Dr. Doltz Speaks On Philippine Islands

SANDY, July 5—Interesting data on the Philippine question was given by Mrs. Bertha A. Purcell's brother, Dr. Paul Doltz, missionary, who was visiting here recently.

Dr. and Mrs. Doltz went to the islands in 1902 during the cholera epidemic, 193 victims being buried the day they landed at Ilo Ilo, and the first "missionary" work this reverend gentleman did was to make his house-boy "drunk as a lord."

Silliman Institute of which Dr. Doltz is vice-president and student pastor, has 900 pupils, Mrs. Doltz is teacher in this school.

This was the third trip home since the Doltzes went to the islands 19 years ago, and when they sailed last week it meant another 6 years of service.

For seven years these islanders have practically governed themselves. The insular government does now and always has been supported by insular taxation, only the federal army and navy having fingers in the U. S. treasury.

Dr. Doltz discussed the Japanese question and says democratic ideas are taking root very fast in Japan and he thinks Japan would not dare flout the sentiment of the world with China hostile and Europe uncertain.
