

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

Canby Bus Line Has New Headquarters

CANBY, Feb. 23.—M. J. Lee has rented the building on Main street owned by Wilson Evans, where he has made many changes and is now using this for a waiting room for convenience of passengers on the Canby-Oregon City bus. This has been found to be a great convenience to those patronizing the stage line, as heretofore passengers were compelled to take shelter in the postoffice or remain out in the rain.

Mr. Lee is deserving of much credit in establishing the bus line between this city and Oregon City, and his passengers receive every attention for their comfort while making the trips.

By establishing this bus line it has enabled men of this city to make their daily trips to and from their employment at the paper and woolen mills. A number of the young women of this city are also taking advantage of the bus line, when securing positions with the Oregon City woolen mills.

Mr. Lee will establish the Woodburn-Oregon City bus in the near future, having an extra car now which he intends placing on, making three cars now in his possession.

Molalla Wins Basket Ball Game from Canby

CANBY, Feb. 23.—A large audience witnessed the basket ball game between Molalla and Canby high school teams last Friday evening at the gymnasium in Molalla.

Those witnessing the game claimed it to be "the long and short" of teams, the Molalla boys having advantage of the home boys by height, and was easy for them to place the ball in the baskets.

Both games of the evening were won by Molalla, but the Canby teams are "game" and are ready to meet other teams.

A number of the boys from Canby accompanied them, enjoying the trip and game.

Concrete Walks Are Under Construction

William Barlow is getting out piling for the railroad company. James Evans of this place, has purchased two lots from W. S. Kellogg. Mr. Evans intends soon to begin the erection of suitable buildings for a drug and furniture store.

There is a good opening here for a hardware store, boot and shoe shop barber shop and cannery. Live, energetic men would do well to locate here and enter into such business. Last Thursday S. A. D. Gurley closed the Canby school. The directors were present and expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the manner in which the school had been taught. Of receipt of the sad news of the hero of Atlanta, the Stars and Stripes were placed at half mast. The passing away of General Sherman removes the last of the three of the most conspicuous soldiers of the country—Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. The hero of the Appomattox, whose soldierly qualities shine with a brighter lustre as the years roll on, recognized in Sherman and Sheridan the attributes of great commanders. It is a pleasure to know that the friendship that existed between these heroes of so many battles was as sincere as steadfast. So long as there are Americans, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan will be held in grateful remembrance.

SESSION ENDS AND DIVISION BILLS ARE DEAD

SALEM, Or., Feb. 23.—(Special to the enterprise).—While the Thirty-first Legislative Assembly was passing into history amidst a whirl of horse play and semi-serious deliberation this afternoon, rumor has it that the Clackamas county division bill did not get out of the senate committee on counties.

In this ignoble wise did the proposed secession of northern Clackamas county die.

With Senator Joseph muzzled by being forced to act as temporary speaker, Senator Moser took occasion of his situation to have some fun with his colleague from Multnomah, during which Senator Banks set forth to dress down Moser after the fashion in which Joseph and Moser clashed a few days ago.

Moser turned the fire onto Banks by demanding that the report on the Clackamas county secession bill be produced, but investigation brought forth the information that Senator Hume, chairman of the committee, was at that moment speeding toward Portland carrying the bill in his pocket.

The legislature adjourned about four o'clock and the bill is dead.

The H. N. Everhart undertaking establishment has charge of the funeral arrangements.

JUSTICE AT GRESHAM GETS NO BUSINESS

Justice Borwn has but one case on his docket, a suit by one of the merchants against a customer, and if it was not for real estate business the representative of the judiciary of the state in Gresham would suffer for the necessities of life. However, as the days grow longer and more and more people come to his door seeking homes and garden plots and farms and timber lands, the face of the justice grows shorter and occasionally breaks out in smiles. The old world looks young again, and he concludes to hang on to the seat of justice a while longer.

BILL CALLS FOR A COMMUNITY HOUSE HERE

STATE HOUSE, Salem, Feb. 22.—By unanimous vote the house this morning passed senate bill 359, authorizing incorporated cities and towns to purchase sites, and erect and maintain community houses for the benefit of soldiers, sailors and marines of the army and navy. It was explained that this act would enable several Oregon cities to take such action by amending their charters, and that steps toward this end already have been taken by the city of Hillsboro, where it is proposed to erect a commodious community house.

MRS. R. TATE ADDRESSES THE WOMAN'S CLUB

An interesting and instructive lecture on social hygiene was given by Mrs. Robert Tate of Portland to a full house under the auspices of the Woman's club at the Commercial parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Tate has a charming personality and was warmly greeted by many who first met her at Chautauqua. The day before she addressed a bevy of high school girls in Portland.

Who Has Easy Money?

The National Nonpartisan League, that great aggregation of Socialists headed by A. C. Townley, is asking for donations of $100 to $500 to finance an initial campaign of the League in Oregon. If $10,000 to $15,000 is subscribed the Leaguers will begin work at once. It is explained that the money will be used to purchase automobiles and to cover the salary and expense of getting organizers into the state. In the words of D. C. Dorman, manager of the national organization department:

"That the League is coming into your state is a certainty, but the time is largely determined by conditions to be met, especially with reference to funds which can come from no other source than the farmers and workers themselves."

This is an opportunity for patriots. Such lovers of the League as Charles E. Spence and R. E. Cherrick ought not to hesitate in the face of this appeal, but should dig down and subscribe liberally to bring to Oregon the crowd of manipulators who have turned the state of North Dakota upside down and made it the financial joke of the nation.

Meanwhile the farmers of Oregon are organizing the farm bureau movement, with every prospect of success. If the bureau becomes well established and is rightly managed, there will be as much of a welcome for the League as for North Dakota weather. We do not anticipate a ready response to the call for money to buy automobiles for men whose chief object will be to extract membership fees from the pockets of the farmer.

Few persons in this country know what bolshevism is, but they know what it is not, and that is condemnation enough.

When a man does not want to do a thing which his heart prompts, he flatters himself that he is a hard-headed business man.

Human nature is still very much the same, except that there are more things now over which a man may make a fool of himself.

It is sometimes amusing to observe the class of persons who are doing most of the worrying about the liberties of the people.

Any married man knows that another married man is trying a bluff when he seeks to create the impression that he is boss in his own home.

PAPER WORKER SLIGHTLY HURT BY HEAVY LOG

C. Paul Wagner, an employe of the Crown Willamette Paper company, was injured at the mills Wednesday afternoon, when he was struck by a log. He was rushed to the Oregon City hospital, where he was examined by physicians, and found to be suffering from a shock and a few minor bruises. No bones were broken.

BONUS BILL ELECTION WILL COST $150,000

STATE HOUSE, Salem, Or., Feb. 23.—There will be a special election in June, which will cost the people of the state approximately $150,000. This special election, which will call into play all of the elaborate machinery, is for the purpose of submitting just one measure to the people; the soldier bonus bill.

IDENTITY OF MAN FOUND IN WOODS STILL MYSTERY

PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—Deputy sheriffs and city detectives yesterday bent every effort toward establishing the identity of the body found on the Hoffman ranch, near the Barnes road, with three fatal bullet wounds in the head, through two laundry marks found on handkerchiefs which were in the pockets of the dead man.

On one handkerchief the laundry mark "R 1" appeared and on the other was the mark "303." A careful check of marks used by all Portland laundries was made during the day and deputy sheriffs late in the afternoon were tracing down clues which were given by the latter mark.

That the man was murdered there is no doubt at all in the minds of the officials conducting the investigation. They are likewise confident that a clearance of the mystery will reveal the presence of a woman. There were several points brought out in the investigation which gave strong indications of this nature. Chief of these points was the finding of a pair of woman's black gloves in the pockets of the dead man. A silk handkerchief with a floral border also was found. It bore no laundry mark, nor was there any mark on the gloves which might serve in establishing their identification.

Police Inspector Swennes, who worked with deputy sheriffs on the investigation, clings to the belief that the man was shot and killed by an enraged husband who caught the man with his wife. He does not believe robbery was the motive for the killing.

SPENCER, OF BEND, VISITS ON INSPECTION

Ralph Spencer, foreman of the Evening Bulletin at Bend, Oregon, has taken his first trip out of central Oregon in 17 years. He moved out from Chicago before Bend had become the hustling city that it now is, and was connected with the Bulletin under the ownership of J. M. Lawrence before the paper was acquired by George Palmer Putnam, who later sold it to Robert W. Sawyer. Spencer, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, has been spending a few days in Oregon City looking over the plant of the Morning Enterprise and absorbing information that will be of use to him when he returns home. He has inspected a number of newspaper plants in Eastern Oregon, and said the Enterprise has the best equipped plant and most modern building that he has seen.
