

Clackamas Country Rich In Charms for Motorist

(By Nan Cochran)

Among the popular summer resorts of Clackamas county for this season, that has already received its share of patronage is Wilhoit Springs, where you will find one of the wonderful springs of mineral water, which seems to be even better this year than any year heretofore. It may be due to the sanitary condition of the drinking fountains, which have recently been installed under the new management, instead of the old pump used for years. These sanitary drinking cups have been installed with a base of rock to represent a fountain of rustic architecture. Over the fountains is an artistically made "well" house, with rustic steps.

It was the writer's pleasure to enjoy an outing at this ideal summer resort last Sunday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ganong, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Greenman, of this city, who made the trip in the Ganong automobile.

As the trip was pre-arranged during "sunny" weather, Sunday morning looked somewhat gloomy for a motoring trip, especially when we had planned to partake of our lunch in the big grove at Wilhoit. We were convinced of the fact that Mr. Ganong, who is familiarly known everywhere as "Clark," was a careful driver, even though some of the roads would no doubt cause the machine to skid. Skidding or no skidding we decided to go to the springs, since we have heard so much of the many improvements that have been made at the resort during the past few months.

Farms Look Prosperous

We made the trip by way of Canby, through Mackburg and were not disappointed in going by this route. The sky commenced to clear soon after leaving Canby, and we passed through some of the richest farm land of Clackamas county. There were fields of growing grain that was already attaining the height of four and five feet, while in other fields the grain even looked higher than this. These fields were on both sides of the roads, many a farm home was set off by flowers of various shades lined the path that led to the little home, while in other sections there were larger homes of modern structure, with barns newly painted to house the prize cattle for some of the best registered stock is found in the section of the county through which we passed.

Trees Promise Good Crop

Fruit trees laden with fruit showed that they were receiving the attention of the owner of the farm, while in other orchards were moss covered trees that had seen better days and now dying from lack of care. Although a number of the trees showed that the winter of 1919-20 had a terrible effect, causing many to die, and some having been uprooted. It was also noticeable that some of these trees damaged by the severe weather were showing signs of life, new sprouts were shooting forth in different places. Several of the farmers, who had planted these trees years ago, and watched with interest their growth, are now encouraging the prospect of seeing them yield once more.

Roads are Good

We found the roads in good condition except in one place, where the new rock had just been placed, causing a puncture. This wasn't the only machine that suffered from punctured tires while making the trip to the resort on that day, for there were half a dozen we knew of that struck the same rock, at least we thought it was the same rock for when reaching Wilhoit each driver informed the other just where the accident occurred, so we made up our mind this rock did the damage, and were on the lookout for the "pebble" when making the return trip.

Many Visit Spruce

When passing along the roads through the forest it was a tonic, and even "knocked" the hay fever out of the passengers that we knew of while "tripping" to Wilhoit.

Arriving at the Springs we found a large delegation from various sections of Clackamas county already on the grounds, while others had arrived the previous night to spend the week-end in camp. Tents pitched here and there in the beautiful grove where massive trees including fir, hemlock, maple and cedar cast their shadows in an ideal picnic ground.

Nearly and beneath are tables and rock fire-places arranged for the convenience of the visitors and campers. One of the features first noticed when visiting this resort you do not see any signs staring you in the face reading "Do Not Build Fires"; "Do Not Walk On the Grass"; (for there is plenty of it to walk on) and "Do Not Throw Debris on the Ground," for there is a man employed to clear away the grounds after the departure of the visitors.

Resort is Hospitable

When once entering the grounds until you leave you have perfect liberty of the grounds from inspecting the handsome big hotel building constructed entirely of logs to the bathing tank and dancing pavilion as well as other attractions to be added in the near future, such as tennis court, baseball diamond, swings and playgrounds apparatus, sandpiles for the children. Many of these features are under way and will be completed within a few weeks.

The mineral swimming tank, fresh water swimming pool and dancing pavilion have already been completed, as well as the big open air dining room furnished with unique tables and chairs. This opens from the main dining room by means of French glass doors, and has become popular with the Wilhoit visitors.

Cottages are Renovated

The cottages appearing somewhat dilapidated a year ago, where house-keeping privileges were allowed, have been thoroughly renovated and repainted and made into sleeping apartments, while sixteen other rustic cottages have recently been erected on the property adjoining the hotel. These are unusually attractive. They are formed to represent log cabins and fronted by porches. These are of various sizes, some containing one room while there are several of larger dimensions to accommodate a party enjoying an outing may occupy. Even the furnishings of these cottages are made of logs that add to the beauty of the interior.

Since a new sawmill has been installed on the grounds the building material for the buildings is manufactured there, and much of the lumber used in erecting the additions to the hotel as well as to the building of 56 cottages near the picnic grounds opposite the grove is from the big trees on the premises, but these trees are not from the picnic ground. They are further up in the forest. There are 73 men on the payroll, many of these whom are employed in the sawmill. Eight women are employed in the big hotel, with big hearted Mrs. O'Neil as house-keeper.

Jazz Replaces Bowling
The building formerly used as a bowling alley, and for several years in charge of Edward Fortuna, of this city, is now a thing of the past. Hardwood floors have been installed in the building, where a jazz orchestra will furnish you with all the latest jazz music you desire especially on Saturday night and all day Sunday. The best of order is maintained by the management, and dancing has become one of the most popular amusements at the resort. Many spectators delight in watching the dancers, and since the pavilion has been arranged to accommodate them.

With rustic bridges crossing the stream that flows through the picnic grounds; rustic houses dotting the grounds there is no more picturesque spot in the Northwest than here in the Clackamas county. It is the intention of the management to lay out summer home sites. Several have already been surveyed, and a limited number will be placed on the market shortly. It is the company's plan to erect attractive cottages, and to make them available to those who wish a summer home at this famous springs, at a reasonable figure and on terms if desired.

New Management in Charge

It has often been asked—"Is there drinking water at that resort besides the mineral water?" The mountain stream, together with water piped to the grounds from springs farther up the hills, provide plenty of pure water for drinking and cooking.

While there we were informed that the new management is composed of Howard DePuy and Bruce O. Rwan, of Portland, Oregon, and Orlan G. Young, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Mr. Young was on the grounds on Sunday, having arrived here in time for the big opening day several weeks ago, when the largest assembly in the history of the springs visited the resort that day, numbered over 6000 people, when a 75-piece band of Portland assisted in furnishing entertainment for the visitors. We reached Oregon City at a reasonable hour after, having enjoyed one of the most delightful motoring trips, with one of the most careful drivers, which aided to the pleasure of the trip.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO MATTHIAS JUSTIN

Matthias Justin, well known resident of Oregon City, and former business man, died at the family residence on Eleventh and Center streets, this morning at 3 o'clock after an illness of about a year's duration.

Mr. Justin, who was a native of Austria, was born 57 years ago. He came to the United States when 19 years of age, first taking up his home in St. Cloud, Minn., remaining there until thirty years ago, when he moved to Oregon City where he engaged in the painting business and resided here until his death. Several months ago Mr. Justin retired from the real estate business, due to his failing health.

Mr. Justin had always taken an active interest in the welfare of the city and county, and induced a large number of his countrymen to settle in Clackamas county a large number of whom have purchased property in Oregon City. He was a prominent and active worker of the St. Joseph's society, and also devout member of St. John's Catholic church of this city.

Deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Agnes Justin of this city, three daughters, Mrs. Agnes Johnson, Mrs. Minnie Meyer, of Portland, Miss Rose Justin of Oregon City; two sons, Joseph and Cyril Justin of this city. The remains are at the undertaking parlors of E. A. Brady, Tenth and Water streets, and funeral services will be held from the St. John's Catholic church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Monsignor A. Hildebrandt, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery.

CANBY SPENDS $45,000 TO IMPROVE STREETS

A total of $45,000 has been spent by the City of Canby on the street improvement program which has just been completed.

The work, complete except for minor ditching, has been done by the city by day labor. It includes the following streets:

First, between A and E, the two crossings over the railroad to the Pacific highway, Second between B and E, Third between C and D, A between First and Second, B between First and Second, C between First and Third, D between First and Third, and E street between High and Second. All of these streets have been paved with concrete eighteen feet wide and six inches deep, with the exception of First street, which is 36 feet wide. Oswego cement was used in the paving, with the sand and gravel being furnished by the Oregon City Sand and Gravel company from its bunkers at New Era.

When the concrete pavement of the Pacific highway along the eastern side of the S. P. main line, from the northern edge of the city limits of Canby to Aurora's city limits, a distance of 3.75 miles, is completed, one of the prettiest and most durable roads in the state will be promised. H. Kyle of Portland, has been appointed city engineer, to succeed Anderson, resigned. Kyle is a member of the American Association of Civil Engineers and was employed by the state for three years, and for four years by Multnomah county. He is a graduate of the University of Ohio.

Japanese Ball Team to Play at Gladstone

When the Waseda university baseball team lines up Monday, July 11, on the Vaughn street lot against Pacific university, the baseball fans will see one of the fastest games of baseball in the college class today, according to I. Oyama, secretary of the Japanese Association of Oregon, who is sponsor for the game at Portland.

It is probable that the fast Japanese team will open the baseball series on July 12 at the Gladstone Chautauqua, to be pitted against another fast amateur team, or will play the Pacific university a second game. This matter is in the hands of the officials of the Chautauqua, where L. J. Frank, athletic instructor of Pacific university will have charge of the physical culture classes and arrangements for the baseball games.

Paul Abrahams, a graduate of Pacific university and now a resident of Forest Grove, is making arrangements for getting the team of his alma mater together for practice, which they concluded after the game with the Chemawa Indian school, whom they defeated on June 8.

Abrahams says Pacific will be ready for the little Brown men, who are classed as the best of all of Japan's baseball teams. Baseball has taken a great hold on the Mikado's empire and Waseda always has turned out a winning team, though this year Waseda did not have the good luck that other Waseda teams have had in this country, for they have met defeat at the hands of Chicago, Yale and Harvard universities. They defeated Northwestern, however, at Evanston, Ill., a few weeks ago by the score of 17 to 2. The Waseda boys have been in this country since early in April and have made a tour of America and now are on the home ward stretch. They will sail July 14 for Tokyo.

SIMS SAYS CRITICISM IS SAFEGUARD

NEWPORT, R. I., July 4.—The attitude of the United States, which he said not only had always neglected to provide for public criticism of officers of the armed forces, but had actually forbid it, was contrasted with that of some European powers by Hon. Admiral William S. Sims in an address today before the Rhode Island branch of the Society of the Cincinnati, in which he urged public discussion as a safeguard to public interests.

In some continental countries, he declared, criticism was recognized as so vital to efficiency that it was rewarded when it proved beneficial. The American people, Admiral Sims said, know less about the elements of warfare and about the actual condition of their military forces than the people of any other great power, adding that "through this has smelted adding that 'though this has smelted against our preparedness for war in the past, and although we have, nevertheless, always, attained our object in war without very serious loss, still it must be evident that a similar attitude cannot be maintained in the future without very serious risk."

Jersey Club Wins National Prize Cup

The presentation of a loving cup won by the Clackamas County Jersey club will take place at the regular meeting of the club July 23.

In competition with all of the Jersey clubs of the United States, the Clackamas County club won out. The competition, which is based on general club activity, extends over the period of a year.

The meeting, which is also to include some form of celebration of the victory of the club, is to be held at the farm of Anton Maljar, about two miles from Sandy, on the Mount Hood road.

Clackamas county has a new traffic officer. He will be equipped with a motorcycle and aid Motor Officer Long to bring in the speeders.

DEMPESEY IS CHAMPION FIGHT SHORT

RINGSIDE, JERSEY CITY, July 2.—Jack Dempsey retained his title of heavyweight champion of the world by knocking out Georges Carpentier, Europe's "wonder man," in the fourth round of their bout here this afternoon.

Dempsey scored his victory after one minute and sixteen seconds of fighting in the fourth round. A right to the jaw by Dempsey soon after the fourth round opened sent Carpentier crashing to the floor for the first knockdown of the fight, Carpentier lying still for the count of eight and then bounding to his feet.

Dempsey savagely tore into him and sent him down and out with a series of body punches.

Fight Was Uneven.
Carpenter put up a great fight. The first round was even. Carpenter surprised the great crowd of 90,000 by leaping to the attack with the ringing of the first bell. He shot a left to Dempsey's jaw.

The second round saw a lot of hot fighting and Carpenter made his best showing right there. He caught Dempsey who tottered back on his heels. There was no doubt but what Dempsey was hurt.

But the champion shook his head and hored in and kept the Frenchman off for the balance of the round.

In the third round it was a new Dempsey who came out of his corner. He went right after Carpentier viciously. Dempsey began to hook with his left and he scored with it repeatedly. He rocked Carpentier's head and in clinches he shook him to the floor with powerful body punches.

Bell Saves Challenger.
When the bell rang for the end of the third round Carpentier was hanging onto Dempsey and was weak and wobbly.

Dempsey was shooting in body punches and there seemed no doubt that if the bell hadn't rung the fight would have been over in another minute or two.

The fourth round had barely started when Dempsey went right after the challenger. They were boxing near Carpentier's corner when Dempsey landed a crashing right hook to the jaw and down went Carpentier in a heap. Dempsey walked away and the referee slowly tolled off the fateful count.

Carp Game Sport.
Carpenter was dragged to his corner, by his seconds, and after a few seconds' work revived. He went across the ring and congratulated Dempsey.

"He is the best man in the world," said Georges, ruefully, as he made his way out of the ring. He was given a big cheer by the crowd.

Carpenter didn't move until the referee said "eight." Then he got to his feet standing up just as the referee said "nine."

Like a fury Dempsey was right on top of him lashing out with both left and right. Several of them connected and just as Carpentier tottered Dempsey shot a vicious left hook that hit Carpentier squarely in the abdomen and he went down. Dempsey again walked away and the referee slowly counted off the seconds.

Carpenter rolled over in an effort to get up and couldn't make it and as the referee said "ten" Dempsey lifted his two hands in the air in token of victory and a mighty shout went up from the crowd. Dempsey was wildly cheered. Carpentier looked pretty badly battered as he left the ring. His nose was cut. Dempsey was unmarked.

OIL STRIKE EXPECTED AT ASTORIA FIELDS

ASTORIA, Or., July 4.—As the result of most encouraging indications of gas and oil encountered, the board of directors of the Lower Columbia Oil and Gas company at a special meeting last night stopped further drilling operations, capped their well temporarily and ordered 2550 feet of ten-inch casing by wire from Los Angeles.

Today they placed on record with the county clerk all of their 6000 acres of oil and gas leases, as for the last week the drill has been going through cap rock and yesterday morning Head Driller Scott refused to proceed further without explicit direction, on the ground that the gas pressure and oil seepage had increased so that it was unsafe to go further without capping the entire hole. A hurry-up call was sent to Gilbert Richards, manager and engineer, who was in Portland and upon his arrival he confirmed the stand of the head driller.

A license was also issued to Leo Hoater, 27, of Sherwood, and Oelma E. Yeary, 20, of Canby.

Noted Writer at Chautauqua

The Big Khaki Tents Lure Peter Clark Macfarlane From His Study

Peter Clark Macfarlane, who has been coaxed out of his cozy California study for the summer by the Ellison-White Chautauquas, could well rest a claim for fame on many other things besides his widely circulated stories and books. His fame as a writer is wide-spread throughout the land. It is not so well known that he is a remarkable interviewer of great men. There are few great personages of the last decade who have not honored him with something of their confidence. Roosevelt in the wilds of Arizona, Goethals in the heart of the Canal Zone, Woodrow Wilson on the porch at Sea Girt, the silent Colonel House, and mysterious Generals like Wood and Admirals like Sims and Rodman and Flske. Macfarlane is an intensely interesting speaker.

FINE FUN—FINE MUSIC

Ada Roach and Ruth Freeman Touch High Spots in Music and Entertainment at Chautauqua

Ada Roach and Ruth Freeman are two folks who can entertain delightfully and have the time of their lives doing it. Their love of the work undoubtedly accounts to quite an extent for the enviable place they hold in the entertainment world. It is doubtful if there is a more popular duo on the platform today. Ada Roach is an Irish Gem. She sings and tells stories in a manner that captivates everyone. Ruth Freeman presents dialect numbers and plays the violin with real artistry.

Funeral Services for Dr. Norris Held

Funeral services of the late Dr. John William Norris, who died at the family residence Friday morning, were conducted at the chapel of Holman & Pace this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Melville T. Wire, pastor of the Methodist church, spoke highly of the character of the deceased and of his life, and was followed with a few brief remarks by J. A. Roman, member of Meade post No. 2, G. A. R.

Although Dr. Norris was a veteran of the Civil war, fought in nine battles he was not a member of the Meade post, but the organization, in order to pay their last respects to the departed veteran, attended the impressive services in a body.

During the service a quartet under the direction of Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence, sang most impressively, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away," and "Lead Kindly Light." The quartet was composed of Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence, Mrs. Wallace Caulfield, Homer Hollowell and Garland Hollowell. Miss Dorothy Stafford was organist.

Many beautiful floral tributes surrounded the casket, which was draped with the national colors. Pallbearers were Dr. Frank Mount, Dr. H. S. Mount, Dr. C. H. Meisner, Charles D. Latourette, J. J. Tobin and Mayor James Shannon.

The chapel was filled to capacity with friends of the family, while many were unable to gain entrance, remaining outside and following the remains to their last resting place, where a brief service was held by Rev. Wire. J. A. Roman, chaplain of the post, made a few remarks as the body was laid to its last resting place in the family lot in the Masonic plot of Mountain View cemetery.
