FRUIT CANNERY AT CARVER HANDLES LARGE PRUNE CROP

Sept. 30.—The Cannery began operating last week and is doing fine now. Tons of pears and prunes are being canned. As this is a fruit district plenty of fruit may be had. Nearly all of the G. T. Watts fine pears were bought by the cannery. Fair wages are paid and plenty of employees may be had.

Mr. and Mrs. Link, who have been residents of Carver for a number of years, have rented their home and gone to Crown Point, where Mr. Link will engage in farming.

Mrs. J. R. Carr and daughter Pearl, have been for several days employed in the cannery, as is also Glen Dallas, who recently returned from Idaho.

Miss Bessie Hattan left Monday for Damascus, where she is teaching the primary grades in the school.

School opened here last week with one of the largest attendances the school has ever known. This is due to the fact that several new families have come to make their home in Carver, within the last year.

Mr. Henrich, who is one of the prune growers here, has his large drier, running to its fullest capacity. After having dried his own prunes he began drying for others.

Mr. Hageman is taking all of his prunes to the Henrich drier.

Many of the Carver residents will attend the fair at Salem this week.

Stafford Jubilant Over Grange Award

STAFFORD, Sept. 30.—Quite a number from Stafford and vicinity attended the County Fair at Canby on Wednesday last. It being children's day whole families could go together and the attendance would have been larger had it not been for the gentle Oregon mist.

However those who belonged to Oswego Grange felt like dancing when they found the judges had awarded them the blue ribbon and knew that the substantial prizes and the loving cup goes with it.

There seems to be a wrong impression in regard to Mrs. Wethered being in charge of the Oswego booth, some think she was sent by the State Grange and should not show partiality by spending all her time in one grange booth whereas she is a valued member of Oswego grange and chairman of grange work at the fair, appointed by Brother Burland, Master of Oswego Grange, and she never has joined the State Grange, and therefore could not have attended, and she worked with her fellow committee men just as faithfully as did the committees of other granges. However Oswego didn't come out very far ahead, and they realize they have to step and fetch it next year.

Mrs. Wethered seems to have the good of all Granges at heart and visited and wrote to other granges to try and get up more competition among the farmers.

Mrs. Lu Francis returned last week from an extended visit with friends and relatives in Seattle.

The closing of the store, as the owner finds it unprofitable to try to keep it open and attend the other pressing business, is felt to be a great loss to the people of the vicinity and it is hoped that some enterprising person will go into the business again. Sickness in the family is the prime cause of Mr. Frenzel going out of business. Mrs. Frenzel is still in the Oregon City hospital where she underwent an operation a couple of weeks ago.

The sun came out again on Monday bright and warm and Stafford promptly set the plows to work as the land of this vicinity is somewhat peculiar in that while it is mostly a clay loam, one can plow and cultivate on most farms within a day or two after rain ceases.

KELSO HUNTERS HAVE AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR SALEM ON HIGHWAY

KELSO, Sept. 28.—R. E. Jarl and Lewis Jerger have returned from their hunting trip, with two deer each to their credit. On the return trip Mr. Jarl, a few miles this side of Salem had the misfortune of having his car run into by a speeder in a touring car from Iowa. The Iowa also ran into a machine standing on the side of the road, and it was while trying to avoid this that the big car skidded and ran into Mr. Jarl's runabout. The damages, to the latter's car, which were a broken wheel, bent axle and fenders the Iowa party was obliged to make good although reluctantly. Mr. Jarl and Mr. Jerger were somewhat shaken up otherwise none the worse for their experience.

This community may well be proud of Vernie Jarl's record as prize winner at various fairs. He took first prize at the Canby fair on his potatoes and also first prize on his bull calf. Last year he took first prize on chickens at the State Fair at Salem and also first prize on his pig. Vernie is a thirteen year old pupil in the 7th grade of the Kelso school.

Mrs. Joel Jarl, who is wintering near San Diego, California, is somewhat improved in health. She has rented a 4-2 acre tract, is going to raise chickens and farm on a small scale.

Service Man Buys Farm at Macksburg

MACKSBURG, Sept. 28.—All the beauty that bright sunshine over a flooded landscape can bestow has been our since the evening of Sunday and great is the pleasure of contemplating the work that Mother Nature has been carrying on while most of us were shut in doors.

The pasture, notwithstanding its great consumption by eager cattle shows no sign of growing short.

Only corn refuses to grow without sunshine, but shortly maintains its own. Sweet corn, that we feared must grow too mature for use in the stormy time, is as tender and delicious as it ever was.

Potatoes show steady growth, and look as if their harvest must be weeks away.

Ripening of pears and prunes has been retarded by the dark cool weather so that the waste of these fruits will be less than we feared.

The Evergreen blackberry, much of which grows along the roadside is free from dust and ready for picking now. Most of it, however will go to market, the housewives being too busy with other work to give it their care.

The Fall flowers, roses chrysanthemums, dahlias and asters are in regal beauty now, and have thriven more than has anything else in the rain.

The charm of that all important autumn work, fruit preserving is greatly revived by the reports of constantly falling sugar prices, which afford us cheerful reading now, as we hope they will become real before long.

With sugar and with shoes back at their normal price much of the vanished household cheer will be restored. Candy-making may be indulged in by the rising generation which their elders may contemplate with dismay the rapid wearing out of shoes, may even regard it with gratitude for the evidence of active health it gives.

The Mother's Club held its usual session on Thursday last at the home of its president, Mrs. John Hepler and is to meet next, October 7, with its secretary.

A little daughter has come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Gibson.

Glenn Morris, one of our returned service men has bought the ranch of Roy Mastertop and is busy with its Fall work.

Roy Yoder and Jess Nofziger are in Canada, the former with the view of settling permanently there.

The Ely School Board have at last secured a teacher. School is to open there on Monday October 4.

The Macksburg and the Bear Creek schools began work on September 27.

Barlow Is Scene Of Improvements

BARLOW, Sept. 29.—A number of the Barlow residents attended the county fair at Canby. Among those receiving prizes were Herman Stevey who won four first prizes on garden truck. Celesta Temayne was awarded second prize on gardening, and Louis Emery, second on corn, while Iva Smith was awarded third prize.

Barlow is seeing a number of improvements, among these being at the home of Mr. Bowe, where his new barn has just been completed, and D. E. Shepard has completed his new granary. Mr. Casler has finished his new home. With these improvements and others to be made in the near future, Barlow is doing her share towards building in the county.

Gladys Temayne is attending the Oregon City high school.

The Barlow school will open Monday, with Miss Agnes Burns as principal and Miss Emma Berges as primary teacher.

LAD HILL LADS AND LASSIES SCORE HIGH AT BIG COUNTY FAIR

Those attending the Canby fair from Lad Hill were: Mr. and Mrs. Hacke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tautest and family, Peter Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith and daughter Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith and son Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and grandson Donald Ward.

The school bell is ringing again. School began Monday, Sept. 27, with Miss Bliss in charge.

Such beautiful weather now after the rain, is making the prune growers happy, the rain did considerable damage to the prunes in this locality.

T. R. A. Sellwood of Milwaukie spent Monday night at the home of Geo. Smith.

The Wooliver, Orr, Sale was well attended Monday, Sept. 27. All articles brought a fair price.

Mat Kiser and family have moved back to their place after spending a month on the Nichols place, which they have rented.

Lilly Hacker spent a week visiting her aunt in Portland.

Hurrah! for Lad Hill, three of our boys came home with ribbons from the Canby Fair. Donald Ward got first prize on market hog; Harry Hacker, third on registered hog, and Melvin Tautest, second on grade sheep.

Our girls didn't get a prize on their sewing. But Miss Suedeker said it would go to the State Fair any way as it was next best to the prize sewing. So we are proud of our Lad Hill boys and girls, for they are just little folks yet, the girls are only 10 and 11 years old.

Judge Fred Wilson, who presided at the hearing, held that all the rights of way property extending from The Dalles to the new bridge was under control of the state highway commission and there was no provision of law which would warrant the granting of a permanent injunction against the construction of the road.

With the completion of this highway, travelers in eastern Oregon will no longer be compelled to pay tribute to Mr. Moody, who for several years has conducted a toll bridge on the land to the Idaho line.

Mrs. M. Egger Gives Big Housewarming

Mrs. M. Egger, of Redlands, has just had completed one of the handsomest farm houses in Clackamas county, with Chris. Welsmandel, of this city, being the contractor. The residence was erected at a cost of about $6500.

It is modern throughout, containing seven rooms, bath, hot water, and Dutch kitchen. The living room and dining room are entered by way of a large reception hall, and adjoining the living and dining rooms are two large bedrooms, bath, kitchen, while a stairway leads to the second floor, where are two other sleeping apartments, with clothes closets. There is a full cement basement and it is the intention of Mrs. Egger to install stationary wash trays in the near future.

There is private water system, water being secured from a well 275 feet deep, and also an electric lighting system.

A housewarming was recently held at the Egger home, when about 75 friends and neighbors gathered, when Mrs. Egger and her son proved royal hostess and host at one of the most enjoyable gatherings held in that neighborhood.

ASKS LEAGUE MEET.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The London Times says it is informed that the Lithuanian government has made a fresh appeal to the league of nations under paragraphs 11 and 17 of the covenant asking an immediate meeting of the council in order to consider the situation created by the Polish invasion of Lithuania.

Compensation Act Best In World

SALEM, Or., Sept. 28.—The workmen's compensation act now in operation in Oregon leads the entire world with relation to benefits provided for persons killed or maimed in industrial accidents, according to Commissioners Marshall and Kirk, who returned here today from San Francisco, where they attended the annual convention of the International Association of Accidents Boards and commissions.

The assertions of the Oregon commission submitted to the convention by Carl Hookstedt, special investigator for the United States Department of Labor, statistics based on a test covering six weeks and extending to practically every section of the world where compensation is provided for injured workmen, Mr. Hookstedt's report showed that at the expiration of that time only 18 per cent of the claims presented in states operating with their own funds remain unpaid.

WASCO COURT RULES AGAINST TOLL BRIDGE ON RIVER HIGHWAY

SALEM, Sept. 28.—The Wasco county circuit court today dismissed the action brought by Silas Moody to join the state highway commission from constructing a public highway across land connecting up the Columbia river highway in eastern Oregon with the new state bridge recently completed over the Deschutes river.

Judge Fred Wilson, who presided at the hearing, held that all the rights of way property extending from The Dalles to the new bridge was under control of the state highway commission and there was no provision of law which would warrant the granting of a permanent injunction against the construction of the road.

With the completion of this highway, travelers in eastern Oregon will no longer be compelled to pay tribute to Mr. Moody, who for several years has conducted a toll bridge on the land to the Idaho line.

New Oregon Is Successful Prune

SALEM, Or., Sept. 27.—Discovery of a hybrid prune, the "New Oregon," which experts declare will revolutionize prune growing in the entire northwest, was announced at a banquet of prominent Oregon nursery men here Thursday.

The prune was first discovered about eight years ago in an orchard owned by Andrew Vercler in Polk county. Following a series of careful experiments with a few specimens produced during a period of several years, Mr. Vercler top grafted an entire row across another Polk county orchard, and also a portion of an orchard which he owned near Hayesville. The top grafting came into full bearing last year and the prune it is stated, has been commercially tested in every way.

The "New Oregon," authorities state, has been tested as a texture, sugar, acidity, content, drying properties and carrying quality of the tree, and in each case has been found far superior to anything previously grown in the northwest.

In appearance the new type of fruit would seem to be a cross between the Oregon "Italian" prune, and the Oregon "French" prune. It is larger than either, however, and more tasteful.

Applications Filed For Alaska Lands

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 28.—Applications for all lands covering more than 350,000 acres have been filed at the United States land office in Juneau, Alaska, since passage of the new land regulations, according to the news of Frank A. Boyle, registrar of the land office at Juneau, who was stated in news dispatches received here today. The applications filed aggregate 175 more in number, 73 being filed during the past month, covering 150,000 acres.

Of the total area for which applications have been filed 150,000 acres lie in the cold bay field. Other districts are at Katalla, Yakataga, Hirona, Kootanahook, Cape Spencer, Chitina Bay, Seward and Wasilla. The Seattle chamber of commerce recently appealed to Secretary of the Interior John Barton Payne to expedite the granting of permits and advised him that unless that was done applicants for permits would be unable to get equipment together for shipment to Alaska next spring.

GIRL IS DELINQUENT.

Mattie Rout, a 15-year-old girl of Hoff, was taken to the Industrial school at Salem Tuesday on charge of delinquency.

According to the complaint the girl refused to obey her parents and last week when she was sent to a school in Vancouver she stopped in Portland and was not located until Tuesday of this week. When arraigned the girl informed Deputy Attorney Butler and Judge Anderson that she intended to do just as she pleased and just when she pleased.

SKENE BUYS JERSEY.

D. F. Skene, owner of a number of choice Jersey cattle, purchased a valuable seven-months' old Jersey bull calf, owned by A. D. Gribble, of Gribble Prairie, exhibited at the Clackamas county fair last week. The animal is of registered stock, and a calf of a blue ribbon animal.

HUNTERS RETURN.

Captain E. Williams and Ernest Young, who have been on a hunting trip in the Coos Bay country, returned to Oregon City Sunday evening. The two young men secured the limit and brought much of the meat home. Owing to the steady downpour it was impossible to dry any of the venison, and instead of having the usual dried venison for the winter's use, will be content to have it canned.

BREEZY BRIEFS FROM MOLALLA

Interesting News Items Taken From The Pioneer

HOP PICKERS RETURN
A bunch of Molallians returned on Saturday from the Seamon hop yards. They had an exceptionally good time this season. The crop was good and picking conditions favorable in spite of the rain everybody kept cheerful. Work was interrupted with play. One night they had a candy pull. On another occasion eight boys staged a marshmallow and wienie race. They speak highly of the service in the yard and the courtesy of the employer.

ANDERSONS GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Herman gave a party last Friday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson who are moving to Newberg. There were about forty guests present. Besides the usual social amusements there were an abundance of watermelons from Mr. Herman's garden, fresh cider from the press and cake in plenty served. It was a very enjoyable time and was a pretty testimony to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were held by their neighbors.

SCHOOL PROGRESSING
With the opening of the second week of school the enrollment in the high school has reached eighty-one, more than were in attendance at the end of the first month last year. With the usual increase coming from those who move in from outside throughout the year, it is probable that the enrollment for the year will reach one hundred. In the grades there are fewer from outside districts but the enrollment to date is normal.

The fourth teacher was added in the high school and courses, including Teacher's Training and French have been added. A great deal of interest is manifest in the commercial course, which was introduced last year. Everything points to one of our most successful school years.

LIVE WIRES OUT OF POLITICS BUT WILL BOOST NEW CHARTER

Although the Live Wires had appointed a committee to name a provide for a commission form of government, they voted Tuesday at their noon-day luncheon to keep out of politics, but instructed the committee to keep active on the new charter.

The committee on the matter of the local depot reported that they had taken the matter up with the Public Service Commission and had been promised speedy action.

The question of housing the new fire truck was taken up and the Wires were unanimously in favor of finding a temporary location pending the settlement of the city hall site. Although no reduction would be made in the fire insurance rates until the hall is completed the benefit derived from the fire protection would be worth more to the city than the reduction.

L. A. Henderson, during the discussion of the city hall site, sprung a new one when he suggested steps be taken to have the building located on the county court house grounds, saying there was plenty of room and an ideal site. Mr. Henderson said that several cities have already made this move and that it was proving very satisfactory. No action was taken on the matter but it was suggested that it be taken up with the county court.

Lloyd Harding, a member of the committee for the entertainment of the city teachers and the school board, said that plans were being made for the affair to be held in about three weeks at the Commercial Club rooms.

C. H. Dye circulated a petition for the benefit of the public library asking that the one-half mill tax be raised to one mill. At the present time the taxes amount to only $1400 and the librarian's salary and other expenses amount to $1398, leaving only $2 for new books and improvements.

THRILLS ARE FEW IN WEDNESDAY CARD AT MILWAUKIE ARENA

Alex Trambitas, pride of Portland, and Harvey Thorp of Kansas City, fought 10 rounds to a draw at the Milwaukie pavilion Wednesday night. Thorpe had nothing on the local lad, and the bout was rather slow and the last round. Clinches were frequent and there was nothing spectacular about the contest.

The preliminaries however provided a few thrills. Joe Anderson and Bert Taylor, heavyweight slugger, fought six rounds in an open and honors were easy. "Chick" Rocco obtained a decision over Joe Hoff after six rounds of smothering, though neither boy was hurt. Hoff comes from Woodburn and is no longer a youth, but still has a wallop. The fight was awarded to Rocco on aggressiveness. Young Sam Langford, a fast little coon from San Francisco, took a decision from Johnny Plske, of Portland, in six rounds. The California boy was fast and especially clever in the clinches. In the semi-final, Harry Casey, though a favorite, lost to the dark-skinned pugilist, Willie St. Clair, just the decision. The Sacramento boy did not extend himself until the final round, and came through with a whirlwind finish and convinced Referee Goodwin of his superiority.

The whole card was poor, compared with the usual run at Milwaukie, and a record crowd of disappointed fans wandered home to Oregon City. The next card on October 13 ought to interest the local fans, as two Oregon City boys are matched, Jack Barry and Eddie Shannon. The latter will go against Muff Bronck.

BIG STEAMER HITS ROCK.

STANDS OFF A LOT OF DOCTOR BILLS

Recommend Pe-ru-na for Catarrh of the Stomach, Colds and Grip

"I have used Pe-ru-na for several years and can heartily recommend it for catarrh of the stomach or entire system. I always get benefit from it for colds and grip. It stands off a lot of doctor bills and makes one feel like a new person."

R. F. BUTTLER,
E. F. D. No. 4, Box 61, Wyanburg, Kentucky.

It is wise to keep a bottle of Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies. Coughs and colds may usually be relieved by a few doses of Pe-ru-na taken in time. Nasal catarrh, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, rheumatism or other troubles due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes all call for Pe-ru-na as the successful treatment. The health building, strength restoring qualities of this well known remedy are especially marked after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish flu.

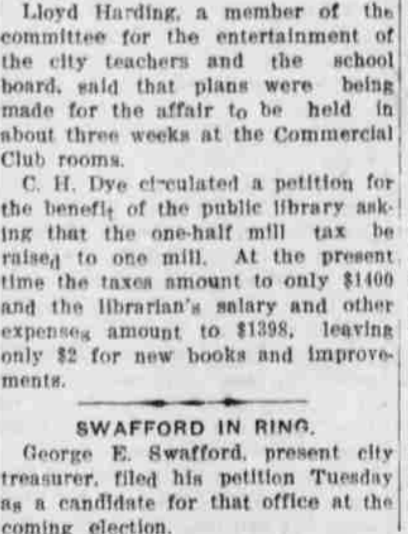

PE-RU-NA is a justly proud of its record of fifty years as health protector for the whole family.

SWAFFORD IN RING.

George E. Swafford, present city treasurer, filed his petition Tuesday as a candidate for that office at the coming election.
