Noted Chemist for Poison Ivy. Physicians have not kept records of the number of cases of poisoning which occurred during the year, but it is safe to say that several hundred thousand people are poisoned every summer. Fred A. Howard, the noted chemist of Boston, was influenced to take up this problem by seeing the effect of the poison on children. Mr. Howard's researches have resulted in producing many valuable contributions to industry. He is recognized as one of the greatest specialists in the world on the effect of chemicals on leather and various textiles. He has been associated with the shoe manufacturing industry for almost half a century, and in the last twenty-five years has produced a number of processes for reticuling and improving leather to be used by shoe, belt, and glove manufacturers. His latest discovery, korite, will, it is said, double the wearing power of leather.
