Decision to Finish Loop Road Pleases

SANDY, Oct. 18.—That people are jubilant over the decision of the Highway Commission to build the road at once hardly expresses the sentiment around this end of the county. The road conditions has so nearly upset industries the past six weeks that many were getting discouraged, but now joy reigns supreme, and long smiles linger 'round the corners of even sober-mouthed citizens and the one universal story is, "Well, we're going to have the highway, I hear," and so the world is passed on and on, each having "read" the papers, but no reading amounts to so much as the personal talk over such a vital problem. And Mr. Benson! My! but he is popular out here, and gratitude to the other commissioners is not lacking, either, but it was Benson that fought for industrial development and now there is no reason why this whole northern Clackamas shall not prosper and produce.

Other glad news that stirs every traveler on the road from Sandy toward the mountains is the decision of the county court to apply some of the market roads fund to make the road passable between here and Firwood. If the weather will permit, graveling will continue from Sandy toward Firwood, and from there planking will start this way and the "ends" come together for a passable stretch will then enable Uncle Sam and everybody to "go."

Mail Carrier Comes to Grief Frequently

SANDY, Oct. 20.—Henry Kamp, mail carrier to Zig Zag had another smash up Monday afternoon on his way home, a hub breaking and the wheel was smashed to pieces. He sent to Sandy for a car, but a big Studebaker happened along and took the mail and his passenger, Mrs. Wilson, before the garage man got there. That Cherryville hill deserves all the harsh things said about it, according to travelers. The roads beyond Cherryville are so nearly impassable that if the rain keeps on something will have to be done or no one can get through. Only last week Kamp had a similar experience, and so much expense makes it discouraging.

POLITICS COMMENCE

SANDY, Oct. 20.—The local political pot is about to begin simmering although there is really not enough interest shown to make first class citizenship. Everyone should study the needs of the town and try to elect those who are imbued with sufficient energy to be alive and active in getting—not a few, but all interested in constructive development of the town. The following candidates for city offices are on the ticket: For Mayor, Casper Junker and R. E. Esson, Recorder, C. D. Purcell, Treasurer, Cecil Duke. Councilmen, Paul Dunn, L. E. Hoffman and J. L. Loundree.

LOCAL NEWS

SANDY, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Watkins and children went to Portland Sunday and spent the day with relatives, drove home and did the "chores", then came to our service in the evening. "Many are the possibilities of the Ford," said Mr. Watkins.

Dr. and Mrs. Sture were down to Pleasant Home to spend the day with the Steffanson's on Sunday. They also eliminate distance almost every Sunday since they have a car.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. L. Maybelle and son Lloyd were out from Lentz for the week end with the John Maroney's.

Mrs. E. L. Power was in Portland for a few days this week shopping and visiting. Mrs. Alma Maroney took care of little Gretchen while Mrs. Power was away.

Lloyd Baker flitted over to Centuria for two or three days during the week and then came back, only to leave again for Portland where he has decided to go to the barber's college and make this tonorial art his profession.

Jas. H. Shaw who recently bought the Langens farm on Cedar creek and has cast his lot with us was called to Astoria last week to attend the funeral of his son-in-law who was killed, the particulars of which have not been learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb of Cherryville were in town the other day on a business and shopping expedition, regardless of the rain.

John Revenue was also in town one of the stormy days during the week and he makes no apology for the weather; he says it has "been this way" in years gone by. Mrs. Revenue is home again from the Springs and is feeling much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lilly made a business trip to Portland or a few days this week. The Lillys are undecided as to whether they will remain in Sandy as business interests may call them to other parts.

Angus Nelson has been driven over to call on the dentist at regular intervals of late, and reports things are rather quiet on the Ridge.

George Flynn went salmon fishing in the big Sandy and caught forty on one trip while, is a very profitable "fish story." They were easily disposed.

The Toller family have moved into the J. E. Pomeroy house and are trying to get settled for the winter. This is about the last vacant house in town, and there is said to be more people wanting to move in, which speaks well for the place.

Mrs. Hassong of Portland, a lovable woman of eighty-five, was a guest of Mrs. Duke one day recently. Mrs. Hare and Mr. Crozier and Mrs. Hesson composed the party driving out for sweet friendship's sake.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dahrens drove over to Astoria in Polk Co. last week to spend a month or so with the Dahrens. Mrs. Dahrens home folks, while the logging road is laid off temporarily.

Mrs. Selma Nelson and Milton Nelson of Kelso were supper guests at the Bonnet home one evening recently.

Dr. Alfred Williams, Paul Meints, Casper Junker, and Jack Scales were among the business men visiting Portland last week.

James Bell of Sandy ridge was an attendant at the Pomona graze on last Wednesday which was held at Logan, in the Harding Grange hall and he reported a "big feed" big crowd and a generally fine time.

Sunday was the last appointment of Rev. Bristol at the Boring Methodist church. Rev. Earl Cotton will probably preach there on Sunday morning, a week from next Sunday.

Myrtle and Ruby Dodd are playing the good part of "big sisters" in their care of little Edna Winfree, by keeping her when her father is away at work, mending and making her clothes, helping with her lessons and doing many things for the child that the rest of us have not done. Edna is a bright, nice child, and she is our part to help see that she has a chance. Winfree has moved his belongings into the little house across from the cemetery, since the Struckers bought the one he was renting.

An item of interest to many is the announcement received by Joe Albel of Kelso that Donald Palmer Cameron was married to Miss Hazel Hartman of Hoopeson, Illinois, on Oct. 9. Mr. Cameron was formerly in the timber business at Boring and at Stephenson, Wash., but has since been travelling from coast to coast and manages to drop in to see the Albel's at least once a year.

Regardless of age Gottfried Stucke walks like a chipper young man, preferring to come on foot to Sandy last Monday rather than take a chance of getting through with a team.

Uncle Sam got stalled on his way over the mail route through Firwood and Alfalter and the cream hauler fared the same fate last Monday.

Fred Bridge who is well known in these parts had his arm badly smashed while working in the woods at the Wencell and Kelsicker mill at Linton recently and in the Good Samaritan hospital.

Otto Aschoff is also in the Good Samaritan hospital and had an operation on his arm. Not recovering properly from the measles it seems an abscess formed in his arm and he is in a serious condition, but was some better at last reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Senaka and family were out from Portland with Mrs. August Senaka.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tormas were Pomona Grange attendees at Loran last week.

Mrs. U. Truble is feeling very miserable these days and is not able to do very much about the house, so her son Carl is doing double duty as cook and farmer.

Miss Doris Dodd was out over this week end from Portland. Myrtle Dodd also came home on Saturday after a week in town with her sister who has been ill in the hospital, but is now recovering from her operation.

Dr. John H. Boyd, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Portland is still suffering from anemia and general break down at Chicago. Dr. Boyd still owns his land at Cherryville, and is well known here as the Boyd's spent their summers on the arm or several seasons.

Mack Thomas had a couple of plasters on his head, but was as lively as ever on Saturday night regardless of his recent auto accident.

When the sun gave a smile or encouragement the other day a meadow-lark hopped out from seclusion and poured forth a springlike melody, but footed like the rest of us, for in a few hours colder rains than ever beat upon us—but the lark made the best of it's opportunity, to send forth a note of cheer!

Mrs. Emma Newman (Emma Haselwander) was in town on Sunday with her two little girls. Mrs. Newman expects her husband to arrive from New York soon and they are planning to make their home over in The Burn.

Mrs. Newman is an ex-serviceman. Mrs. J. Blackhall, mother of Mrs. Alice Scales went home a few days ago. She has been with the Scales family for two or three weeks.

Mr. Hansen head fire warden of this section was in town Monday. Mrs. Hansen is spending a month in Portland and he and his daughter had been to the city to see her. Mr. Hansen has two weeks work to do in the Portland office, so will soon be coming down from Zig Zag again.

F. L. Folsom is moving from the Sandy Lumber Co. mill to Central Washington. These daughter, Folsom, is in Portland at present, and will accompany her parents to their new location.

Mrs. Anton Mickleson and children are going out for a portion of the winter. Albert Bell and Alex Gray left on Tuesday for Portland where they will look for work and if they do not find it may go to California, as they want "a dry job." Albert said he had worked a long in the rain he was getting tired of it. They were both working for the Sandy Lumber Co.

The Fritzgeralds, prominent residents of Dovey who recently sold their farm were moving to Portland the first of the week.

Miss Bertha Albel of Kelso and Mrs. Fritz of Gresham visited Mrs. Henry Perret one day last week.

The Josselyns are now "Ford-ing" the roads we hear so much about in the brand new silver they purchased from Perrets, who also placed a Ford with Joe Lilly's brother down the line. If we don't watch out when we get the new highway we shall have so many cars of our own there will not be room for tourists to travel!

Friends of the Griffin family will be sorry to hear of the loss of their little baby boy which lived only a few hours. It was born last Friday.

Father Hogan and Miss Albel were Sunday visitors at the Henry Perret home, enjoying the dinner and the flowers. Mrs. Perret has beautiful dahlias and other blossoms yet, though "Jack" has been hanging around of late.

Mrs. L. M. Wilson returned home on Monday after a month's nursing at Brightwood. The Larsen's had there have a baby daughter and she tipped the beam at eight and one half pounds.

The Sandy Post Office during the last quarter, ending Sept. 30, filled all the requirements of a third class office, the gross receipts amounting to over one hundred and fifty dollars. These receipts do not set the gauge of the postmaster's income, however.

The big Swedes who were supposed to do contract work at the Meinig hill crusher from the time the rock was ready to crush suddenly changed their minds, because the job didn't appear as remunerative as they thought it would and re-traced the distance to Portland, and now John Maroney is supplying the necessary men from the community.

The Cedar creek bridge is now finished and everybody is delighted who had interests in that direction. A bridge crew of eight men from Oregon City made the repairs, finishing this work on Saturday.

Lige Coalman is getting along nicely with his new silo he is building. He will fill it with his corn and sunflower crop, which is claimed to be one of the best of the new combination silage, and more and more farmers are beginning to realize the food value of the sunflowers.

Will Bushola and Walter Krebs are going to haul freight between Sandy and Firwood for the Johnson Construction Co., and 150 tons are waiting to be moved in the next month. The company will handle it the rest of the way up the line.

Fred Suckow's have installed an electric light system, which is the first light improvement on Sandy ridge. Naturally the Suckow's are elated over the convenience, and no doubt others will follow suit in time. The Perret boys did the work.

A shelter for horses is still a need in the town as the horses have not become entirely antiquated, regardless of the spread of the automobile fever. Some action is said to be under advisement.

Fred Proctor got the "goose" at a sale the other day, now if it will only lay the golden egg, Fred may act as clerk again.

Three wood sawyers are busy on John Macho's place on Sandy ridge that were recently sawing at Dwyer's logging camp. They are living on one of the Macho's buildings. Five hundred cords are supposed to be cut, and the same will probably be marketed next summer if the logging road gets up that far, and it no doubt will, judging from reports. The wood industry along Deep creek promises to be of some importance.

John Bailey was over in the Mar-mot country the other day and bought two trucks loaded of swine.

Mario Boltano took another trip to Columbia along this week and bought himself a large dapple gray work horse, of which he is duly proud.

The Jongrud-Gunderson mill has contract after contract it cannot fit according to the junior partner, Oscar Gunderson, who was in town Monday. Many contracts have had to be cancelled because the roads are in such shape that deliveries cannot be made, which works a great hardship on all concerned.

The Burns mill is still closed and will probably remain so until the roads are in better shape, as nothing can be hauled and the workmen could hardly drive to the mill, the mud is so deep near Abion Meinig's.

Wm. Forbman somehow dodged the mud holes and pulled in a load of lumber from Brightwood on Monday with his four horse team. His "yellow" mules may have been the dynamic power that coaxed the load through.

Forbman took a load of supplies back for the Johnson Construction Co.

Charley Krebs got his threshers tuned up once more the first of the week and started out to try to thresh the water out of some remaining shocks belonging to Dave Douglass and others. Since the Cedar creek bridge is fixed it will help Charley to finish up the season in a few days—

J. C. Duke has a potato up town he brought from his ranch which weighs three pounds. He has many as good.

The Halloween window dressing in the Junker-Smith window is worth a stroll up town to see.

Joe Lilly made two loads up to Truman's the last week with the Scales truck which is said to speak well for his driving.

H. Lupke has built a small house on his place near Haselwanders which he uses for his bachelor quarters when not in Portland.

The snow observed on Larch mountain last week marked the first real mile post winter has set or the season. The snowy breath has been waiting several times during the past week but one night it cleared long enough to frost, then in the early morning washed it all away.

Squads of traveling men have been flitting about the streets of late as merrily as though mid-summer were here, but Sandy sells goods and business is usually fine at this time of year.

Will Bell of Sandy ridge has been hauling wood to town several days and says the cross road is not in very bad shape, it is much better than the main road.

Max Woenche is very poorly, his recent trip to Portland not improving his condition. Carl Langer went to Portland after Max, and he had to be carried into the house and is now bedfast.

Art Dixon left the Mickelson-Nelson mill Saturday intending to keep a dental appointment and finally reaching a stretch of good road on the other side of Sandy bridge he speed ed up to thirty miles an hour when the axle broke, and the wheel went rambling off, into the bushes and the car ran on for one hundred yards with Mr. Dixon before it concluded to stop. It was surely a miracle that he was unhurt as the car stopped so near the bluff as just a little more and he would have gone over. Dixon had to walk into town and persuade Melvin Smith to go back with him, so by 12:30 they got in car and all, and after a sleep at the Bonnet home "Art" went on into Portland Sunday to see his children, thankful it was no worse.

As Art Dixon left the mill Saturday marked that he could go on ahead and if he broke down Dr. would pick him up when he came along, and after the Dixon breakdown he did wait awhile but the Doctor did not materialize until he and the garage man were on their way over from Sandy to get the Tikon car out, when they met the Williams car limping slowly along with both springs broken. The Doctor may be a little late sometimes but his flivver always gets there.

Some folks are beginning to have colds and Mrs. Alma Maroney is one whose head and chest have that disagreeable feeling, that the cold-bug always creates.

Mrs. Clyde McCully is still down at her mother's home. During the time the roads are so bad Clyde cannot haul out here he is trucking for the Wencell and Kelsicker mill at Linton.

Everyone is glad to see Mrs. Scales behind the counter again at the Scales merchandise store.

SCHOOL NEWS

SANDY, Oct. 20.—The Misses Josephine and Pearl Dixon remained in town this week and to attend the picture show and enjoy the evening of dancing on Saturday night.

Miss Barton's mother writes that it has rained every day or forty-five days up at Puyallup, so we need not think of old Juppe has any special grudge against us.

Miss Mixture spent Saturday in Portland again this week doing errands and visiting friends.

Miss Ruby Meyers, principal of the grade school went to St. Vincent's hospital on Friday evening and had a facial operation performed. Dr. Lawton driving her in and looking after the case. Miss Meyers is feeling much better when she returns from this difficulty which has troubled her for some time.

Josephine Dixon is having trouble with her eyes so school work was not quite easy this week.

Gertrude and Alfred Meinig were met in Portland by their father on Friday evening and came home for the week end. Although delighted with their O. A. C. work there is no place like home to them, and he said everybody was as glad to see them as they were glad to see everybody! They returned to school on Sunday afternoon very happy for the homecoming.

LOST: Red silk umbrella between Cherryville and Sandy. Return to Josephine Dixon, Sandy. Reward. Brightwood school secured a teacher at last and school has been going on about two weeks.

Mrs. Lillian Ten Eyck moved into the rooms rented from the Mixture girls the first of the week. She expected to move sooner had the Cedar creek bridge been passable.

Little Roberta Smith was ailing the first of the week and had to stay out of school.

It seems the school board cannot do anything definite to relieve the over-crowding of the primary room until a special election is held, and the budget is rearranged. There are forty eight in Mrs. Ten Eyck's room, now and a few more may come.

Florence Toller's sister is a senior in the grade school this year. The Toller's just moved into town last week.
