THIS IS THE MONTH—

To resolve! To keep the paths open. To get the accounts in order. To get the surplus cordwood to market. To prune grapes and other small fruits. To plan the garden and make up your order for seeds. To keep the pigs warm so that their growth may not be checked. To feed corn heavily this cold weather. It is rich in heat and energy elements. To breed cows for fall calves and be ready for a heavy milk flow next winter. To get the horses sharp shod. Neglect may mean a serious accident or an injured horse. To keep the hen house clean and disinfected. Herb is the first step in keeping free from roup. To get out the incubator, look it over, order any new parts that may be needed and see that it is ready for perfect running.—Farm Life.

CHEER UP!

There'll be things this New Year that are bad. But that fact isn't making me sad. For I know that, by gum, It will have to go some If it's worse than some years I have had!—Farm Life.

YEGGS ATTEMPT TO SELL GEMS IN OREGON CITY

A bevy of Portland detectives swooped down on this city Wednesday afternoon in search of diamonds worth several hundreds of dollars. The officers alleged that the stones were the loot of recent robberies in Portland and that the yeggs were trying to get rid of the diamonds here. After a still hunt of several hours, it is alleged that the detectives found a cleft to the loot, which led to the door of an Oregon City man, whom it is claimed bought a diamond recently for $250, which was valued at more than $1000. The officers were accompanied back to Portland by the local buyer, it is said, and will trace the yeggs from the description furnished by the Oregon City man. It is alleged that the buyer, before purchasing the stone, made inquiries at Burmeister & Anderson's as to the value of the diamond, and was told that the brilliant was worth in the neighborhood of $1200. Other diamonds and rings were shown here by the yeggs to several parties, and were offered for sale at ridiculously low prices. Whether or not the yeggs have been caught has not been learned, but it is reported that the "cops" are hot upon their trail.

Alumni Dance Will Be Well Attended

The committee in charge of the Alumni dance is eagerly working to complete all plans for the dance to-night at the Crown-Willamette Annex. This is a time at which the college Alumni may meet the present college students, and those high school students who are soon to become members of the Alumni Association. This is the first dance that has been planned by the newly organized Alumni Association, so the committee hopes that it will be well supported by college Alumni and high school Alumni, in order that there may be other dances following. The patrons and patronesses for the evening are to be, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Latourette. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Caulfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mount.

He left this evening for Portland, where he will visit his mother, Mrs. O'Malley, and sister, Miss Emily, the latter a teacher in the Portland schools. Mr. O'Malley was formerly connected with the government hatchery at Clackamas Station, and before departing for Seattle visited the hatchery.

LAST RESPECTS PAID OVER THE GRAVE OF NILES

Funeral services over the remains of the late Royal (Tubby) Niles, ex-soldier and football champion of the Northwest, were held at the Congregational church in this city Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Preceding the hearse bearing the flag covered casket, members of the Willamette Falls Post, American Legion, marched in a body from the Holman & Pace chapel to the church, where the services were conducted by Rev. Herbert Crocker. During the services Mrs. John Crawford sweetly sang "Some Day We'll Understand," with Miss Marion White as accompanist. The church was filled to capacity by many friends of the young man and family. Interment was in the family lot in Mountain View cemetery, in charge of the Legion, where a large number paid their last respects. Taps were sounded by Neal Terrill, and a volley from eight guns was fired over the grave. The casket was covered by a flag and large laurel wreath, and the floral offerings were beautiful and in profusion, many of which were sent from Portland and elsewhere. Pallbearers were from the American Legion and were Glen Hankins, Gus Vasselto, John Eer, Eliza Page, Frank Page, Lyman Warnock.

Mr. and Mrs. Haak Lose Young Daughter

TWO YEAR SUM TO RUN STATE IS HUGE AMOUNT

SALEM, Or., Dec. 29.—State activities will cost $45,456,377.41 during the two years of 1921-22, according to estimates filed by department heads with Secretary of State Koser for making up the biennial budget. Of this sum, $24,717,340.89 will be met by the receipts of the state treasury from sale of bonds for the construction of roads and highways, license fees, inheritance taxes, corporation licenses, taxes on insurance premiums, insurance licenses, etc.; $4,786,452.70 will be covered by funds or contributions paid into the state treasury on account of the workmen's compensation law and for vocational education $389,862.72 will be paid from moneys which are not paid into the state treasury, but disbursed through other mediums outside of the secretary of state; $5,763,370.47 will come from the levies of taxes for the years 1921 and 1922 and being in addition to those taxes authorized by law within the 6 per cent constitutional limitation. The balance of $9,810,250.63 is covered by the appropriation of moneys from the public treasury within the 6 per cent tax limitation.

LARGEST BOILERS IN THE WORLD BUILT BY FORD AT DETROIT

The largest power house boilers in the world are now being installed in one of the Ford Motor Company's Detroit plants. To demonstrate just how big they really are, eight full-grown Ford cars were driven into one of them recently. The cars were lined up just outside the building, then one at a time, they were driven inside, caught up in a rope sling, hoisted to the second floor and driven into the huge boiler. Each boiler is enclosed in a brick setting, with specially designed furnaces for burning pulverized coal. This in itself is a new feature in this kind of a boiler. While some experiments have been made with pulverized coal, yet, no boiler has ever before been specially constructed to use it. But Henry Ford departs easily from precedent in power plants, and once satisfied that pulverized coal is practical, he ordered special equipment designed and built for the new power house. This boiler furnace will consume eighteen tons of coal an hour. The coal, which is ground so fine that it passes through an unusually fine screen, is fed into the furnace from near the top. Inside, it is caught up by an air current which keeps it in circulation, and it is burned while in suspension. It touches neither the sides nor the bottom of the furnace, until as ashes it drops underneath into an ash pit. From the time the coal for these boilers leaves the Ford mines in West Virginia and Kentucky until it is carried away as ashes it is never handled by hand. All of the operations are handled mechanically—dumping, pulverizing, carrying to the bins, stoking, even to carrying the ashes away in small dummy cars. A battery of eight of these huge boilers is being built; one is already completed and operating successfully.

AUTO INDUSTRY PAYS THIRD LARGEST TAX IN UNITED STATES

That the automobile industry is the third largest in the country is pretty well known now, but not many people probably know that the motor car was the means for the third largest revenue into Uncle Sam's treasury during the fiscal year which ended July 1, 1920. According to the report of the commissioner of internal revenue, the largest revenue item was the income, war profits and excess profits tax, which netted $3,957,699,570; the next highest revenue came from the sale of cigarettes, which brought in $1,512,415; from the sale of automobiles the government received $144,494,448 in taxes; alcoholic beverages are fourth on the list, having netted $139,853,072; from theatres, $81,931,780 was derived; from non-alcoholic beverages, $57,460,366; from musical instruments, $13,625,671.

MOTORISTS have a valuable asset in the serial numbers appearing on the side walls of their automobile casings. Recorded, they enable the owners to trace castings lost or stolen. The repair men are glad to keep these figures facts for their customers. These are also useful in determining mileage records and service, according to Miller tire officials.
