

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

Ernest Gelbrich and sister, Miss Sonia Gelbrich, of New Era, were Oregon City visitors Tuesday. Mr. Gelbrich brought a coyote pelt upon which he received his bounty in the office of County Clerk Miller. Mr. Gelbrich killed the animal Monday morning on his property about two miles from the New Era postoffice. A number of sheep and chickens have been missing in that neighborhood, and an effort was made to get the animal. The animal driven by hunger came too close to civilization, when he got "this." This is the second animal that has been killed on the Gelbrich farm within three years.

Dick Collins, of the Habecker Great-er Shows, was in Oregon City on business Wednesday, having come here for the purpose of having his shows at the coming county fair, which will be held at Canby, commencing September 30 and to continue for four days. The shows will be among the attractions at the Elks' state convention of Washington, which will be held at Vancouver, commencing July 19, to continue for three days. Mr. Collins has been in the show business for many years, and his aggregations consist of eight shows and two rides, including ferris wheel and merry-go-round.

Mrs. J. W. Davenport and children, Helen and Lavell Davenport, and Lisle Took, are to leave next Tuesday for their new home at Espanola, Ontario, Canada, where Mr. Davenport preceded them some time ago. Mr. Davenport has a position with a paper company, being an experienced paper maker. During their stay in Clackamas county, Mrs. Davenport and children are visiting Mr. Davenport's mother, Mrs. C. A. Davenport, of Gladstone. They have recently been making their home in Portland.

Miss Mary Mitchell, who has been spending her vacation at her home at Sandy, has returned to Oregon City. Miss Mitchell is employed in the bank of Oregon City. During her visit at Sandy, she purchased the Frank Langerson property, as a gift for her mother, Mrs. E. Mitchell, of that place. Miss Mitchell is having the residence thoroughly renovated and it will be one of the attractive homes at that place when improvements are completed.

Andrew Kocher, of Canby, who has charge of the poultry department of the Clackamas County Fair for 1920, was in Oregon City Tuesday transacting business in connection with the county fair. Mr. Kocher is receiving much encouragement over this year's fair in the way of prizes for the poultry department as five trophy cups.

E. A. Hackett, who has 12 Royal Ann cherry trees at his home at Greenpoint, is reaping a harvest therefrom. He has already sold 1200 pounds to the canneries, receiving 13 cents per pound for these, and still has 1000 picked, and remaining on the trees are about 800 pounds. Owing to the large crop elsewhere Mr. Hackett has been forced to reduce his price on the cherries.

Mrs. Little Dames, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregory, of Greenwood, has left for California, to visit in San Francisco and Los Angeles before returning East. Mrs. Dames came West during the Shriners' convention, and being favorably impressed with the climate and scenery, decided to remain for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bruening, who have made their home at Mount Pleasant for the past four years, have sold their place, and are to live in Portland, where they formerly resided. Mrs. Bruening will first go to Sheridan, Wyoming, to visit her daughter, Mrs. John S. Wigger. Edward Grayes, of Canby, has purchased the Bruening farm and will take immediate possession.

Miss Zue Gage, of St. Helens, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Willard Ingermanson, of Parkville. Miss Gage may decide to make her home at that place. She was one of the members of the motorcycle club making the trip to Tillamook beaches last Saturday, and is one of the enthusiasts of that line.

N. Blair, residing near Needy, and in company with his wife enjoying camp life at Chautauqua, was taken suddenly ill at the Chautauqua grounds Saturday afternoon, and has been removed to his home. Mr. Blair was formerly county commissioner, and is well and favorably known throughout Clackamas county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gribble, residing near Aurora, who are enjoying camping at the Chautauqua, are among the most prominent fans at the baseball games, in which Clackamasburg plays. There is a reason for this, as they have three sons on the Clackamas team, and have become interested in the games.

Mrs. L. G. Ice and children, William and Jane, who are spending the summer at their cozy summer home on the banks of the Clackamas river, spent Wednesday at their home here. Dr. Ice makes daily trips to his office here.

Mrs. E. R. Gregory and son, Tom, of Greenwood, accompanied by Mrs. Gregory's sister, Miss Emma Shriver, of Portland, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, were Oregon City visitors Tuesday. Miss Shriver with her niece, Catherine Argo, of Portland, are spending a portion of the summer with Mrs. Gregory and her family.

C. C. Hole, of Jennings Lodge, representing the Pacific Asbestos and Supply company, with headquarters in Portland, was in Oregon City on business for the company Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hole, who is well known in Oregon City, was formerly connected with the Portland Railway, Light & Power company.

E. W. Riggs, formerly of Portland, and who has been spending the winter in California, has arrived here and is the guest of relatives. He is at the present time visiting his sister and brother, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Fred Riggs, of Canby, expecting to return here shortly.

J. W. Horner, of Reno, Nevada, is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Louise Scott, of Willamette. Mr. Horner was called here by the illness and death of his mother, the late Mrs. Margaret Horner, whose funeral was held in this city Tuesday morning.

Ed Olds, of Oak Grove, was among the Oregon City business visitors Saturday. Mrs. Olds, who has been critically ill for the past six months suffering from the results of the influenza, is improving, and is now able to leave her room.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Mann and son, Junior, of Portland, were in Gladstone Thursday evening as guests of Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. Tillie Edwards, and also visited other relatives. Mrs. Mann formerly resided at Gladstone.

W. Frazier and daughter, Miss Lavira, of Viola, were Oregon City visitors Tuesday. Mr. Frazier is one of the prominent sheepmen of the county.

Rev. and Mrs. C. H. L. Chandler, who have been spending a few days near Salem, have returned to Oregon City after having a most delightful outing.

H. D. Hosteller, who operates a tile factory at Hubbard, was among the Oregon City visitors Wednesday. While here he visited several friends.

G. J. Trullinger, of Mulino, was an Oregon City business visitor Saturday. J. T. Fullam, road supervisor in the Redland district, was a business visitor in this city Saturday.

Dave Long, of Hazella, secretary of the Clackamas County Fair Association, transacted business in Oregon City Saturday.

Jessie Paddock, deputy county tax collector, is spending a few days of her vacation with home folks at Gladstone.

Born, to the wife of John A. Ream, of Willamette, Saturday afternoon, a son, weight eight pounds.

Dr. Morse, of Estacada, was among those to transact business here Tuesday.

CHAUTAUQUA CAMPERS REPRESENT ALL PARTS OF UNITED STATES

The partial list of campers at the Chautauqua park shows visitors from as far east as Cleveland, Ohio, and as far west as Chico, California. Only 100 tents are shown in the list as compiled by the secretary's office, the complete list is expected to show 250 or more.

The majority of the campers come from Oregon City and Portland, although the outlying districts have sent their quotas also. Each tenting party has from three to seven members, which swells the total number of campers to about 1000 people.

SECOND MARRIAGE OF WINFREES ENDS IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Effie Winfree filed a divorce suit Wednesday against Philip Winfree on the grounds of, cruel and inhuman treatment. She alleged that he continually cursed and beat her and on July 17 she said he beat her until she was unable to attend to her household duties. She asks the custody of the two minor children and $20 per month for their support and costs of the case.

The Winfrees were very much in the limelight a few months ago when Mrs. Winfree was arrested for robbing the Aurora bank of several thousand dollars. At that time the couple were separated and Mrs. Winfree confessed to the crime, saying that she had given the money to her former husband in hopes of bringing about a reconciliation. The money was recovered and the case dropped.

The Winfrees were re-married April 19, 1919, and according to the complaint the cruel treatment started soon after.

The couple were first married in Texas when Mrs. Winfree was only 13 years of age, she alleges in the complaint. They have been making their home at Sandy since the second marriage.

After filing her divorce case Wednesday Mrs. Winfree swore out a warrant for the arrest of Winfree for assault and battery. Constable Fortune went to Sandy the same day and arrested him and he is to appear for hearing today. He was released on bonds.

Canemah Boy Goes To Reform School

Henry "Speed" Balcom, an 11-year-old boy of Canemah was committed to the reform school Monday on a charge of delinquency.

"Speed" sure lived up to his name when arraigned before the judge. He admitted that he had been a bad boy but had just made up his mind to be good hereafter and obey his grandmother. When closely questioned he admitted that he had made this decision after Mrs. Church, juvenile matron, came after him. "Speed" is notorious for these promises, but up-to-date he had failed to make good and the judge thought a vacation at Salem might be of some help.

According to the complaint the Balcom boy has been making his home with his grandmother, Sarah Balcom, but she has been unable to control him. His sister has been carrying his paper route for him and of late "Speed" has been playing on the levee in the river against the orders of Mrs. Balcom.

BANK WILL ADVANCE MONEY TO PURCHASE PURE-BRED ANIMALS

In the premium list of the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition there appears an ad of the Bank of Commerce, of Oregon City, the first bank to publish an advertisement making the offer.

The bank takes the stand that it is good, conservative business, to aid the farmer and that it takes pleasure in helping them to purchase pure-bred livestock. Knowing the value of first class livestock to a community the bank is desirous of helping to bring to Clackamas all that they possibly can and invite farmers who wish to make a purchase to come and talk the matter over with them and let them explain how easy it is to stock their farms with pure-bred animals through the aid of the bank.

Five thousand copies of the premium lists will be sent to the farmers next month and are to carry the advertisement of this bank, which will put Oregon City on the map as giving their aid to the upbuilding of the livestock industry of Oregon.

The exposition is to be held in Portland November 13-20.

Margaret Jeffery Is Granted Divorce

Margaret Jeffery and Oliver K. Jeffery, well known Portland people, were married in that city August 18, 1909, and on June 8, 1920, Mrs. Jeffery filed suit for divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Jeffery defaulted the case and a decree was granted plaintiff June 23 whereby she was given an absolute divorce from defendant.

According to the complaint the defendant has an unmanageable temper and abuses his wife in the presence of friends and at one time struck her. She further claimed that he stopped her credit at different stores without informing her and that credit was refused when she attempted to make purchases, causing her great humiliation. The plaintiff said that at one time when they were to take an automobile ride she stopped to sew a button on her coat and the defendant became angry and when she stepped on the running board of the car he started the machine, throwing her off. She claims that he discharged the maid, had the telephone disconnected and did many other things to cause her trouble and worry.

500 TURKS SLAIN
SMYRNA, July 16.—At least 500 Turkish nationalist troops were killed by Greeks in an engagement north-east of Brussa, according to the following communique issued at Greek army headquarters today:
"We surrounded and annihilated the enemy concentrated northeast of Brussa. Five hundred dead have been counted. Six hundred prisoners were taken."

What Of Gasoline?

There is no mystery in the existing shortage of gasoline on the Pacific Coast, declares the Standard Oil Co. in a bulletin just issued. It is simply a case of increased consumption, for the far west has never had as much gasoline as this year. The California refiners are turning out a greater volume than last year, but, as the company points out, this larger supply does not satisfy the enormous demand of the scores of thousands of additional motor cars, trucks, farm tractors, gas engines, pumps and other equipment dependent upon gasoline for power. In other words, the increased production has not kept pace with the increased demand.

The Standard has decreed that sales for pleasure purposes must be diminished and that industry and agriculture should first be served and defends its policy on the ground that unlimited sales for non-commercial purposes would have meant idle tractors on the farms.

What is true today of gasoline is likewise true of fuel oil, and presently the fuel oil situation will also be quite serious. This fact is well known to large users of crude oil, and some of these concerns are taking steps to substitute coal in the near future.

In 1915 there were 239,000 motor vehicles on the Pacific Coast, in 1920 more than 780,000; in 1915 there were 3000 tractors, in 1920 at least 25,000. In 1918 the Standard's sales of gasoline amounted to 152,000,000 gallons, in 1919, to 193,000,000, while the sales of 1920 will be more than 300,000,000 gallons. The reserve stocks of crude oil amounted to 58,500,000 barrels in 1915. On May 31, 1920, the reserve had dropped to 26,600,000 barrels, a low figure not touched in ten years. The reserve stock of gasoline on January 1, 1918, was 27,000,000 gallons; a year later 14,300,000 gallons, and this year, 4,400,000 gallons, or but 88,000 barrels, of which ten per cent was unavailable, being in tank bottoms and pipe lines.

Secretary of the Interior Payne says that the welfare of the nation demands a reduction in the consumption. "To do this," he says, "less gasoline must be bought this summer by the pleasure seekers and less fuel oil burned on shore where coal can be had. Old-style thrift in the use of petroleum ought to be the fashion this year."

George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, made this remark: "The use of gasoline to serve our pleasure cannot go on unchecked—the joy-ride is not the kind of 'pursuit of happiness' regarded as an 'inalienable right' by our Revolutionary forefathers."

From August, 1919, to May, 1920, consumption of crude oil for the nation exceeded supply at the rate of 33,700,000 barrels a year. There is a current daily demand for 1,159,000 barrels of crude oil and a current daily production of only 1,103,000 barrels. The Standard Oil Co. does not offer early relief, but the future it says:

"The gasoline shortage will grow less acute as summer wanes; precisely when conditions will be back to normal, and supply and demand equalized, is difficult to foretell. With the lessening of demand at the end of summer and the supply of crude oil constant—and there is every reason to believe that this supply will remain constant for some time, with possibilities of increase—the shortage should not be of great duration, and a steady improvement should be manifest shortly."

Jos. D. Ranger Is Buried at Oswego

The funeral services of the late Joseph D. Ranger were held at the Oswego Grange hall on Friday at 1 o'clock P. M. conducted by Rev. A. B. Snider of the Congregational church. Interment was in the Oswego cemetery, where the beautiful burial service of the grange was used.

Joseph D. Ranger was born in Gloucestershire, England, Sept. 29, 1843, and died at the home of his nephew, Allen Ranger of Oswego, July 14, 1920.

He came to the United States in 1867, residing for a short time in Michigan, came to Oregon by way of Panama in 1868. He was one of the few surviving charter members of Oswego grange, which was organized in April, 1874.

He soon purchased land near Hazella, which he cleared and improved by his own labor. He was a good farmer and a lover of horticulture, and planted orchards and vineyards which still remain as monuments to his industry and sources of pleasure and profit to his successors.

In 1902 he sold his farm and paid a visit to the old home in England. On his return he lived and worked for a number of years in and near Portland; always respected for his industry and his faithfulness to the interests of his employers.

Only recently did failing health compel him to give up labor.

LAD HILL TO DANCE

The Lad Hill Commercial Club will give a Social Dance Saturday night, July 24. Everyone is welcome to go and have a good time. Good music and a good supper are said to be features of the evening's entertainment.

ITS VALUE ACCUMULATES

Even when the 25th advertisement lands the trade that 24th didn't, it might not have succeeded without the 24 that preceded it.

Suit Is Filed On Gravel Contract

L. A. Smith filed suit against John Schwab Tuesday asking damages for a breach of contract alleged to have been made between the two men whereby Smith was to crush 10,000 cubic yards of rock.

According to the complaint, Smith had crushed 5616 when Schwab ordered the work stopped and said he would not abide by the contract. Smith claimed that he was to receive 82 cents per yard for the rock and that his profit would be 43 cents. He asked damages of $1885.12, or the profit on 4384 yards.

THOMAS FUNERAL HELD

Many from Clackamas county went to Portland Wednesday morning where they attended the funeral services of the late David B. Thomas, formerly of this county, whose body was recovered from near the Willamette falls a few days ago, where he lost his life by drowning April 29.

The services were held at the Finley funeral chapel at 2:30 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Griffith, of that city. Rev. Griffith conducted the funeral of the deceased's friend, Evan Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Thomas, of this city, who lost his life at the same time, the young men coming here on a fishing trip. During the services Maudwyn E. Evans, of Portland, sang "Beyond" and "Abide With Me." The I. O. O. F. Lodge, of Portland, of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the burial service in Riverview cemetery. Friends and members of the order acted as pallbearers.

AGE IS SECRET

TOPEKA, Kan., July 15.—Rather than give her age when she went to the city hall today to register, Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, well-known authoress and clubwoman, left without registering.

Mrs. McCarter spoke before the recent republican national convention.

MILL EMPLOYEES' ANNUAL PICNIC IS BIG SUCCESS

There were 2000 people attending the annual outing and picnic for the employees of the Oregon City Manufacturing company held at the Crystal Lake Park at Milwaukie Saturday.

The special cars carrying the merry throng to the picnic grounds left here at 8 A. M., all employees congregating at the company's plant and ready for the trip. After the arrival at the park the arrangements for carrying out the day's program at once started. The various committees in charge of the contests and amusements were busily engaged in getting their part of the program ready for the event.

The weather at the time the cars left here was threatening but all were in the best of spirits and were to be "game" whether the rain came down in torrents or the sun shone, and the weather was ideal for the ball games that were first on the program. These started at 9 o'clock. The first game to be pulled off was for married men vs. single men, and the score was 15 to 9 in favor of the singles, who were awarded $15.

At 11 o'clock a baseball game was played between Oregon City factory and the Portland factory, this being of four innings and for a $15 prize. Never before have the women put on a better game than that played at this picnic, and the men had to take a back seat when it came to playing ball on that day. The women were greeted with cheers during the entire game, and especially when they made a run. During the first part of the game the Portland girls were in the lead and the home girls won their laurels in the third inning, when they made their heaviest score and continued so until the close of the game, the final score being 5 to 3 in favor of Oregon City.

Twelve o'clock arriving, all were ready to partake of the lunches that had been taken in the well filled baskets, and all enjoyed the refreshments that were generously served free of charge by the management. The refreshments consisted of hot coffee, butter-milk, soda pop and ice cream. Gallon after gallon of ice cream was served in cones, and soda pop by the case was disposed of, and there was a big supply to serve the picnickers during the entire day and night.

At 1 o'clock a tug of war, four teams to contest, was the amusement. This was one of the most exciting events of the day, and resulted in the winners winning first and the Garment Factory second.

The 50-yard dash for men resulted as follows: Gordon Fauley, first; Lisle Curran, second; T. May, third.

The other events were:

Ladies' 50-yard dash, Margaret Yeager, first; Elsie Rauch, second; Emma Schultz, third.

Girls' 50-yard dash, Dorothy Wilson, first; Grace Dougherty, second.

Boys' 50 yard dash, William Rosen, first; Lynn Hatch, second.

Clothespin race, Emma Schroetlin, first.

The department relay race was one of the most exciting events, both men and women taking part. This was for a handsome trophy cup donated last year by A. R. Jacobs, president of the company, and won at that time by the spinning department. This was again won by the spinners, who had some of the fastest runners in the county.

220 yard race, a special feature, Gordon Fauley, first, and T. May second.

During the boys' shoe race, much amusement was caused among the merry throng of people when a long box upon which the boys were to be seated was "loaded" with several batteries. As soon as the boys "sat" they soon "upsat." One of them believed his shoes to be "loaded" with something, and ran across the field, refusing to enter the race, and leaving his shoes behind. He was soon convinced by one of the fair ones that the shoes were not loaded but the box was, and he hastened away carrying shoes and stockings refusing to enter the race. Bruce Wilson won first prize and Anton Washo, second.

This was followed by "zoom" watermelon contest, and no "zoom" could get away with watermelon any faster than these kiddie could. The finest big melons were put into quarters and placed on the long table and at a signal the boys made a "dive," and one unfortunately dropped his into the dust, but this was the least of his troubles, and he seemed to thoroughly enjoy the seasoning of dust, and before he had eaten his slice his face was covered with a coating of mud. Before the boys dived for the melons, one of the superintendents goodnaturedly said, "Let's beat the kids to the melon." There were others who felt the same, but the boys were the only ones to enter the contest. Billy Gay was the champion watermelon eater, while Joseph Laura came in for second honors. They well earned their money.

Fresh eggs were on hand to be used in the egg race in which the women took part. The first prize was awarded to Margaret Yeager; second, Emma Schroetlin, and third, Margaret Gerber.

Great enthusiasm was manifested among the 2000 people when the relay race for the department managers was announced, as each employee has the highest respect for the superintendents and all did their part in the routing. Those on the winning team were H. F. Tschirg, Harry Wolrich, Ford Curran, Charles Byers, Lisle Curran, Thomas Carriego, Mr. Berner, Charles Legler, and the losers were John Collie, Messrs. Rhinoul, Miller, C. B. Wilson, M. Hoots and Rothe.

The men's 100-yard dash, also thoroughly enjoyed, resulted in Gordon Fauley winning first place; Lisle Curran, second; Mark Sullivan, third. Earl Loney was awarded first place.

Great enthusiasm was manifested among the 2000 people when the relay race for the department managers was announced, as each employee has the highest respect for the superintendents and all did their part in the routing. TRAFFIC VIOLATORS FACING HARD JOLT IN POLICE COURT

According to a statement of Judge Loder Monday, he is through warning traffic violators and the order of the day hereafter will be fines and imprisonments. This court has been lenient with these violators and Loder said that he thought time enough had been given and that all had been sufficiently warned.

Oregon City has a traffic ordinance that will greatly reduce the number of accidents, but this is being violated every day and regarding this Loder said:

"Our traffic laws are to be enforced and all violators brought before me will have to suffer the consequences. These laws have been in force for over a year and up-to-date I have been lenient with fines in order to give all a fair chance to acquaint themselves with the rules but I now feel that the time has come for us to enforce them."

"Among the most important ones I wish to call attention to are passing street cars when taking on or putting off passengers. Turning at the intersection of Seventh and Main streets is another violation that is a menace to traffic that must be stopped. The ordinance also forbids parking cars on Main street in a block for more than 45 minutes at one time. Speed is limited to 15 miles per hour on the city streets and this is violated every day as well as the law providing for lights on machines."

Chief of Police Scott has been after the drivers running with the cut-out open and the past week has seen a noticeable decrease in this practice.

Sues To Collect For Auto Repairs

William Bogynska, owner of the Capitol Garage of this city filed suit Friday against Henry Cromer and the D. C. Warren Motor company, of Portland, to collect a bill alleged to be due against Cromer for work done on his car.

According to complaint the work amounted to $163.28 and only $38.20 has been paid. Bogynska filed a lien against the car and then he alleges Cromer sold the car to the Portland firm.

He asks a settlement for the balance of the bill and costs of the case.

COMMUNITY CLUB TO SEEK IMPROVEMENTS IS FORMED MONDAY

Definite steps toward community development were taken at a mass meeting of citizens from South Oregon City, Mount Pleasant and Lawton Heights, at the Mount Pleasant club hall Monday night. A community association to promote the local interests of the three districts, which lay geographically together south of the city, was formed. Frank Andrews, of Mount Pleasant, was elected president and W. A. Barnum secretary.

Committees were appointed to take up various phases of the proposed development work, and a general committee, comprising two members from each district, will sound their constituents on the problems of water and light installations. On this committee are G. W. McDowell and Arthur Smith, South Oregon City; Mr. Heskitt and R. F. Stroub, Mount Pleasant, and W. T. Forward and Mrs. Webb, of Lawton Heights. Roads, sidewalks, electric lights, and the development of a water system, are the main issues before the new organization. An effort will be made to secure water from the Oregon City reservoir, and in event this fails it is contemplated to form a bonding district and issue sufficient bonds to install a small system.

Another meeting of the association will be held Monday night, at which time the committees will report, and a speaker will be heard on community development.

Frank Nelson is erecting a new bungalow on his property at Gladstone, which will be modern throughout.

In the sack race; Roy Fitzgerald, second, and E. B. Foulis won third. There were a large number entering the race and the competition was keen.

The water sports followed the field sports, and many took part. The ladies were not slow in showing what they could do in the fancy diving and swimming, and were graceful in this art. The apple race, one of the most difficult races in the water, was entered by about eight of the best swimmers. A Zaletoe was awarded first place; Fred Hayward, second, and Arthur Rithe, third. This was followed by the men's swimming race, when Al Kosciolko was given first prize; Birdsell Ladd, second, and Dan Brady, third.

The ladies' swimming race was entered by two of the fairest swimmers, the first prize going to Edith Utter and the second to Evelyn Hampton, both of whom proved to be artists in this sport.

Many entered the long distance diving, when the first prize was awarded to Austin Helsby, second, Jack Gilbert, and third, A. Zaletoe.

John Gelbert was awarded first prize in the tub race; Al Kosciolko, second; and Birdsell Ladd, third. At 6:
