Miss Geiger Marries Aurora Young Man

CANBY, Jan. 5.—One of the prettiest weddings of the week was at the Catholic church in this city Tuesday morning when Miss Annie B. Geiger, of Scappoose, Oregon, and Mr. Alfred J. Campau, of Aurora, were united in marriage by Rev. Jonas, pastor.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white satin, and her tulle veil was held in place by a dainty wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses.

The bride's maid was Miss J. Beno, of Scappoose, and the maid of honor was Miss Lillian Fisher, the former gowned in pink and Miss Fisher in blue. They carried carnations.

J. J. Kearnik was the best man.

Following the marriage ceremony the young couple left on a brief honeymoon, and will be at home to their friends at their home near Aurora, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

Before their departure a luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Campau in their honor.

Molalla River Is On Its Usual Rampage

CANBY, Jan. 5.—The Molalla river at this point is a raging torrent, and logs, trees and various kinds of debris are being carried by the swift current into the Willamette, which is also overflowing its banks near this city.

So far little damage has been done by the high water, except to cover several gardens in the low lands, but if the rainy weather continues there is fear of the river reaching several homes that are close to the river.

ROBBERS CHASED FROM MAIN ST. STORE BY OWNER

Surprised in the act of looting the Buckles store at 11th and Main street here yesterday morning, two burglars were routed from the establishment by the prompt action of Mr. Buckles. The robbers entered the store through a window about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and after gaining entrance, unlocked the back door of the store and propped it open for a quick getaway.

Buckles, who with his family, lives above the store, heard the yeggs unlock the back door and creeping downstairs in his sock feet, surprised them in the act of looting the store. The two robbers fled through the rear door, with Buckles in hot pursuit, but got away before the store-keeper caught up with them.

Outside of a few packages of tobacco, cigarettes and cigars, the robbers secured little of value. The safe in the store contained considerable cash, and in all probability would have been opened by the yeggs if they had not been surprised by the owner. According to Buckles, the men ran as soon as he started down stairs and he could not see their faces clearly. The two robbers were men and not boys, according to Buckles. The matter has been reported to the city and county authorities.

My heart was full of gladness, I called their eager rush; But Freckles beat me to it, He had a royal flush.

The annual celebration given by the Oregon City Manufacturing company for the benefit of its employees was given last night in the mill rooms. The affair was well attended, and the garment rooms of the factory were prettily decorated with holiday trimmings and lighting effects.

An elaborate program for the evening was given, and President Jacobs opened the celebration with a short address, during which he contended that with the proper cooperation of employees of the company, the coming year was full of possibilities for both employee and employer. He said that while the Oregon City Manufacturing company has not been on full schedule for the past month, he hoped to see the wheels turning regularly during the coming year.

Those on the program of entertainment were Jerry Ryan, Gertrude Donery, Gena Branstrom, May Dearborn Schwab. After the excellent numbers were rendered, Santa Claus made his appearance and distributed gifts from an elaborately decorated Christmas tree on the floor. THE CHANCE.

I sat in a game one evening, With some congenial pards; The gods were kind in dealing, And gave me handsome cards.

"I'll raise it five," Said Freckles, And flipped his chips in the pot, Then several of us called him, For blood was running hot.

Two pairs came in the dealing, Another came in the draw; As luck was in my favor, The game was mine by law.

But Freckles had more courage, And would not say enough; I winced a bit then weakened, And lost out on a bluff.

Again the fates in dealing, Gave me a setting hand; And I had every prospect, The tempting pot to land.

My heart was full of gladness, I called their eager rush; But Freckles beat me to it, He had a royal flush.

He took my last lone dollar, For I had bet my pile, Because the chance of winning, Is what makes life worth while.

We Doff Our Hat To Mr. Ed. Johnson of Oregon, City, Ore.

Probably one of the most philanthropic acts in the annals of the county took place this week when Ed. Johnson, proprietor of the O. K. Barber shop of this city, executed over 150 haircuts at the St. Agnes baby home free of charge. The little orphans of the home were sadly in need of a hair-trim, and as the funds of the institution are not great, the sisters each year depend upon Johnson for the tonorial needs of the youngsters.

"Ed." was called upon Tuesday to do the job, and sharpening up his clippers, and securing a satchel, he started out for the joys work. So many of the little orphans needed a hair-trim, that after working all day Tuesday, Johnson was compelled to call in a helper, and finished up the job late Wednesday afternoon. Not only did Johnson do the job, or jobs, free of charge, but he waded through about three feet of water to get to the home, at that.

Nearly all of the taxpayers on the Gladstone side of the river are in favor of the proposed road. It is absurd that the Live Wires will condemn a proposition like this, when it would benefit all concerned. The present road by Parkplace is a disgrace to any county, and today with five feet of water in some places on that highway, Gladstone is shut off from Oregon City and territory beyond. I understand that Grant Dimick, in a statement at the Live Wire meeting said that the proposed fill for the new road would cost in the neighborhood of $125,000. This statement is preposterous, and I am satisfied that the fill could be made for between 25 and 30 cents per yard.

"Gladstone is shut off from Oregon City and points south today, for the reason that the present highway is under water. And every year it is the same. Hundreds of automobiles are stalled in Gladstone right now for the reason that they cannot get through on account of this water. If the present highway is graded any where near above low water mark, it will cost more than the new proposed fill along the electric line. It is just such selfishness on the part of certain interests and the Live Wires included, that causes Gladstone to favor a county division movement today. The proposed road is in line with a progressive movement, and perfectable feasible, and I can't understand why certain men of Oregon City and Clackamas county will "yell their heads off" when a progressive and practicable idea likes this comes up for consideration."
