

THE DALLES TEACHERS STRONGLY OPPOSED TO P.-T. ASSOCIATIONS

THE DALLES, April 15.—Teachers of The Dalles took occasion to express their opinions of Parent-Teacher associations in unsparring terms when the organization of that name was reorganized here Wednesday evening.

Teachers of the city are generally opposed to a local Parent-Teacher association, according to Miss Lucenia Huddleston, a teacher who attended the meeting, because the parents get together and engage in personal discussion instead of constructive planning for closer cooperation between the groups.

Mothers, peeved because their children are not promoted or have been subjected to school discipline, take opportunity in the association's meetings to vent their animosity against the teacher, Miss Huddleston declared.

R. L. Kirk, superintendent of the schools also appeared and made the assertion that Parent-Teacher organizations, as shown by general experience over the United States, had not proven successful.

"I believe a ballot of all teachers in the nation would show that 95 per cent of them are opposed to the associations," he said.

FRUIT EXPERT COMING TO AID VALLEY FOLK

SALEM, Or., April 19 (Special).—Senator Charles L. McNary has obtained from the department of agriculture promise of an expert from the fruit culture division, who will be sent to Salem to assist Willamette valley fruit growers in packing and marketing their product for long distance shipment.

The expert, who will come from the Spokane office of the department, will make his headquarters here, but will tour the principal fruit sections of the valley, instructing farmers and agents of cooperative growers' associations how to handle fruit and vegetables so that they will stand shipment.

At the present time, it is said, much Oregon fruit and large quantities of broccoli and cauliflower, that should be shipped to outside markets, is sold at a loss because the growers are not familiar with the best methods of preparing for shipment.

Senator McNary obtained, at the last session of congress, an extra appropriation of $10,000 for instruction work of this nature by the department of agriculture.

FISH WARDENS CAUSE ARREST OF FOUR MEN

Four local men were arrested on warrants sworn out by Fish Warden Brown and Stuart Tuesday and were arrested on the charge of resisting an officer and fishing above the dead line near the falls in the Willamette river at this point. The men held are "Dutch" Wilson, Clint Warren, Robert McKinnis and Keith Hadley. All four men had a preliminary hearing before Judge Noble Tuesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, and were placed under $100 bail each to appear for trial this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

ROBBERS GET $18 AT BEAVER CREEK STORE

Robbers entered the Cooperative Merchandise store at Beaver Creek last night and taking the cash register from the store and placing it in the road, emptied the register of its contents, amounting to about $18. No clue to the yeggs has developed so far, and Sheriff Wilson is making an investigation in the neighborhood.

"In Every Respect" says the Good Judge

You get more genuine chewing satisfaction from the Real Tobacco Chew than you ever got from the ordinary kind. The good tobacco taste lasts so long—a small chew of this class of tobacco lasts much longer than a big chew of the old kind. That's why it costs less to use.

Any man who has used both kinds will tell you that.

Put up in two styles

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco
RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

Poker Obligation Causes Arrest of Portland Player

Failure of Joseph Mozorosky to pay the judgment of $1600 returned by a jury in Judge Stapleton's court two weeks ago in favor of Sol Swire, loser to Mozorosky at gambling, resulted in an execution against the body being issued Monday morning and the throwing of Mozorosky in the county jail. Shortly before 5 o'clock Monday afternoon Presiding Circuit Judge Kavanaugh issued a writ of habeas corpus returnable before Judge Stapleton at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Innovation of this old, seldom-used law through which a man may be imprisoned temporarily for debt was the move of Henry E. McGinn, former circuit judge, who represented Swire in the recent civil action.

In the petition for writ of habeas corpus, John H. Stevenson and J. J. Fitzgerald, attorneys for Mozorosky, contend that his imprisonment is unconstitutional, asserting that the debt incurred by Mozorosky is not founded on fraud, that he is not an absconding debtor and that there is no warrant of law for such an execution.

Swire filed suit for $1600 against Mozorosky on the ground that the latter had won $800 from him at poker. Under an Oregon law a loser at gambling may sue the winner and recover damages double the amount of the loss. The statue was designed to discourage gambling. Attorney McGinn won for Swire, receiving judgment for the full amount demanded.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB PERFECTS ORGANIZATION

Al A. Price and Edward J. Busch were elected members of the board of directors of the Clackamas County Business Men's association at the first regular meeting held Tuesday evening at the Commercial club. With the five other members previously appointed and the regular officers of the club, the board now includes ten members, representing different sections of the county.

Standing committees as follows are to be appointed by President Linn E. Jones: Membership, entertainment, advertising and home products. Each committee will have a general chairman, who in turn will select assistants in various parts of the county. The association by adoption of the constitution and by-laws affiliated themselves with the Oregon State Retail Merchants' association.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, May 3rd. A committee from the Commercial club visited the meeting and proffered the use of the club rooms for the association's headquarters, which was accepted with a vote of thanks.

A meeting of the board of directors will be held within the next few days to select a secretary, who will be at the active head of the detail work of the association.

FIRM BUYS FRONTAGE ON MAIN STREET

Another important deal for Main street property was closed Thursday afternoon when the firm of Feltelson & Carlson, of this city, secured from Hogg Bros. 34x105 feet of frontage which the Commercial club publicity building is now situated, and which adjoins the Hogg Bros' furniture store. The consideration paid was $8000.

The new owners will build a one-story fire-proof building on the land some time next year and which will include two store rooms, one to be used by Feltelson & Carlson for a shoe repairing business and the other leased. The deal Thursday followed that made by Hogg Bros. when they acquired the entire quarter block of the Weinhard estate holdings on 8th and Main streets, by buying the property north of their present furniture store. Hogg Bros. also acquired the land back of their store running up to the railroad tracks, and expect to erect a warehouse there, which will be convenient for the handling of railroad shipments of freight from the S. P.

WOOL GROWERS HOLD MEETING HERE TUESDAY

A meeting of the Clackamas County Wool Growers took place in the county agent's office in this city Tuesday afternoon, when the assembly was addressed by R. A. Ward, general manager of the Wool and Mohair Growers' organization of Oregon. Business pertaining to market conditions and other important features of the industry were discussed. I. W. Smith, of Mackburg, and Col. Aird, two prominent local workers, were present and took part in the discussion and conference.

Awarded Judgement of $180 by Jury

B. F. Mickelson was awarded $180 judgement against August Olson by a justice court jury Tuesday afternoon. Mickelson entered suit to collect money over a blacksmith shop deal he had with Olson. Grant B. Dimick was the attorney for the plaintiff and Earl C. Latourette for the defendant.

The Willamette Valley will hereafter be known as one of the western centers for broccoli growing. About 200 acres will be planted in Polk and Marion counties within shipping distance of Salem. The Independence growers will probably put in 50 acres this season and farmers living near the river will probably plant a sufficient acreage to make that city a shipping point.

Herman T. Lauser of Portland, was in this city Monday and Tuesday.

Five Mexicans Are Deported

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 15.—F. N. Caldwell employed with the United States Immigration department, completed his work in Coos and Curry counties Thursday and left to report first in Portland and then at Nogales, Ariz., where he was ordered. In the two counties Mr. Caldwell, looking for Mexicans in the United States under the war-time act, found five who were employed. They must be returned to Mexico and, if they so desired, could not become American citizens until they had first returned to their native land and then properly enter the United States according to regulations.

Kylo Returned to Sheriff by Bondsmen

Axel Kylo, indicted on a statutory charge by the last Clackamas county grand jury and who was released on $1000 bonds, put up by two bondsmen in the Wilsonville neighborhood, was brought back to the sheriff's office last night and turned over to the sheriff by the bondsmen. It is reported that such a disturbance was created when the Wilsonville people found out that the men guaranteed Kylo's bond, that they brought Kylo back to this city and refused to insure his appearance.

C. O. Coyne, of Idaho, was in Oregon City Sunday, where he visited friends.

Help for the Asking

The failure of Oregon City to subscribe for $105,000 bonds to assist in the construction of a new bridge across the Willamette is not due to lack of appreciation of the need for a modern structure. It is not so many months ago that the banking institutions of this community, backed by a campaign of education in the newspapers, over-subscribed an issue of more than $250,000, obtaining the cooperation of public spirited individuals, one of whom offered to take $50,000 of the bonds.

Five per cent bonds, under present financial conditions, are not an attractive investment. Unless local pride can be enlisted, and it can be securities of this class will go begging. It is not reasonable to expect investors to rush madly in pursuit of bonds bearing five per cent, when the market is glutted with seven per cent paper, just as safe and sure as a Clackamas county road bond.

Oregon City people, however, are a loyal element. Their desire for a new bridge was well demonstrated when they cast their votes heavily in favor of the issuance of bonds, after an intensive campaign of education was carried on. They have as much patriotism for the good of their town and county as any other community.

But they must be advised. They have troubles of their own. They do not have time to hang around the courthouse day after day to learn if they may be of service, but they are usually "Johnny-on-the-spot" to aid in any legitimate cause when called upon.

So we venture to suggest to the county court that it no longer pursue a gum-shoe policy. If the court will take the public into its confidence, it will find the people responsive, but it cannot expect the people to wave their arms and shout with glee over a program of which they know nothing. There is a way to accomplish results, through frankly sought cooperation and there is a way to fail by holding close communion in an up-stairs room and finding fault with everybody and everything. Whenever the county court will indicate to the newspapers and to the financial interests that assistance is required, it will find a ready answer. Try it on.

Speaker Is Disturbed and Relieved of Silver Same as in Teeth

One of Painless Parkers' Heutenants was shouting on Seventh street last night to a large audience which had gathered around the auto.

"You see this silver dollar," cried the advocate of painless tooth-pulling, "has the same silver in it that I put in your teeth."

"Give me that dollar," said "Trig" Newman, head of the finance committee of the Crown-Willamette baseball team, who was standing near the speaker.

"What do you want it for?" asked the speaker.

"Want to sell you a ticket to the C.-W. Baseball benefit dance to be held Saturday night at the West Linn Inn," replied Newman.

"All right, give me the ticket," said the speaker as he produced another dollar to finish his lecture.

Suit Filed for Oak Grove Lot

Peter and Karen Swanson filed suit here Friday against Valdemar Lidell, administrator of the estate of the late Ivan Naslund, and the heirs of the estate asking for title to property on Oak Grove.

Plaintiffs allege that Naslund had agreed to will them property providing that they gave him a home at their house and a place to keep his personal effects. They also allege that they paid the taxes but after Naslund died, it was discovered that no will had been left.

It is best by all means to follow closely the directions given for operating an incubator. But if, through accident or carelessness, the temperature varies greatly, there is no need to assume that the eggs are wholly ruined and destroy them. A well-known poultry editor once left an entire incubator full of eggs sitting in a tray on top of the incubator an entire night, with barely noticeable bad results. And many times setting hens have died on their nests at night, the eggs getting cold through, without seemingly injuring the germs. The Egyptians who have practiced artificial incubation for centuries endeavor to maintain a temperature of between 90 and 105 degrees, giving a wide range of 15 degrees. This is mentioned not to encourage carelessness, as undoubtedly the chicks will be stronger, if a more equable temperature is maintained, but puts to emphasize the fact that usually it is worth while to complete a setting once started.—Farm Life.

Wife Says Husband Cruel and Inhuman

Bessie Hanlon has entered suit for divorce from John Hanlon on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, according to the complaint filed Thursday in the circuit court. They were married January 27, 1915, and the plaintiff asks that the court restore her maiden name, that of Bessie Durfee, and grant her a complete divorce. She gives her residence as Clackamas county.

MISS FORD HOME

Miss Sadye Evelyn Ford, a pianist of this city, who left in September for New York to take a special course in piano instruction, arrived in Oregon City Saturday morning. Although Miss Ford has had a delightful time besides taking up her musical studies while in New York, and has seen much of the eastern states, she says there is none to compare with old Oregon. Having traveled along the Potomac and the Hudson besides other scenic rivers, she says none compares with the scenic Columbia river, and that the train could not carry her fast enough after starting westward.

While enroute to Oregon City she was the guest of Mrs. B. N. Hicks, formerly Miss Nellie Swafford, of this city, now residing at Milwaukie, Wisconsin, who is also looking forward to the time when returning to the western coast. Miss Pauline Hicks, formerly of Oregon City, and daughter-in-law of Mrs. B. N. Hicks, is now society editor of the Milwaukie Journal.

Somebody Ask Bill How Long It Takes Doc to Fish a 2x4

Trout fishing may be kept sport, but someone ask Bill Stokes how long it takes Dr. Nash to fish a stream 2x4. Bill and Doc started out bright and early Friday morning in the Nash machine for Milk Creek. They arrived there in the "wee" hours, and after angling awhile, Doc informed Bill that he was going down stream for a few minutes.

Bill sat himself down on a log, pulled out a smoke, and started in to wait for Doc. He kept waitin' and waitin', and along about 2 in the afternoon, an auto load of Oregon City sports stopped and asked Bill what he was doing.

"?????" said Bill, "I've been waitin' for that blankety-blank nut, for the past four hours. He promises to be back here in a few minutes. What's the chance of gettin' a ride back to Oregon City?"

But alas, the sports were going around by way of Molalla, and poor Bill, the last the bunch saw of him, he was dangling his feet in the water, and thinking up what he'd tell Doc when he came in.

ROMAN PLAY BY HIGH STUDENTS UNIQUE AFFAIR

One of the intellectual treats of the season was given a few days ago, in the auditorium of the Oregon City high school by the sophomore Caesar class. The so-called treat was in the form of a play, which was a scene from a Roman school in 90, B. C.

Among the characters were Roman boys who in later years were very famous in the annals of history. In the play two orations were given that really might have been delivered by Caesar or Cicero in their boyhood days. Besides these orations, Latin versions of some modern poems were given which were "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star," "Three Wise Men from Gotham," and "Little Jack Horner," and "Jack and Jill." "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung very impressively in Latin.

Each character looked very dignified in his Roman toga, from the two judges, who awarded the prize for the best oration to the servants who assisted in punishing a tardy pupil. The play concluded with a poem recited partly in English by a young orator, at the urgent request of the pupils.

The cast was as follows:

Teacher, Helen Harris; scholars, Marcus Tullius Cicero, Louise J. Noble; Lucius Tullius Cicero, Blanche Thorpe; Lucius Sergius Catilina, Mildred Hull; Marcus Antoninus, Edwin Roake; Gaius Julius Caesar, Helen L. Tooze; Appius Claudius Caesar, Mabel A. Dawson; Gnaeus Pompeius, Mary Kessi; Publius Clodius Pulcher, Irene E. Trimble; Marcus Iunius Brutus, Katherine Kirk; Quintus Hortensius Hortalus, Emma Hall; Lucius Lucullus, Mary Campbell; Gaius Claudius Marcellus, Ivan Glinther; Marcus Claudius Marcellus, Marguerite Jackson; servi, servants, Walter Cole, Charles Flegler; pedagogues, Martin Litzburg; Judges, judges, William Lightbowler, Dwight Hedges.

Pine Creek Also Closed for Trout

In publishing the list of streams that are closed to trout fishermen in Clackamas county, that of Pine Creek was omitted by an oversight. This stream makes the fourth one that is closed by the game commission for the catching of trout.

Garage to Install Largest Plate Glass Front in This City

The Pacific Highway garage, local Ford Motor company representatives, will soon install in the front of their salesrooms, plate glass, which will be generously larger than any yet placed in this city. New improvements recently completed by the garage to the interior of the show rooms are large comfortable reed chairs, table, magazines, etc., with such an arrangement that one receives more the impression of being in some fashionable club than in an automobile salesroom. Large awnings of be coming color have been hung on the south and east exposures of the building, greatly improving the appearance of the new fireproof location as well as contributing in no small degree to a comfortable interior.
