

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

BIRTH PLACE IS VISITED WHILE ON TOUR IN THE EAST

CANBY, Dec. 1.—Dr. and Mrs. John Fuller, who has been absent in the East since September, have returned to Canby and taken possession of the Cottage Hotel.

This is the first time Mrs. Fuller has visited her old home in Arkansas since she was a child, and many scenes of childhood days remained the same.

Among those with whom she and her husband visited were her several uncles, James H. Buckley, Washington county, Arkansas, George and Thomas Buckley, of Arkansas, James H. Buckley, residing on a 160 acre farm, presented Dr. and Mrs. Fuller with some of the molasses of his own production.

One of the greatest fruit centers visited in Arkansas was at Springdale, where the apple crop was being harvested. Great loads of rosy cheeked apples were being brought from the orchards to the packing houses to be shipped to their destination.

NEWS FOR CANBY AND VICINITY.

Any news for the Canby edition of the Oregon City Enterprise may be left at the Cottage Hotel, which will be called for by Miss Nan Cochran Tuesday afternoon.

That all who attend services may hear, dropped a tiny pin to the flat, while Dr. and Mrs. Fuller remained near the entrance way.

Mrs. Fuller says of all the cities in which they have visited since leaving Canby while on their Eastern trip, none compared with those of Portland except the Marshall-Field in Chicago, and that Oregon should be proud of the handsome structures of the Oregon metropolis.

While in Chicago they visited the large stores also a number of historical spots. Among these was the Douglas monument. In Boston they visited the place where the Boston Tea Party took place, and where the men disguised as Indians threw from the ships several hundred chests of tea.

One of the most delightful excursions taken was on one of the large steamers plying Lake Erie, when they went from Cleveland, the former home of Dr. Fuller, where they visited his mother and sisters and brothers, to Boston, Mass.

In many places where they visited little is known of the state of Oregon, and the Canby people proved good boosters, but regretted they had not taken literature pertaining to the Western coast.

LOCAL BRIEFS

W. P. Jackson and family of Milwaukie, now of Zilla, Wash., were in Oregon City on business Wednesday. They came here on business pertaining to their property in Clackamas county. Mr. Jackson is now engaged as an orchardist, and as his fruit farm is in the Yakima country, the apple and pear yield this year was exceptionally good, but the peaches were short. This was due to the cold winter of last year.

Mrs. H. R. Heuer and two little children after spending the past year at Carthage, N. Y., where they have been visiting the former's mother, returned to Oregon City Tuesday evening. Mr. Heuer and family have taken possession of one of the apartments owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Knowland at Fourteenth and Main streets.

Mrs. Victor L. Roche, formerly Miss Ruby Francis, of this city, now of Portland, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Joseph Gerber, of that city, visited the home of Mrs. Charles Lighter, their sister, Wednesday. They attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran, at Gladstone.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Warren and son, Richard, of Redland, were in Oregon City on business Wednesday afternoon. They made the trip to this city in their automobile although the roads were in almost impassable condition for motoring in a number of places, but they "braved" these and made good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Brenton Vedder and son, Eugene and Dean, of Gladstone, went to Woodburn Tuesday, where they attended the funeral services of Mr. Brenton's mother, Mrs. Mary Vedder, who died last Saturday in Spokane, Wash.

Edgar N. Terrill spent Sunday in this city with his family. He is located in Portland at present, where he is studying drugless methods of healing. He also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terrill.

Among the well known residents of Clackamas county transacting business here Wednesday was Grant Mumpower. Mr. Mumpower's home is at Stone. While here he visited among some of the old time friends.

Elmer J. Lankins was in Oregon City Wednesday. While here he visited among some of his friends, as he was a former resident of Oregon City.

Among those to transact business here Wednesday was N. H. Smith, whose dairy farm is at Redland. Mr. Smith is one of the prominent Jersey breeders.

Frank Millard, of Springwater, was among those to transact business in Oregon City Wednesday. Mr. Millard is road supervisor of that section of the county.

Andrew Koehler, prominent resident of Canby, was in this city on business Monday. Mr. Koehler was on his way to Portland.

Miss Grace Robinson, formerly of this city, who resides in Clackamas, was in this city on business Tuesday. While here she visited friends.

O. D. Robbins, prominent resident of Clackamas county, whose home is near Logan, was in this city on road business Wednesday.

H. G. Bolton, of St. Paul, Minn., was an Oregon City visitor Tuesday and Wednesday. While here he registered at the Electric.

Among those to register at the Electric Tuesday and Wednesday was Thomas Berland, whose home is at Mehama.

Harvey Gibson, of Barton, was among those to come to Oregon City on road business Wednesday.

C. R. Gibson, of Spokane, Wash., arrived in Oregon City Monday to remain here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerns, of Minneapolis, Minn., are visiting in Oregon City.

Mrs. R. A. Travers, of this city, was among those to register at the Hotel Alder, Portland, this week.

BAN IS LIFTED ON STRAWBERRY INDUSTRY HERE

Creating a non-infested territory between the Willamette, Molalla and Clackamas rivers, in which area growers of strawberry plants are to be given a clean bill of health, the state board of horticulture, at a meeting in Portland Tuesday removed the ban from local growers who were under contract with California concerns for the shipment of plants valued at many thousands of dollars.

The state board of horticulture, under the impression that the strawberry root weevil had made its appearance in the northern section of Oregon, made an arbitrary ruling and drew a line horizontally across the whole state from the Pacific ocean to the western border, with the city of McMinnville as the dividing point, placing all of the territory north of this line in quarantine and putting a stop to the shipment of strawberry plants. Upon learning of the order, Lee A. Strong, chief deputy quarantine officer of California, with offices in San Francisco, forbade the importation of plants from the restricted area into California, leaving a number of local growers high and dry and facing ruin.

A. H. Finnegan, Irvine south of Oregon City, has 1,000,000 strawberry plants ready for shipment, and has contracted with a California concern for his entire crop at $12 per thousand, and he stood to lose $12,000. Other growers in the Canby district were heavily interested, and they went to Portland in a body Tuesday, headed by State Senator Thomas P. Ryan and secured a modification of the order, resulting in the creation of a preferred district which has been carefully investigated and where the root weevil has not made its appearance. O. E. Freytag, of Gladstone, has been appointed state horticultural inspector for Clackamas county and will pass upon all plants before shipment out of the district.

SCIENTISTS DISCUSS FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF THE NORTHWEST

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Dec. 1.—Problems relating to the fish supply, forest conservation, insect control and other subjects directly bearing on the future development of the northwest were considered by prominent scientists at the annual meeting of the northwestern section of the Western Society of Naturalists at the college. A symposium on biology and its relation to the development of the territory involved, followed a banquet given by the college-biology club.

The next meeting place will be the University of Washington, Seattle. Dr. S. M. Zeller, associate professor of research in plant pathology at the college, was elected to the only office, that of secretary.

Among the speakers were Professor A. R. Sweetser, University of Oregon; Dr. E. L. Packard, University of Oregon; R. Harry B. Yocum of the University of Oregon; Miss Katherine U. Beckly of the University of Oregon; Professor Trevor Kincaid of the University of Washington; Dr. E. Victor Smith of the University of Washington; Dr. George B. Rigg of the University of Washington, and Professor W. S. Brown, Dr. Nathan Fasten and Professors H. S. Newins of the local faculty.

FORD GARAGE NOW OPEN IN NEW LOCATION

In one of the best garage buildings in the state, the Pacific Highway company opened for business Monday morning in its new location at 7th and Railroad avenue. The new establishment covers a quarter of a block and the facilities for hauling automobile repairing, storage, etc., is unequalled. The company will handle only Ford, Fordson tractors and trucks and accessories, but the accommodation for the storage of cars and repair work on other makes of autos covers a considerable portion of the ground floor of the new building.

Man Not Found Reported in Well

THE DALLES, Or., Dec. 1.—The mysterious "man in a well" story of Mrs. C. A. Adven of Portland, having failed to produce anything resembling either an "injured man" or a "well," Sheriff Chrisman announced today that he had given up the search for both.

Tracks supposed to have been made by Mrs. Adven were found, but at no point did they approach any well or even a "hole in the ground."

Mrs. Adven reported last Friday that while lost in the upper Mill creek district, 17 miles above The Dalles, she suddenly heard a call for help from a man who said he was at the bottom of either a well or a hole in the ground, she did not remember which, with an arm and a leg broken.

Department Bulletin 852, prepared by the Bureau of Public Roads, on the adaptation and use of concrete piping, points out that the carrying capacity lessens very little over a period of years. After 15 years' service, such a pipe showed a deposit only one-sixteenth of an inch thick on the inner surface. Another advantage possessed by this material is that the pipe can be constructed on the ground where it is to be laid, thus simplifying transportation difficulties which might occur if the heavy pipes sections had to be carried to the site of a drainage ditch or an irrigation project.
