PUBLICITY PLANS LAID FOR HOME-SEEKERS TRIP

To derive its proportionate share of visitors from the Oregon Homeseekers' excursion to be staged by the State Chamber of Commerce in July, Clackamas county is organizing a publicity campaign, to be supplemented in all probability by the presence of a personal representative on the trip. Preliminary plans for getting out suitable literature and financing the expense of a man to represent the county were laid at a joint meeting of the board of governors of the Commercial club and the realty men of the county Wednesday evening. On a committee appointed to take charge of the work are A. C. Howland, Oregon City; Gordon Taylor, Molalla, and Stanley Zelasko, of Milwaukie, representing the real estate dealers, and O. D. Eby and E. E. Brodie for the Commercial club.

The Homeseekers' Excursion, promoted by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, will be a personally conducted tour of persons interested in locating in Oregon. The party will comprise some 300 or 400 people from the middle west, the train making up at Omaha and coming direct to Oregon. Men representing the State Chamber are now in Omaha arranging the details of the trip and securing settlers to sign up for the excursion.

The opportunity presented the several localities interested in adding to their population is considered exceptional, inasmuch as there is a preferred list of prospects coming on the excursion. Many counties have already organized to bombard the excursionists with their literature and to have fluent representatives extol the virtues of their localities, but Clackamas county with its diversity of agriculture, livestock, manufacturing and other activities, and its nearness to the metropolis of the state is considered ahead of the field, with possibilities of reaping a great return.

An automobile tour of the county, with a banquet as a feature, will probably be part of the program of entertainment provided by the committee handling the affair. Booklets, showing pictorially the development of the county and containing valuable information for the homeseeker will be issued and distributed not only to members of the July excursion party, but will be sent to other sections of the east in answer to the many inquiries received here.
