LOCALS AND PERSONALS

The party composed of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cartlidge and their nieces, Lucile and Louise Cartlidge, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Freytag, Mrs. Alice Mc-Kinnon, Mrs. E. E. Tressler and Mr. Dick, the latter two of Portland, who left here Friday morning to spend New Year's day at Seaside, Oregon, returned to Oregon City Sunday morning. The party made the trip by automobiles, and although they passed places where they were washouts and landslides, no inconvenience was suffered by members of the party. While at the resort they occupied the beautifully furnished home of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, which overlooks the ocean, and which is one of the most attractive summer homes at that place. Among the features of the visit of the Oregon City and Portland people while enjoying this tenroom home was the glaborate New Year's dinner, when turkey and all that goes with it, were enjoyed. The table was beautifully decorated with red berries and trailing vines that were gathered near the beach.
