow

LONDON, June 8.—The Italian cabinet is threatened with overthrow as a result of the decree fixing the price of bread, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome today. Riots have broken out at Milan and elsewhere.

Old Shay Is Popular Dobbin Full of "Pep" Tax Collector Rides

Tax Collector I. D. Taylor believes in safety first, and says there is nothing like an old "horse" when it comes to getting over the country, especially at the present time when there is an unusual shortage of gasoline. On Decoration day he visited the cemetery, and his faithful horse, "Maude," was driven, and it was decided by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor to see some of the country of Clackamas county even if they didn't possess a Ford or some other kind of automobile, so they started in to the Beaver Creek country, then over to Carus, returning by way of Mount Pleasant. The roads were in excellent condition, and Maude, although past ten years, seemed to enjoy the jaunt, and tripped merrily along during the entire trip.

Automobiles chugged in many places along the roads, many of these becoming short on gasoline, and the drivers looked longingly at the horse, which was still full of "pep." Several were on the verge of asking Taylor for the use of the horse in order to drag them up a hill, but Taylor being of a humane disposition did not take the "hint."

The gasoline situation in this city on Saturday was so that the dealers were entirely out. One farmer having come to Oregon City by automobile, "skurried" through every shop where gasoline was sold Saturday afternoon in order to make his way home to milk his cow. Friends made every effort to assist him in locating enough to make the trip.

Many farmers are running short on "gas" to operate their tractors, while others are unable to operate the water system on their farms. Business men of this city are anxious to give assistance toward this and allow the farmers more gasoline and use less themselves for pleasure trips. Many who had planned motoring trips Sunday have cancelled their engagements in order to allow the farmers to secure even what little remains.

Stuart Family Is Very Unfortunate

Mrs. B. H. Stuart, residing in Linn's Old Mill section and in School District No. 21, the smallest school district of the county, who has just recovered from a severe attack of mumps, after caring for her son, James, who was also afflicted with the disease, has had her share of illness. During the last eight months Mrs. Stuart has suffered from smallpox, influenza and mumps, and is now puzzled as to what will be next, besides suffering from this illness during that brief time.

Mrs. Stuart has cared for her family during their illness, the latest victim of the family being James, the 19-year-old son, who is suffering from a severe case in his knee, caused by an ax striking him, as he was engaged in slashing, and as he raised the ax to cut the brush, the ax caught in a branch of a tree, causing it to swerve and strike the knee, severing an artery and striking the bone. First aid was given to the young man by a companion, William Kinnman, aged 14 years, who bandaged the wound tightly, thus stopping the flow of blood until Stuart was able to reach his home, when Mrs. Stuart gave her attention to her son.

At one time there were five in the Stuart family suffering from smallpox and influenza, and the mother cared for all.

Mt. Pleasant School Enjoys Big Picnic

The closing exercises of the Mount Pleasant school took place Wednesday, when an excellent program was given under the direction of the principal, Mrs. W. A. Barnum, who has taught in the Mount Pleasant school for the past four years.

Friday the children enjoyed a picnic in the grove on the Ryan place, and games and picnic dinner were among the features of the day. L. Hartke, who is a member of the board of directors and connected with the Hazelwood Dairy, surprised the children and presented them with six gallons of ice cream. This was thoroughly enjoyed by the young and old. There were about 25 mothers attending the picnic, who had a most enjoyable time beneath the big trees. This proved to be one of the most enjoyable events ever held at Mount Pleasant, and will be one long remembered by those attending.

Mrs. Barnum, who has given exceptional satisfaction as a principal for the past four years, was not an applicant this year, and will enjoy a much needed rest for the next school year.

Chutes Tower At Oaks Park Burns

To the machine-gunlike accompaniment of thousands of incandescent bulbs exploding in the heat, the shoot-the-chutes tower at Oaks park crashed to the ground early this morning in a spectacular flare of fire and fountain of crackling embers.

The origin of the blaze, which for a time threatened surrounding mills and lumber yards, had not been determined today. Manager John F. Cordray said that the tower, motor and operating machinery of the concession were ruined to the extent of $20,000, partially covered by insurance.

AWARDED $3000 DAMAGES

Mrs. Catherine Platt, a well known resident of West Linn, who brought suit against the city of Newberg, Oregon, for injuries received last July, when she fell and broke her arm, has been awarded $3000 by the court of McMinnville. Mrs. Platt was represented by Attorney Earle C. Latourrette, of Portland, son of Attorney C. D. Latourrette, of this city.

IN SOCIETY CIRCLES

One of the prettiest church weddings that have taken place in this city was at the St. John's Catholic church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Abigail Harriet Baker, eldest daughter of Mrs. F. S. Baker, of this city, and Herbert W. Savage, of Salem, Oregon, were united in marriage by Rev. A. Hildebrand, pastor. The ceremony was witnessed by intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March rendered by Miss Satie Clancy, the bride and the bride's maid, Miss Julia Baker, sister of the bride, followed by the bridegroom and his best man, C. M. Massey, of Portland, entered the church and proceeded up the aisle, where they were met at the main altar by Rev. Hildebrand, who read the impressive marriage ceremony.

During the service Miss Marie Fredricks sang "Ave Maria" and "Veni Creator." Following the marriage ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered as the bridal party left the church for the Baker home at Fourteenth and Madison streets, where a delicious wedding breakfast was served. Mrs. Baker was assisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Charlotte Baker, of this city, and Miss Bernadette McDonnell, of Tacoma, Wash.

The table cloth upon which the wedding breakfast was served was that made by Mrs. Baker's mother, the late Mrs. Margaret Hastings, for Mrs. Baker's wedding, displaying exquisite handwork.

The bride was beautifully gowned in cream colored crepe meteor with crystal trimmings, and she wore a picture hat of white Georgette. Her shower bouquet was of white and pink sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

The bride's maid was becomingly attired in pink silk poplin and carried pink sweet peas.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Catherine Savage. The ring in the cake was secured by Miss Agnes Burns; the coin by F. W. Baker; book of knowledge by Miss Julia Baker; good luck charms by F. S. Baker and Mr. Massey.

The decorations of the Baker home were most attractive and artistically arranged, and were in charge of Miss Charlotte Baker, Misses Mary and Bernadette McDonnell.

The music room was in bright colored Papa Gontier roses, while the living room was in pink and white sweet peas, potted ferns and trailing vines. These vines were artistically arranged on the mantel, and the potted ferns between this room and the dining room. The color scheme of the latter room were of a delicate shade of pink and white, with pink and white carnations and Cecil Brunner roses were used. The table was prettily centered with tiny Cecil Brunner roses arranged in a large cut glass bowl, and each place was marked with a boutonniere of Cecil Brunner roses and violets.

Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Baker, Jr., and children, Frederick and Randall, of Portland; Miss Marie Fredricks, Miss Satie Clancy, Mrs. E. M. Savage, mother of the bridegroom and daughters, Misses Helen and Catherine, of Salem; Mrs. F. S. Baker, Mrs. J. L. Barry, L. A. Barry, Mrs. S. J. Hastings, of Vancouver, Wash., Misses McDonnell, of Tacoma; Miss Agnes Burns, of Portland; C. M. Massey, of Portland; Misses Julia and Charlotte Baker.

Mr. Savage and his bride left on the afternoon train for Newport, Oregon, where they will spend their honeymoon of about ten days. They are to make their home in the near future in Salem. The bride's going away gown was of navy blue with picture hat. Her corsage was of Cecil Brunner roses.

The bride is one of Oregon City's well known and highly esteemed young women. She was born in Clackamas county and has resided here ever since, where she has a host of friends. For the past seven years she has been connected with the Bank of Oregon City, and among the many gifts received was a handsome silver tea set a token of the high esteem in which she is held by those connected with the banking institution.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer M. Savage, prominent residents of Salem. He is engaged as a civil engineer and surveyor, and was among the first Salem's young men to enter the service, and one of the last to return, having returned in October 1919. Mr. Savage was a member of the First division to go overseas, and among the engagements he was in during the world war were battles of Cantigny, Marne, Aisne, St. Mihiel and Arzonne. He was for two years stationed in France and Germany, and was with the contingent returning at the time of General Pershing, taking part in the big parade in New York after arriving from overseas.

The marriage of Miss Helen Luella Ely, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Ely, of this city, and Harvey Wesley MacKenzie, of Bend, Oregon, was solemnized in this city last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Rev. H. G. Edgar pastor of the Presbyterian church officiated. Following the marriage ceremony the young couple immediately left on their honeymoon, and will make their future home at Bend, Oregon.

Miss Grace Spigor attended the bride and Merton Stroman, of Portland, was best man.

The bride was becomingly attired in navy blue silk with black picture hat, and carried Bride's roses.

Miss Ely has many friends in this city, where she has resided since childhood. She attended the Oregon City schools. During the past two years she has been connected with the Price Brothers' store and a similar establishment at Bend, at which which place she met Mr. MacKenzie. The bride was the honored guest of several social functions previous to her marriage. She possesses a sweet and impressive soprano voice, having appeared before Oregon City audiences on many occasions.

The bridegroom is a popular young business man of Bend.

The marriage of Miss M. M. Schoelbemer, of this city, and Harry Draper C. Portland, but a business man of this city, and a member of the firm of Huntley Drug Company, was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. Draper, of 916 East Main street, Portland, Tuesday evening. Rev. A. Hildebrand, pastor of the St. John's Catholic church, of this city officiated in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

Miss Lulu Draper, sister of the bridegroom of Portland, was the bride's maid, and Dr. Guy Mount, of this city, was the best man.

Following the marriage ceremony a wedding dinner was served after which the new wife left on their honeymoon, which will be spent at Camp, B. C. Upon their return they will make their home in one of the Busch apartments on Twelfth and Main streets.

The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of blue with turban to match, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The bride is a well known business woman of this city, having a millinery establishment here five years, and for three years connected with the Bannock & Company, but for the past year has been in the building formerly occupied by the postoffice.

The bridegroom has resided in Oregon City since a lad, except for the few years when he has made his home in Portland, and is well and favorably known throughout Clackamas county. He comes from early Oregon City pioneer residents.

The marriage of Miss Norma Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Willis, of this city, and Wallace Cole Mass, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mass, of this city, was solemnized at the Presbyterian church in Portland Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by only members of the immediate families of the contracting parties.

Following the marriage ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mass left for a brief honeymoon and upon their return will occupy their prettily furnished bungalow which is near Oak Grove and was purchased by Mr. Mass recently.

The bride, who is a very attractive young woman was becomingly attired in a traveling suit with hat to match. The young couple were unattended.

Pervious to her marriage the bride was the guest of honor of several social functions.

The bride, who graduated from the Oregon City high school in 1917, later accepted a position as a stenographer for a steel ship company in Portland where she has been employed until her marriage to Mr. Mass. She has a host of friends in Oregon City, and while residing here was one of the popular girls of her class in the high school.

Mr. Mass, second son, of Mr. and Mrs. Mass, who was among the first boys of Oregon City to enter the service when the United States became involved in the world war, is among the popular young men of this city. He entered the service when a member of the high school, leaving here in 1918, and was stationed at Camp Fremont, Calif., but returned to Oregon City to take part in the commencement exercises when he graduated from the high school. Returning to Camp Fremont he was transferred to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, later being sent overseas for active duty. He was a wagoner of Battery B, Second Field Artillery. He returned from France in February 28, 1919. Since his return to Oregon City he has been employed by the Oregon City Manufacturing Company, where he has gradually promoted and now holds a responsible position with the company.

A quiet but impressive wedding ceremony was performed at the St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city Wednesday evening, June 2, when Miss Claudia Esther Healy, of Portland, niece of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hughes, of Gladstone, was united in marriage to Rupert Ward Forbes, of Portland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and was witnessed only by relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was becomingly gowned in navy blue silk, and a lace scarf, which she also wore, was that worn by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Healey, over 100 years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of carnations.

Following the marriage ceremony the young couple left by automobile for Portland, and will spend their honeymoon at Tillamook, later taking up their residence in a prettily furnished apartment.

The bride is well and favorably known in Oregon City, where she made her home for some time. After attending the Barclay and Eastham schools she moved to Los Angeles, Calif., where she resumed her studies in the high school, graduating with honors from that institution. Since her return to Oregon she has been employed as a stenographer for a publishing company.

The bridegroom is a well known young man of Portland, where he is engaged in business.

Mrs. Forbes' only brother, William F. Healey, was unable to be in attendance at the wedding, as he is at present in the army and stationed in the Philippine Islands, having recently returned after serving with the United States army in France. He also formerly resided here.

One of the enjoyable events of the past week was the banquet served at the Willamette hall Friday evening, when the Greens banqueted the Reds, who had taken part in a contest for membership of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, the contest having just closed. A delicious feast was enjoyed by about 50 members of the order, and the table was prettily decorated.

Mrs. David Williams was chairman of the committee, and her assistants were Mrs. Oriana Kellogg, Mrs. Blanche Mauts, Mrs. Nettie Shannon and Mrs. Dora Bottomly.
