

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

Rainy Period Best for Canby Farmers

CANBY, Feb. 16.—Although the people of this section have experienced one of the rainiest seasons, they still have in mind of the terrible weather experienced last winter when hundreds of fruit trees were killed and have been uprooted. Many farmers, who had spent years in fruit growing, are now digging up what remains of the trees destroyed by the cold winter of 1919-20 and are satisfied with the present weather. Among the fruit growers affected are Robert Coe, whose trees that have been killed, are being dug up to make room for other fruit. Mr. Coe was one of the most extensive fruitgrowers in Canby, and now says the rain is good enough for him.

The fall snow grain has been benefited by the heavy rains, and all through this section the fields are green with growing wheat and oats.

PET DOG LOST

CANBY, Feb. 16.—Although every effort has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Estes, of this city, to find their missing dog, "Duke", they have been unsuccessful in finding any trace of his. "Duke" disappeared from the Estes home Sunday, February 6th, and the last seen of him was near the fir grove on the Estes place. Mr. and Mrs. Estes have visited Portland, Oregon City, Milwaukie and Molalla, where there clues leading from their advertisements, messages have come from all those sections, claiming to have the dog, but when investigation was made, proved to be the wrong animal.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes are offering a reward of $15 for the return of their pet, and no questions asked. Word came to the Estes home that the "wild" dog at Sellwood might be "Duke", so Mr. and Mrs. Estes hastened to the scene where the dog had his haunts, and although they were unable to find the dog after their arrival, the description of the animal failed to tally with that of the Estes dog. Sheriff Wilson has also been making every effort to locate the dog.

By the same vote, the senate also later approved house bill 203, which provides for the creation of what will be known as the World War Veterans' Aid Fund and prescribes the manner in which the bonuses shall be paid and the loans executed.

CLUE TO LOST GIRL ENDS AT RIDGEFIELD

A report is current here that the mysterious disappearance of Edna Zwiker has not been caused by the girl being abducted, but that she disappeared on her own accord and just before leaving Oregon City, she asked a girl friend to accompany her, and the friend refused. It is said she was seen near Ridgefield, Wash., last Wednesday morning by a rancher of that place.

The sheriff's office here has been advised of the information and a deputy has been put on the case. Miss Zwiker disappeared from this city on Jan. 30, supposedly to stay overnight in Portland. After several days had elapsed without the young lady returning, relatives gave out the information to the press and police as to her disappearance. It was first thought that the young woman had met with foul play, but later clues brought to light give the police the opinion that she disappeared on her own accord.

Why Not Half Cents?

Agitation continues for a Roosevelt two-cent piece. Here's another idea for a new coin. Why not a half-cent piece? Mother goes to the grocery to make her daily purchases. Eggs 66½ cents, butter 63½ cents, grape fruit 12½ cents, oranges 55 cents a dozen, but if she wants a half-dozen only they are 27½ cents. Mother pays the extra half-cent.

Dad stops to buy gasoline for the flivver. He learns it is 31½ cents a gallon. Does Dad get the extra half-cent? Not so. The gas station man gets it.

And so on at the dry goods shop and the drug store. The storekeeper gets the half-cent.

One day, just for fun, one man kept track of the half-cent he paid out in that way, and it totaled 10 whole copper cents. And then he started figuring, why, in two days that would be 20 cents, in three days 30, and so on. By the time he got through figuring he had a nice-sized bank account, had patronized all the movies he wanted to, and every time his little boy asked for an ice cream cone, he had said, "Sure, sonny, I saved 10 cents today."

You can make two cents up from two one cent pieces, but you can't cut a one cent piece in half. So why not a Roosevelt half-cent piece? Or a Ben Franklin half-cent piece, since he was the father of thrift?

Now that a lot of men have been given some inducement to let it alone, they are contrary enough to pay $16 a quart.

It usually happens that the man who "goes up in the air" has not been thoughtful enough to provide landing facilities.

Reparations is the term applied by the French to the demands made on Germany, but the Germans use a different term.

While many a man admits that justice should be blind, he hopes she can see enough to wink at some of the things he does.

The Germans are said to have adopted the Kluklux Klan, an American idea of which this country has no reason to feel proud.

SMALL CLAIMED TO HAVE BEEN SEEN IN CANADA

In a letter addressed to John Frobel, of the Electric hotel here, from his niece Mrs. Frobel, of Canada, contains the information that the famous John Doughty, captured here by Constable Fortuno, and Ed. Richardson some time ago, is now out on bail. Doughty alleges that the bonds which he turned over to the Canadian authorities were promised him by his employer Andreose Small, millionaire theater magnate, whom Doughty is accused of murdering. Doughty also asserts that he knows nothing of the whereabouts of Small, and the last he saw of him was at the theater before his disappearance.

The following article concerning the missing millionaire is clipped from the Toronto Ont., paper under recent date:

"There is a bare possibility that the unknown man wandering about Kemptville may be Ambrose J. Small, the missing Toronto millionaire.

"In a telegram from Kemptville police this afternoon received at police headquarters it is stated that the circling sent by the Toronto police, giving a likeness and description of Mr. Small, answers the description of the man at Kemptville, except that the latter has his hair parted in the center.

"When Mr. Small disappeared, he parted his hair on the left side, and did not have any tattoo marks on his arms or body, which the Kemptville man is said to have. If he is Mr. Small, identification could be made by the examination of his left foot, which has a hammer toe."

8,500 TONS OF FOOD SENT TO STARVING AREA

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The first annual report from the European Relief Council's warehouse at Linz, Austria, received in San Francisco today, shows a distribution of 8,500 tons of foodstuffs which have relieved the suffering of 120,000 undernourished children in the northern section of the country during the past year.

In addition clothing to a value of $443,934.55 has been given the destitute children from the several relief stations deriving their supplies from the warehouse. The distribution of this wearing apparel was as necessary to the welfare of the little war victims as the food itself, for all of them are so utterly destitute they had insufficient clothing to enable them to go to the feeding station in winter weather for their one hot meal a day.

The operation of the warehouse at Linz is typical of that of 27 others maintained at Central points in all the countries of Europe where the effects of the world war have been so demoralizing that the continuance of child life has been dependent upon American aid. The condition is expected to greatly relieve in most of the stricken countries by the next harvest. Until that time, however, it is essential that American agencies continue their relief if they would avoid an appalling toll of death among children.

Miss Carvela refused to leave her, but stayed while efforts were being made by Attorney Tlex Sweek to get a waiver for the aunt.

While on the island the girl was taken ill and, according to the word received by Bussin, died last Thursday and was buried Sunday.
