Macksburg Crop of Berries Very Large

(Too late for last week)

MACKSBURG, July 25.—Loganberry picking is nearing its close with an almost unprecedented yield. The number of tons shipped from our immediate vicinity has gone beyond our computation and the quality has been unusually fine, the berries large and firm even when fully ripe. The only shadow over the loganberry harvest of 1921 was the low price. The wild blackberry, too, has been abundant and fine and now the large fruits are beginning to ripen. The overladen plum and pear trees are displaying the ripening tint. The apple trees are promising an abundant supply. Many of the new orchards are bearing for the first time, affording a gratification known only to settlers of a region comparatively new.

The two social organizations of our place—the Franen Verein of the Lutheran church and the Mothers club of Macksburg seem to possess the only attraction powerful enough to draw the busy farmer away from the home routine. So much must be accomplished before the fall rains begin and the children are again in school.

The Mothers Club is to hold its regular fortnightly session in the present week at the home of Mrs. Simon Miller.

The Ely school has the prospect of securing the last year's teacher Miss Bjorgan of Minneapolis, Minn., for the coming year.

Miss Pearl Miller of Portland, who has been visiting her parents in this place returns to the city in the present week.

Mrs. Nettie Vogel of Portland is visiting here.

California People Start Return Trip

EXCAVATION ORDINANCE IS SHELVED

MEASURE SAID RESULT OF CONTROVERSY

City Engineer Is Instructed To Set Grade Stakes For New City Hall

What appeared to be a simple ordinance regulating excavating for buildings was temporarily shelved Wednesday evening by the council when Wallace B. Caufield declared that the proposed legislation had been inspired because of a controversy between the Pacific Highway Garage and the Bank of Commerce. Dr. H. S. Mount, who requested Attorney Eby to prepare the ordinance, explained that it was an exact copy of the Portland ordinance and something of the kind is necessary, but he entered no objection to postponing consideration of the ordinance until the next regular meeting.

"This comes from the camp of the enemy," declared Mr. Caufield, who insisted that his firm had done all that had been requested of it, until the bank had altered its building plans.

Thrills are plentiful

The council meeting was not without thrills, though a bare majority was present, Krassig, Petzold and Albright being absent, as was Recorder Kelly, whose chair was taken by Mr. Eby. After the reading of the minutes Mayor Shannon observed that he had looked in vain for something that should have been in the record, and when the council listened to a petition to a Gladstone woman for a permit to operate a lunch wagon, the mayor, in response to a suggestion that the matter might be referred to the city recorder, said:

"We don't know what the city recorder would do. He usually does as he pleases about ordinances."

The lady in question was advised that her vocation would come under the hawk's license of $5 per day, and the matter was finally referred to the finance committee, with power to act.

The city proposes to compel all public utility vehicles passing through the city, including passenger buses and freighting trucks, to apply for franchises, and an ordinance will be presented in the near future to make such intention effective.

Protest is entered

North Main street residents proposed against the coal burning donkey engine of the Oregon City Sand & Gravel Co., on the grounds that the smoke begrimes the buildings, and the housewives laundry, and an unwholesome stenches results. They asked relief and the petition was referred to the committee on health and police.

Another petition was a protest against violations of traffic laws, with reference to open cut-outs and speed. The petition came from the north end of Main street and was referred to the health and police committee. Residents affected asked for a rigid enforcement of the ordinance.

Street Superintendent Scott threatened to quit, because his claim for $6 for cleaning Main street at night was questioned. He said he had worked with his helpers from 8 p. m. to 2 a. m. for two nights, so the council ordered the bill paid.

Street Grade Let

Ordinance were passed to their second reading establishing the grade on Front street in Green Point, on Abernethy street, on Division street from the west side of Molalla avenue to the east side of Harrison, on Harrison street to Division and on Harrison from Fifteenth to Sixteenth streets. A resolution reestablishing the grade on Harrison from the south line of Seventh to the south line of Sixth was presented and passed, and the city engineer was instructed to establish the grade on Pierce street between Division and Tenth.

The first gun looking to the construction of the new city hall in McLoughlin Park was fired by the passage of a motion directing the city engineer to set stakes for the grade of the municipal building in the southeast corner of the park. It is understood that the council has approved plans for the building in committee of the whole behind closed doors.

Molalla avenue, Ninth street via Center to Seventh and Holes Lane will be oiled, under authority of the street committee, and new arc lamps were ordered installed at Fourteenth and Monroe, and at Twelfth and Taylor, the latter being a change from Twelfth and Center.

New Bridge Plan Talked

It was proposed that the plans of the new bridge across the Willamette be changed so as to have arches constructed at the Oregon City end, providing more parking room. The city attorney was directed to communicate with the highway commission about the matter.

Ordinances were passed for the improvement of Eighth and Sixth streets from Railroad avenue to the river. The ordinance provides for a concrete street, but the county court, an interested property owner on Eighth street, has offered to surface the street at cost, and this may be done if the property owners are willing.

The council adopted a resolution in respect to the memory of the late Dr. J. W. Norris.

The finance committee was authorized to pay $1200 to the water board, as partial compensation for installing 1250 feet of screw pipe on the elevator main between Jackson street and Molalla avenue. The pipe leaks badly between these points. Mr. Bridges,

Co-Operative Meet To Be Held Aug. 6

General farmers, dairymen and poultrymen have been invited to come together for a general meeting to be held in Library hall, Central Library, Portland, on Saturday, August 6, at 1 o'clock, when plans for the state-wide cooperative purchasing of feed will be discussed.

Plans for the organization have been worked out by a committee of poultrymen and dairymen. Following is the committee: P. C. Schroeder, route No. 3, Portland; R. Roy Putnam, Clackamas; Harry Cook, Milwaukie; H. E. Thompson, Hillsboro; D. T. Williams, Boring; C. N. Taylor, Gresham; R. E. Butler, Jennings Lodge; G. E. Bennett, route No. 3, box 197, Portland; T. B. Miller, Vancouver; W. E. Fuller, route No. 3, Vancouver; C. L. Welch, Milwaukie; J. D. McRae, Milwaukie; Grant Sloop, Boring.

C. S. Whitmore has been appointed organization manager and Mr. Schroeder has been chosen as purchasing manager. The object of the organization is to reduce costs by purchasing in large quantities for cash. The operating expenses will be met by a commission on all purchases. The company will not speculate on supplies, but will act only as a purchasing agent and will handle the work thru established agencies as far as possible.

The company is capitalized at $10,000, this small capital being sufficient for the reason that the company will act only as an agent.
