CANBY TEACHERS FOR COMING YEAR ELECTED

CANBY, June 29.—Three teachers of the Canby high school have been re-elected to teach the fall term. These are Mrs. Pearl Gregory Cartledge, superintendent; Miss Mary E. Eyre and Mrs. Evangeline Hutchinson.

Mrs. Pearl Gregory Cartledge. (Re-elected for City Superintendent)

no woman in the state has held such a high position in a more creditable manner than she. It was during the war times that Mrs. Cartledge was prevailed upon by the school board to become superintendent. Having had much experience in teaching she was well suited for the position given her in this city, and has won the esteem of all patrons of the institution.

Mrs. Hutchinson, who is a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College, is another competent instructor who has been re-elected for her position. Before taking the position in the Canby high school Mrs. Hutchinson engaged in teaching in the state of Washington. She is also held in the highest esteem by the patrons of the school.

Miss Eyre, whose home is in Salem, and who has been an instructor in the Independence school for the past year, will return to Canby in September to resume a position held in the high school two years ago.

CANBY, June 28.—Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Stauffer, of Portland, have arrived in Canby, where they have taken possession of their home, recently purchased from Mrs. Annie Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer purchased the Jersey cow of Mrs. Cline, and are enjoying country life during the summer vacation. Mr. Stauffer is a principal of a school in Portland, and has spent each summer at his farm in the Redland section until this year.

NOSE DIVES and TAIL SPINS

(BY W. W. Woodbeck)

The Armistice was signed November 11, 1918.

A few days later the kaiser Moved his household effects into Holland.

From the press reports Which we regret to say, are not

So accurate as this column, We glean the information

That he is still in Comfortable circumstances.

In Germany there are a few people Who still have a fond feeling

For the old ? ? ? ? ? Say, friends, I have to go up

To the library and see If they have any new publications

That will give a name With a sulphuric accent

To enable me to properly express What I want to call him

Without subjecting me To a reprimand from Rev. H.G. Edgar.

What we wished to suggest was That there has been a lot of Conversation regarding a trial For his former majesty.

Clackamas County is the home of Henry Albers,

Who has been prominently Mentioned as an Undesirable citizen. Maybe we might induce

The kaiser to visit America And be tried jointly with Albers.

If convicted there is still A shining hope that

A convenient error may be found, Anyway the trial would consume

Several days. During that time

Some of the Portland people Who insist on getting married in

Vancouver And coming down to Oregon City

Two or three days later And musing up the records

With an application for a divorce Would get in the habit

Of patronizing their own courts. P. S. Only thirteen more days

Before Chautauqua.

A resolution asking the state highway commission to establish as a policy the preferential employment of American citizens upon its highway work will be introduced at the state convention of the American Legion in Eugene by the local post, Willamette Falls, number 5.

The resolution, which will be acted upon by the local post at its meeting Monday night is founded on the contention of the legionnaires that foreigners are being employed on the road work in this vicinity. With the country in such an economic condition that work is scarce, the feeling is current in the local post that the ex-service men and the citizens of this country should be given the first call upon the jobs. Nothing is asked by the ex-soldiers for the man who is incompetent and who cannot hold a position, but their plea is for the efficient hard-working American, who due to war conditions has been thrown out of employment.

Another resolution will also be introduced by the local post urging the state commander to make an annual visit of all of the posts. This is proposed in order to keep the state officers more fully in touch with the activities of the legionnaires over the state.

Three delegates from this city will attend the Eugene convention which is to be held July 1 and 2. They are L. Harding, Ray Cooper and Phil Hammond

Two Drafted Men

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, called to the defense of his country, ran away. He is now a fugitive from justice. No matter what he may do with the rest of his life, the brand of coward and deserter is upon him forever. Honest men will despise him wherever he goes. Loyal women will hold him in aversion. Try to conceal it with what braggadocio he will, shame is his portion.

Russell Gross, called by the draft when Bergdoll failed to answer, "forced into service ahead of his turn by the slacker Bergdoll," answered his summons promptly, went overseas with his detachment, served honorably and died a hero's death in the Argonne. His citation for bravery records that "he displayed great heroism and self-sacrifice, and his example of unselfishness was an inspiration to the other men in his platoon." In his honor, Overlook Post of the American Legion in Philadelphia has changed its name to that of the dead hero, and is planning a special memorial to him.

One died, with a hero's heart. Men unite to honor him. His mother, however sorrowful she may be, can hold her head high to have borne such a son. One lives, with a coward's soul. Men scoff at his name, and his mother must try for the rest of her life to explain away his shame and her own.

ROAD WORK IS TOO HIGH; CALL HALT

BIDS DO NOT SATISFY COMMISSION.

Condition of Money Market Is Held too Unsettled to Warrant Action.

PORTLAND, Or., June 29.—Dissatisfied with the money market as reflected in the quotations offered for $1,500,000 of state road bonds, the highway commission decided to call a halt on new work for the time being.

"The commission," dictated Chairman Booth, to the official stenographer, putting the matter into the record, "will advertise no further work done this season, except in fulfillment of promises to counties from which the commission cannot be released."

Thus the commission prepared to shorten sail. If the commission adheres to this policy it will not materially effect the road program, for several hundred miles have been placed under contract already this year and it will simply mean postponing the placing of more new work under contract for a few months. This is the "big year" in highway construction in Oregon; the engineering force is rushed and the department has about all it can handle. Meanwhile, after a few months the money market will improve.

The half dozen culverts for unit No. 1 on the Mount Hood loop were awarded after being held up from the day before. Award of the bridge contract at Oregon City is expected just as soon as some details can be arranged.

O A C MAN HERE TO DO DAIRY EXTENSION WORK

E. B. Fitts of the Oregon Agricultural college, in charge of the dairy extension work, arrived in Oregon City Monday to spend the week here. Mr. Fitts is co-operating with the county farm bureau in its program of improvement of dairy herds. He is holding a series of meetings with the farmers, designed to help them in scientific methods of improvement of their cattle.

Special emphasis is being laid upon the matter of stock feeding, according to Mr. Fitts. He attended the meeting of Pamona grange here Tuesday, and will spend the remainder of his time visiting with the farmers and conducting educational meetings.

Mr. Fitts has visited this territory a number of times before and says he notices considerable improvement on the dairy farms. Yesterday, in company with County Agent W. A. Holt, he visited the dairy of Jacob Jose at Clatsop. This ranch, according to Mr. Fitts, is one of the best in the county, modern methods of care of the stock and sanitation being applied.

There is an increasing tendency on the part of farmers to breed pure bred cattle, says Mr. Fitts. A number of the Clackamas ranchers have some pure breeds and many are breeding them.

The work of the dairy extension service with which Mr. Fitts is connected is financed by the agricultural college with state and federal funds.

The season being short for such work every day will be utilized to the best advantage possible.

GRAIN FIGHT MENACE, SAY LOCAL MEN

NATIONAL DEALERS TO PREVENT POOL.

Clackamas Growers Will Be Affected by Result of Movement.

Press dispatches to the effect that the National Grain Dealers association is planning to institute an active fight against the United States Grain Growers associations is arousing considerable interest here among the local farmers, many of whom are affiliated with the national association through the state organization.

At a meeting in Cincinnati, an organization was formed to prevent the growers from gaining control of the wheat markets, which the dealers assert is being planned through a campaign to pool the farmers' grain under a six-year contract.

Such a movement, according to W. A. Holt, in charge of the local farm bureau, will affect not only the larger dealers but will influence the work and marketing of the crops handled by the local and state organizations.

Practically all of the great business associations concerned with the handling of foodstuffs, are expected, it was said, to join the association of the dealers. These include the United States Chamber of Commerce and other chambers of commerce; the Millers' National federation, the flour association, the National Feed Dealers' association, the National Hay association, the National Cotton Growers' association, growers of potatoes and of produce, wholesale grocers' association, country grain elevators, all grain exchanges, country banks and exporters on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.
