The general alarm was sent into the telephone office by Mayor Maple, his home being close by. For some time there were several buildings threatened, and in many places the dry grass caught fire from flying timbers, but these were soon extinguished. Although the gymnasium ing was saved, and largely through the efforts of Robert McClure, a 17year-old-boy, who made an entrance the sky light, directed the firemen.

Mr. Wait had no insurance on the building, which is a complete loss. It was built some time ago, and had been used by the Canby Bus company as a storage building, while the second floor was used in storing hay, but owned by other parties than those owning the automobile busses.

It was the intention of Mr. Rose and Mr. Lee to put on a number of these busses as stages between Oregon City and Salem during the state fair and also between Oregon City and other points to Canby during the Clacamas county fair.

WORK ON HIGHWAY AT CANBY TO CONTINUE: AGREEMENT REACHED

The fire occurred on Sunday night Highway Commission to Bear Biggest Part of Cost Of Paving Road

Decision on the part of the highway commission to pave the portion of the Pacific highway through Canby has been reached, and the en gineers instructed to go ahead with the paving. The work is being continued upon the tacit assumption that the city of Canby will agree to the proposition made by the commission.

Remonstrance Presented At the commission's meeting Au was but a few feet away, the build- gust 30, Canby presented a remonstrance against having to pay such a large amount-some $12,000-for the pavement. The matter was taken up, into the building, and climbing thru and the commission suggests that the city change its boundaries so as not to include the highway between the Molalla bridge and E. street.

Under this arrangement, canby will only be required to bear 25 per cent of the cost, amounting to $3,000.

The city at present has $1600 in cash, voted for expenditure upon the highway, and arrangements will be made to provide for the payment of the remainder by the appropriation of 2 mills of their road money, or $600 each year.

Court's Advice Asked The financial arrangements will be contingent upon the agreement of the county court and the matter of chang

When the contract for the paving of the highway was awarded, the por tion through Canby was let with the stipulation that it might be canceled if no agreement with the city was reached as to the payment for the Canby Fire Truck work Canby protested against being called on to carry the expense of all the portion through the city upon the grounds that the municipal benefit did not justify the expenditure as the road ran along the edge of town and because sufficient funds were not available.

A Safety Valve Day

After reading the speeches of William Jennings Bryan and Samuel Gompers delivered last Monday at Chicago and Baltimore, respectively, we incline to the belief that Labor Day is utilized as a safety valve for orators. All over this great country men swell up until the first Monday in September and then blow off steam. Each speaker, in his own way, analyzes conditions as he sees them, and it is amusing to note the contradictory

Bryan has probably made more speeches than any other man in the United States. He is a gentleman of initiative ideas, some of them absolutely unsound, and he has been repudiated on several occassions by the people of this country. Whatever he says, therefore, no matter how reasonable it may appear, must be carefully scrutinized, and not accepted as truth. It should be remembered that Mr. Bryan was talking last Monday to labor, and he may have adjusted his thoughts for the occasion, so the peerless one took the retailer for his target. "Woolen goods," he declared, "are selling at retail 100 per cent above the price they were before the war. Meat on the hook, which the butcher buys, has reduced, but meat on the block, which the butcher sells, has not been reduced.'

We cannot approve of Mr. Bryan's utterances, which certainly are not based upon a study of retail prices. Food and wearing apparel have not declined to the pre-war level, it is true, but they have decreased materially this year, while wages in some classes of employment, have remained at the high standard established during the war.

Mr. Gompers may be trusted to sow the seed of class discord at all times. He holds his job that way. He may be expected to assail the open shop movement, and he took advantage of an opportunity to defend his political affiliation. He cannot excuse labor for refusing to follow the Cox flag at his lictation, and he blames the Republican party for the unemployment of millions.

"Before election," he said, "I issued a statement in which I stated the issues that were involved, and I said that the people would get what they voted for.' The personal pronoun is in the ascendant, it seems.

Compared with the analysis of Mr. Hoover, who points out the inevitable slump following war-time prosperity and the inevitable return to normal conditions, the ravings of Mr. Gompers are peevish and figidity.

The cost of the improvement will be $9,288.80. The detailed improvements are as follows: 18th street, sixteen foot concrete 6 inches thick, $3972.95; 17th street, 16 foot concrete 6 inches thick, including walks on a small portion of the street, $4239.85; Moss street, 9 foot concrete, 6 inches thick, $1076.

Resolutions were passed for the improvement of Harrison street from 15th to 16th and 15th street from Harrison to Division. Both improvements are 18 foot macadam, the former to be made with walks and curbs, and the latter without curbs, but with walks. The cost of the Harrison avenue improvement is estimated by J. R. The improvement will have to be advertised and ordinances passed before the contract can be let.

Resolution was also passed for the improvement of Harrison from 7th to Division by the construction of an 18 foot macadam surface with six foot walks from 7th to 6th streets and four foot walks from 6th to Division. Resolutions to change the grade on Rallroad avenue from 7th to 8th streets and the alley in Block 24 were adopted by the council last evening. This action was taken preparatory to the improvement of the alley, now under centract to the W D. Andrews Company. Action is to be started to improve Railroad avenue, bringing it to the required street grade so as to connect with the alley when the latter is improved.
