Since last hatching season many improvements have also been made in the incubator house. New incubators have been installed, each having a capacity of 540 eggs. There are four teen of such incubators, and are of "The Master" design, which have proven successful on this poultry farm. Last year Mr. Gribble operated several smaller incubators, but as the demand for baby chicks is so promising for this year he decided on the larger ones. The first setting will be made January 15th. The floor of the incubator is of con crete as well as the sidewalls and ends, as Mr. Gribble believes in "safety first" as well as cleanliness. The floors are spotless and the walls have been painted white, making it a most attractive room for the visitors at the Gribble farm to enter. The upper floor of the building is storing the various kinds of feed and the baby BOY SEVERS chick cases and egg cases. These are kept in order. Mr. Gribble has received many encouraging letters from parties to whom he shipped baby chicks last year. These are from all sections of the Northwest, and in but a few cases have any of the little chicks died vigorous, not a dead one in the lot, other letters are from Austin, Oregon, lad is doing nicely today.
