

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fogle, of Pennsylvania, Pa., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Webb, of Clackamas Highlands, have gone to Portland, where they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Loren Webb, the latter a sister of Mr. Fogle. Mr. and Mrs. Loren Webb and baby have also been guests at the Webb home on Clackamas Highlands. This is the first trip to the western coast of Mr. and Mrs. Fogle, and they are favorably impressed. The former has come west to take a four years' course in civil engineering at the Oregon Agricultural College, and will take up his studies at the college within a few weeks. He and his wife are to take up their residence in Corvallis.

Mrs. E. C. Warren, formerly of Oak Grove, now residing in Portland, was in this city on Friday, where she came on business. She also visited friends before returning to her home. Mr. Warren, at one time in the real estate business in Oak Grove, is now at the head of a transfer company, known as the Warren Transfer company, operating trucks between Portland and Hood River. Six large trucks are owned by the company, and have done a good business during the summer months. Mr. and Mrs. Warren sold their home in Oak Grove previous to moving to Portland.

Joseph Hedges, son of Attorney and Mrs. J. E. Hedges, left on Monday for the east, where he will attend Yale college, an institution of which his father graduated from. This is his first year at the college, and will take a special course in law, having attended the University of Oregon at Eugene. Hedges has been employed during the summer under the direction of the Red Cross Society giving life saving tests. He is an over-seas man, entering the United States army when the United States became involved in the world war.

John, familiarly known in this city by his many friends as Jack, who is in the navy and on the U. S. S. Connecticut, has reached Philadelphia, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lewis. He has just returned from a long trip to Spain, Norway and other countries, including Ireland, and has seen much of the old world. John is looking forward to the time when he will receive his honorable discharge from the navy and return to Oregon City. Upon his return here he expects to assist his father in farming.

Cleo Howell, who has been spending his summer in this city and in Portland, in the latter city being employed by the Woolworth company, left on Monday morning for Forest Grove to resume his studies at the Pacific University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Howell, of this city, with whom he spent the summer, and is one of the most popular students at the college. He is a member of several organizations, one of which is the Glee Club.

Mrs. C. A. Lewis, who is spending the summer on the Lewis farm near New Era, returned to that place Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have made many improvements on their place during the summer months and they have enjoyed their outing. They will soon begin harvesting their grapes that are of the Isabel variety, and say the vines are laden with well filled bunches. The Lewis farm consists of 94 acres, and is owned by C. A. Lewis and his sons, John and Alton.

Andrew Naterlin, Jr., son of Andrew Naterlin of this city, will leave in the immediate future to attend the University of Idaho, where he will enter as a senior in law. "Matt" as he was nicknamed at the University of Oregon which he has attended for three years, has gradiron aspirations and will try out for the Idaho varsity. He has just spent a week in Oregon City after returning from Astoria where he fished on the Columbia, pulling a gillnet 16 hours a day and cultivating a moustache and a vandyke beard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weston have returned to their home in West Linn after a short visit with their son Mr. and Mrs. Claud Weston of Des Moines, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Weston, Jr., had the misfortune to have their house burn down about a month ago, nothing was saved except what the family had worn to town and their auto. They contemplate rebuilding at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuehnhausen,

Have Your Fall Suit Made to Measure The New Fabrics are here and the prices are lower. JOE ORMAN The Merchant Tailor Andressen Bldg., Oregon City of Malin, Oregon, have arrived in Oregon City, where they are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hart, of Canemah. Mrs. Kuehnhausen was formerly Miss Florence Hart, of Canemah. She and her husband are residing on their homestead, and have been in Portland for several days, where they have been guests of Mr. Kuehnhausen's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin and son, Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Taylor, of Sellwood, were in Oregon City and Canemah Sunday, having come here to attend the funeral services of the late Mrs. Sarah Miller, grandmother of Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Taylor. While here they also visited their mother, Mrs. Bolton, of Canemah.

E. L. Sharp, well known farmer of Frog Pond, was in Oregon City Tuesday. Mr. Sharp came here to visit his sons, Irvin Sharp, who underwent a surgical operation for appendicitis at the Oregon City hospital on Monday, and small son Willard, who is ill at the home of his uncle Conrad Priester. Mrs. Sharp is at the bedside of the latter.

W. A. Hedges, route 6, Oregon City, called at the Morning Enterprise office recently and exhibited an old receipt given by the first publisher of the Oregon City Enterprise to his brother, Joseph Hedges, deceased, and dated "19th Feb. 1867 for three dollars in full for one year ending Vol. One No. 52."

The population of Canemah was increased by one yesterday forenoon by the arrival of a daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Joe DeMacon, said daughter weighing seven pounds, and given the name of Lorraine Jenette. Mother and babe are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Knight and son, Beauford, of Canby, were in Oregon City on Sunday. While here they visited with Dr. and Mrs. John Fuller, Mrs. Fuller is a sister of Mrs. Knight, and owner of the Cottage hotel building in Canby.

Charles Todd, who formerly resided in Oregon City, now making his home on a homestead in the Elk Prairie country, about fifteen miles from McCalla, has been in this city on business for a few days.

Among the Oregon City visitors on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fields and Mrs. Margaret Elliott, of Portland, who were guests at the home of Mr. Field's mother, Mrs. Clara Fields, of Canemah.

Miss Maud Perkins of West Linn has returned to her home after undergoing a surgical operation at the McMinville hospital. Miss Perkins is improving slowly.

Mrs. Clara Bruce, who has been visiting her father, W. W. Quinn, and other relatives in Canemah, has returned to Portland.

J. Iderhoff, of Stafford, was among the Oregon City visitors the first of the week.

Funeral Service of W. S. Rider is Held

Funeral services of the late W. S. Rider were held from the Holman & Pace chapel on Sunday afternoon, with Rev. H. G. Edgar, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Many friends of the family attended the service to pay their last respect.

Interment was in the family lot in Mountain View cemetery, and the grave was completely covered with beautiful flowers.

Fallbearers were old time friends of the family, and former neighbors of Mr. Rider while a resident of Greenwood section. These were August Staehly, Fred Chinn, William Randall, Thomas Penman, Thomas Morrison, John Hall.

NOT GUILTY, IS PLEA

A plea of not guilty was entered in answer to an indictment returned by the grand jury Friday against Lynn Brownell, charging him with a statutory offense. Brownell was arraigned, and his bond set at $500, which was placed for him by Dr. G. E. Stuart and T. L. Charnon.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Amelia Martin was a charming hostess at a luncheon to a number of her friends at her home in Willamette Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained in honor of her husband, Josiah Martin, who celebrated his 51st birthday. Cut flowers arranged most effectively on the table corresponded to those of the dining and living rooms.

Places were laid for Mrs. P. K. Hammond, of Ashland, Mrs. George A. Harding, Mrs. Elizabeth Fox, Mrs. Rosina Fouts Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. Amelia Martin entertained at a family dinner at the Martin home on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, which was given in honor of the 51st birthday anniversary of her husband, Josiah Martin, a veteran of the Civil War, and prominent member of Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R.

Fall flowers of various hue and these intermingled with golden colored autumn leaves were used in decorating and added to the pleasure of the affair. A birthday cake centered the table.

One of the features of the dinner was the presentation of a handsome bouquet of carnations from Mr. Martin's little grandson, Blair Shadle, of Willamette. Other gifts were presented him on this occasion.

Places were laid at the prettily decorated table for Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Shadle and children, Letha, Kathryn, Virginia and Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Comrade S. P. Hayward, of Gladstone, a veteran of the Civil War, and his daughters, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Jeffries, of York, Nebraska, who have been spending the past month in Gladstone visiting their father, were guests of honor at a pretty dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Webster, of Gladstone, on Thursday evening. Miss Nora Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster, assisted her parents in a most charming manner in entertaining the guests.

The rooms of the Webster home were beautifully decorated for this occasion, the decorations of the dining room being of unique design, and arranged by Miss Webster. The color scheme of the entire room was arranged in colors the veterans delight to look upon—red, white and blue. Flowers of these colors were used, and were bright red geraniums, white cosmos and a beautiful shade of heliotrope, from the gardens of the Webster home. The center piece was of the same flowers, and intermingled were the delicate ferns adding to the appearance. Each place was marked with a boutonniere of a red fuchsia and geranium leaf.

The living room was prettily decorated in dahlias and potted ferns, while sprays of bright colored marigolds were artistically arranged in the reception hall.

The evening was devoted to music, and a number of interesting war time reminiscences were given by some of the old comrades in attendance. Among the pleasing features were the solos of H. S. Clyde, who sang a number of his favorite Irish melodies, and responded to a hearty encore.

Places were laid at the dinner table for Comrade S. P. Hayward, Mrs. Pace, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Jeffries, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Clyde, Comrade Thomas Achler, William Hayward, Comrade and Mrs. G. H. Webster, Miss Nora Webster.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Jeffries have made their first visit in Oregon, and so delighted with the climate and the delightful time they have had they are contemplating to return at a later date to visit with their father in his declining years. They have been entertained in a most enjoyable manner while in Gladstone, and have been guests of honor of several trips seeing some of the scenic country of the western coast. They will leave for their homes in Nebraska today.

The home of Mrs. J. M. Webb, of Mount Pleasant, was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday, September 2, when her 50th birthday anniversary was observed.

The party was planned and carried out by Mrs. Webb's daughters-in-law, Mrs. R. D. Webb and Mrs. W. A. Webb, of Mount Pleasant.

Meeting at an appointed place and hour the members of the party repaired to the Webb home, arriving about 11 o'clock, where they found their hostess busily engaged with her household duties. The affair was a complete surprise, and no sooner had the guests arrived, when they had possession of the home, and arranged for serving the lunch they had brought, which was served in buffet style, and consisted of sandwiches, salad, cake, ice cream and coffee.

Several pretty gifts and flowers were presented the hostess after the luncheon was enjoyed.

The afternoon was devoted to needlework, music and a guessing contest.

Attending were Mrs. Roy E. Webb, Mrs. W. A. Webb, Bessie Ruby, Lura, Virgil, Vernon, Vara, Roy Webb, Jr., Mrs. Cruzon, Lella and Earl Cruzon, Mrs. George Vendover, Mrs. M. L. Skilman, Miss Sara L. Hart, Mrs. Jane Crawford, Mrs. A. R. Hickman, Mrs. Leonard Lageson, Mrs. L. O. Webb, Mrs. A. C. Warner, Mrs. Bessie Alldredge, Mrs. Shockley, Mrs. J. Chandler, Mrs. W. B. Lawton, Mrs. S. Boyer, Mrs. D. R. Phillips, Mrs. H. Bernard, Mrs. W. T. Forward, Alta, Perrie and Mervin Shockley and Queneve Alldredge.

One of the prettiest church weddings of the season took place at St. John's Catholic church Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, when Miss Rosa S. Justin, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Justin, became the bride of Mr. Leo Shannon, son of Mrs. Kate Shannon, of this city. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Monsignor Hillsbrand, pastor, in the presence of about 80 friends of the young couple.

The bride and her maid of honor, Miss Irene Haney, passed up the left aisle of the church, the bridegroom and his best man, Joseph Justin, brother of the bride, entered the church at the right aisle, and were met at the altar, by Monsignor Hillsbrand. As the bridal party entered the church, Monsignor's Wedding March was rendered by Miss Anna McMillan. During the ceremony Mrs. A. H. Hyncke in her clear sweet voice sang impressively "Adore and Quite Be" by Gounod and "Anis Argeicus" by Frank, followed by "Ave Marie" rendered by Mrs. William Towey, of Portland, with Miss Ruth Talcott, violinist, of Portland, and Miss Anna McMillan, organist, accompanists.

As the bridal party left the church Miss McMillan rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was the picture of loveliness in her handsome gown, which was of white accordion plaited crepe de chine with white satin panels, over white net, adorned with lover's knots of baby ribbon, held in place with tiny white rosebuds. The long tulle veil was gracefully held in place with a tiny spray of orange blossoms and her bouquet was of Ophelia rose buds.

Miss Irene Haney, maid of honor, was beautiful in her gown of salmon colored georgette crepe, with large picture hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of purple and lavender asters.

The ushers were ex-service men, Dallas Armstrong and Joseph Miller, of this city.

As the bridal couple left the church for the home of the bride's mother where the wedding breakfast was to be served, the bride threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Amy Franz, of Portland.

The interior of the church was artistically decorated when various shades of asters and roses were used.

Only the immediate families of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends partook of the wedding breakfast at the Justin home. Places were laid for Mrs. Kate Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. William Mulvey and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shannon and daughters, of this city; Mrs. William Johnson and children, Frances, Eleanor and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayer, of Portland; Joseph Justin, Mrs. J. L. Tanny, Miss Wynne Henny, Miss Irene Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Armstrong, Mrs. William Folger, Mrs. Matthew Michels, Mrs. J. S. Smith, Mrs. Agnes Justin, Cyril Justin and Mrs. Oscar Fosberg of Portland.

Mrs. Justin was assisted in serving by Mrs. Dallas Armstrong and Mrs. William Folger.

The Justin home was artistically decorated in zinnias, roses and asters, which were arranged in bowls and baskets. The table decorations were delicately shaded roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon left on their honeymoon, which is being spent in British Columbia, and upon their return will make Oregon City their home.

The bride is one of Oregon City's popular young women, and has a host of friends here as well as in Portland. She has been employed for a number of years in the office of the Crown Williamson Paper Company at West Linn and in Portland, and was one of the most efficient office employees of that company. During the world war she was one of the most active in the war work in this city. She is a graduate of the McLaughlin Institute.

Mr. Shannon, who is the youngest son of Mrs. Kate Shannon, was a student of the Columbia College, of Portland, and for some time has been connected with the Crown Williamson Paper Company, resuming his position after his return from over-seas, having served with the 18th Engineers while in France. He is popular among his many friends.

The young couple received many handsome gifts. Both were entertained at several social functions given in their honor previous to their marriage.

Miss Mona Toban, daughter of Mrs. M. C. Toban, of his city, and Stillman Oakes, of Portland, surprised their many friends in this city on Thursday morning last, when they were quietly united in marriage in Portland.

The impressive ring ceremony of the Episcopal church, was read by Rev. Edward Clark, vicar of St. Matthews Episcopal church, at his home in the presence of several intimate friends.

The bride wore a becoming traveling suit with hat to match.

After notifying their relatives of the event, they took a brief trip to Seaside, Oregon.

For the present they are making their home in this city, Mrs. Oakes resuming her position with the law firm of Timick & Mulvey, by whom she has been employed for over a year.

The bride attended the Oregon City high school and later took a course in the Behrke Walker Business College in Portland, finishing her course at that college with high standing, and since taking up her duties as a stenographer in this city has been found very competent. She is a charming young lady and has a host of friends here.

Mr. Oakes is a well known young man of Portland, coming to that city after receiving his discharge from the navy having been three years in the naval service during the world war and was on the U. S. S. Tonopah. He is employed by a large manufacturing company in Portland. His former home was in Princeton, Minnesota.

Miss Helen Lenore Lucas, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lucas, of Parkplace, became the bride of Frank H. Champion, son of Mrs. Rose Champion, of Canemah, Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the home of Monsignor Hillsbrand, who performed the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of members of the families of the contracting parties.

The bride was attractively gowned in a traveling suit of velvet. Her picture hat was of henna with black plume. The corsage bouquet was of Ceell Brunner roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Lucas, who wore a becoming gown of blue, wearing a corsage bouquet of carnations.

Arthur McDonald, of this city, was best man.

Witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lucas, Mrs. Rose Champion, Miss Mary Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas and Arthur McDonald.

Following the ceremony the bridal party went to the Lucas home at Parkplace where a wedding dinner was

The Opening Of School

One of the most interesting of the events in the year's cycle, is the first day of the fall term of school. It has its rather surprising aspects. Here are some millions of children, usually careless, bent on having a good time, bubbling over with play spirit, heedless of the future.

But on a certain fixed day, they all scrub their dirty faces, they put on clean clothes, and start off spick and span to a place called school, where they have to perform certain tasks involving a good deal of hard work. In a way it is against child nature. The youthful spirit does not naturally take to hard work. It loves to flit from one thing to another, obeying the whim of the moment. "A boy's will is the wind's will," said the poet.

It used to be thought that all this sudden return to the school room was purely the result of the parent's initiative, and that the children were dragged to their desks contrary to their own will. But they seem to respond to the school bell with a good deal of alacrity. Playing hooky is not as popular as it used to be. Those that are kept at home by sickness the first day of the term are commonly tearful about it.

This spirit of willingness is probably due to the intense spirit of ambition that has become characteristic of American life. Some of our people carry that spirit too far, chase their dollars too hard. But on the whole it is a superb sentiment, because it encourages people to self improvement and achievement.

The children share it to a large extent. The teachers have learned that they can appeal to their ambition. The majority of them respond to that inducement. They want to win in the race of life, and they realize that if they dabble at school they are prejudicing their chances for the future.

table decorations corresponded with those of the dining room, when married couples and gladioli were used.

Places were laid for Mrs. Laura Taylor Harrington, Mrs. Ada Hughes Pearl, Mrs. Minda Randall Church, Mrs. Mary Beattie Caulfield, of this city; Mrs. Eliza Eudy Vanstone and Mrs. Emma Harrington Hamilton of Portland.

The afternoon was devoted to music and when reminiscences of early days in Oregon City were enjoyed.

One of the events of this week is the wedding of Miss Ethel Younger, and Joseph Miller, well known young people of this city, whose marriage will take place Wednesday afternoon. This will be a very quiet affair, and attended only by relatives of the young couple, and will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sartus, uncle and aunt of Miss Younger.

Mr. Miller and his bride are to make their home in a little cottage beautifully furnished at Sixth and Center streets.

Oregon City Station Order Satisfactory

General satisfaction is expressed by business men and residents of Oregon City as a result of the order of the state public service commission that the Southern Pacific improve its station facilities here.

The general feeling is that the order allows all that could be expected under present conditions and that if the company complies with the order to the letter, the improvements will mitigate much of the basis for complaint.

Canning Team Gets Third In Contest

The Clackamas county canning team, which competed last Friday for the championship of the Pacific Northwest, came out third. Word to this effect was received Monday at the office of the county agricultural agent.

The contest was held at the Northwest Fair at Spokane, Idaho took first place, and Washington second. The Clackamas canning team formerly won the state championship at the fair at Salem. It is composed of Helen Wallace, Mary Lelsman and Beulah Snidow.

BRIDGE WORK RESUMED

Work on the Parkplace bridge over the Clackamas river has been resumed after a shut down of several months, due to lack of material. Steel for girders and trusses has arrived and is being placed.

One of the enjoyable outside events of the past week was a picnic given at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Crocker, former residents of Oregon City.

The route chosen in making this trip was over the Terwilliger Boulevard and the Rex-Tigard road to Newberg.

After arriving there members were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chase, of Evergreen Station, who had been over-Sunday guests at the Crocker home, enjoying the repast with the 30 other picnickers arriving in automobiles.

The menu included everything from "on the cob" to sliced peaches with whipped cream. The men put a "keen edge" on their appetites by pitching quoits, playing baseball and for moderate exercises made use of the chess and checkerboards.

It was a "case of help yourself" to the abundance of fresh fruit in the orchard.

Forming the party of picnickers were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roake, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Roake, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roake and children, Teddy, Edwin, Mildred and Mary Roake, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Roake and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford and children, Betty, Marion, Roger and LaVerne, Mr. and Mrs. L. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Howland and children, Elizabeth and James, Deacon James Wilkinson, Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Crocker and son, George, of Newberg, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chase, of Evergreen.

Mrs. Emma Harrington Hamilton, of Portland, entertained a number of her old time friends, of this city, who were former schoolmates in Oregon City years ago. The affair was in the form of a luncheon Thursday afternoon, when the rooms of Mrs. Hamilton's home were beautifully decorated

TEACHERS NAMED FOR SCHOOLS HERE WHICH OPEN SEPTEMBER 19

New Gymnasium to be Ready On Schedule Time Says Superintendent

Practically a complete list of the teachers in the Oregon City schools for the fall term which will open on the 19th of this month, was announced by City Superintendent R. W. Kirk yesterday. When the kiddies this year put their swimming suits on the shelf and brush the dust off of last year's speller, they will flock to the school rooms in Oregon City about 1500 strong, according to Mr. Kirk's estimates. The number of students attending the schools has been steadily increasing during the past few years, and it is expected that the enrollment will be about 100 larger than in 1920.

Gym to be Ready With the opening of the fall term the new $30,000 gymnasium will be put into use. Mr. Kirk expects the building to be completed before contract time, which was October 1. Although the gym will not be used during the first few days of school, it will be in shape shortly after classes convene.

Practically no changes in the curriculum are made this year, says Mr. Kirk. The teacher's training course, offered to high school seniors will be given for the last time this year, as the new law requires that after 1922, all students taking the course must be graduates of high school.

Barclay school will have a new principal this year, Prof. C. J. Lake, former principal of a grade school at Corvallis. Professor Lake is a graduate of the Oregon Normal school and was a student at the O. A. C.

Physical Directors Chosen At the high school a number of additions to the staff have been made. Luther A. King, a graduate of the O. A. C. will have charge of the physical training and manual training work. Mr. King was offered a position at the University of California, but declined to take up his position here. Grace I. Tiffany, who will have charge of the girl's physical training work, is a graduate of the O. A. C. and took special work at the University of Oregon.

Marjorie Little, a graduate of Illinois University has been engaged to teach Mathematics in the high school. She is a niece of E. T. Beverlin of this city. Catherine M. Davis, who will teach in the English department and will teach orchestration, is a Pacific University graduate, formerly teaching in St. Helens. Doris E. Miller, a graduate of the University of Denver, and for three years high school secretary of the Portland Y. W. C. A. will teach English and history. Edna H. Russel, in charge of the teacher's training classes, is a graduate of the Monmouth Normal and a former teacher of Enterprise, Oregon.

At the Eastham school four new teachers have been placed on the staff; Caroline Sharp, of Athena; Margaret Cooke, Silverton; Minnie Freeman, Klamath Falls, and Jane Barnhart of Parkplace. One new teacher has been assigned to the Barclay school, Miss Anabel Brown, of Seattle.

There are still one or two vacancies in the grammar school staff, according to Mr. Kirk, and applications for the position of minor science instructor at the high school are under consideration.

The Eastham school will this year have, in addition to its regular rooms a portable building, which was erected to take care of the additional attendance form the Mt. Pleasant district, which was recently included in the city limits.

The majority of the teachers, according to Professor Kirk, have been attending summer school this vacation. The complete list of those elected for the city schools follows:

High School—W. L. Arant, Principal; Catherine M. Davis, English and Orchestra; Nell H. Foster, Commercial; M. Olive Howey, Domestic Art and Gen. Science; Luther A. King, Man. Tr. and Phys. Ed. for boys; Carl Landerholm, Chem. and French; Marjorie E. Little, Mathematics; Doris E. Miller, English and History; Charlotte E. Patterson, Hist. and Eng.; Edna H. Russel, Teacher's Training; Otto A. Schultz, Science; Irma L. Snere, Latin and English; Hazel J. Strief, Home Economics; Grace I. Tiffany, Phys. Ed. for girls; Burnice Zimmerman, Stenography and Algebra.

Part time High School—Mrs. Neita B. Lawrence, Glee Club; Mertis L. Riddle, Art; Bertha L. Hillman, Stenography and Secretary.

Eastham School—N. W. Bowland, Principal; Mrs. Eva Scott, Mrs. Ethel Landsdowne, Miss Erma Keen, Miss Caroline Sharp, Miss Margaret Cooke, Miss Minnie Freeman, Miss Tekla Shuholm, Miss Helen Stanton, Miss Jane Barnett, Miss Esther Harris.
